Private Business Is Sufferer.

By ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—As ever mounting cry of protest emanates from the ranks of the dealers in the grain and other products exchanges and from other commodities men at the invasion of their field of private business by the federal government with its agencies for buying and selling farm products under the terms of the agricultural marketing act.

Such the government financed Grain Stabilization corporation and Farmers National Grain corporation operating as the largest grain dealing concerns in the world, controlling most of the surplus and to a large extent selling directly to the millers and other consumers, the wheat pits on the exchanges are growing cobwebs. Some dealers have withdrawn from the market, feeling the pinch of government competition in the loss of business and have been compelled to discharge employes and otherwise reduce expenses in order to keep any kind of a footing in their occupation. Of the public concerns, the hardest hit by the industrialism of Uncle Sam as a competitor are the Minneapolis commission houses that were financing country elevators now operating in the farmers' national chain.

Complaint of Dealers.

Shippers, whether among grain dealers, livestock commission men, eggs, poultry, wool or dairy products dealers, there is the same lament which is echoed:

"The government is taking the bread out of our mouths by organizing the financing agencies to compete with us. The government loans these competing agencies money at 1 and 2 per cent while we must pay 5 and 6 per cent for the money we borrow from the banks. The cooperative marketing associations financed by the government pay no income tax. But so do we. With cheap government money and no taxes they can pay more for grain and sell it for less than we are able to. Hence their competition is ruinous to us private traders. At the same time we are taxed by the government to obtain the funds to loan to our competitors and to foot the bills for the losses incurred in the competition that is driving us to the wall."

United States Are Low.

The federal treasury pays for the money it has borrowed in the last 14 months all the way from one and two per cent on short term notes to 4¼ per cent on Liberty loans during the life provision of the agricultural marketing act the farm board is directed to make its loans on the marketing of farm products at the lowest rate paid by the government on any outstanding obligation issued since April 6, 1917, the date of the declaration of war on Germany.

This it falls out that the treasury has money to the farmers for less than it can borrow funds for the needs of the government when-ever bills are short term notes outstanding bearing a rate of interest lower than the current rate. What the treasury loses by loaning at less than the cost of borrowing runs into millions of dollars and increases by just so much the subsidy to agriculture.

Traders Seeing Red.

As the government continues to pour a flood of money from the 500 million revolving fund to finance their farmers and at the same time proposes to raise taxes to meet a huge deficit created in part by the subsidy to agriculture, the old line traders in agricultural products are seeing redder and redder.

Poultry and dairy products dealers have reported to their national association that fear of farm board competition has deterred them from making improvements and extensions of their concentration plants and that on account of the unsettled conditions caused by government competition they have found it difficult to obtain normal loans from the banks. L. B. Hunter, president of the National Poultry and Egg association declared that the loss of egg dealers alone was 20 millions of dollars. Another wrote to his national association that he had invested his life savings in a new and modern plant to complete the payments on which he is under an iron-bound contract covering for a number of years. "What will become of me, how will I live with this contract?" he asked. "Even the agricultural marketing act forced out of business?

THRONGS COVER LAKE FRONT FOR CHARITY SHOW

Famed Flyers Stunt in Great Review.

BY HUGH SEXTON.

More than 150 diving, roaring, twisting planes sped across a three mile stage over Grant park yesterday afternoon in the greatest aviation spectacle Chicago has ever seen. The show was given for charity and was sponsored by THE TRIBUNE.

LOWELL BAYLES. [Acme Photo.]

Flashing monoplanes, stunting biplanes, racing planes tearing by with their motors wide open, huge air liners in formation fascinated thousands of Chicagoans, many of whom could not even get into Grant park because of the heavy traffic jam.

The weather was perfect for flying. Spectators began crowding into the park before noon, and by the time the aerial bombs announced the arrival of the first planes a vast throng covered the lake front.

100,000 Watch Spectacle.

More than 100,000 persons witnessed the show, it was estimated. Because the throngs of spectators were stretched out along three miles of shore line and thousands were unable to get into Grant park at all, but viewed the show from nearby vantage points, an exact computation could not be made. The crowds extended a half mile west of the shore line, to Michigan boulevard, and even up into many tall buildings and hotels.

Lowell R. Bayles, driving his famous Gee Bee racer across the lake front stage at an estimated speed of 300 miles an hour, was the sensation of the show. Bayles quite evidently broke the existing world speed record for land planes, and will make the new mark official later this week.

Precision Marks Program.

The crowd gasped and thrilled as event after event of the great charity air show was run off with a precision that mocked the moving hands of the clock. This precision seemed uncanny.

It was, because every pilot and every plane was controlled by the unseen hand of Maj. R. W. Schroeder, sitting at a window near the top of the Stevens hotel, sending squadron after squadron of planes from Chicago airport to Grant park for their acts.

His voice over a telephone called forth, one by one, twenty of the world's most famous pilots, 15 huge airliners, 75 Chicago sportsmen pilots, and many feature events.

All Proceeds to Relief Fund.

Once again the open heart of Chicago's millions was demonstrated in the great response to an air show staged for the benefit of the city's unemployed during the coming winter. All the proceeds from the show will go to the Joint Emergency Relief fund of Cook county. THE TRIBUNE assuming all the expenses except for the many donations made by other Chicago concerns.

Paid admissions to the show amounted to $17,474 last night, with some ticket sales reports still to be turned in. This sum included $10,936 collected from pedestrians and $6,538 collected from automobiles. Included in the total is $755 collected by a large number of women who volunteered their services to gather donations from the persons who watched the show from Michigan boulevard.

About 3,300 motorists and 22,000 pedestrians paid to enter Grant park. Then traffic became so jammed at the entrances that the ticket sellers and collectors were unable to function and several thousand were permitted to enter without paying.

Curtis Opens Day's Program.

Vice President Charles Curtis and his sister, Mrs. Dolly Gann, arrived in Chicago in the morning, and at 10 o'clock they spoke over W-G-N, THE TRIBUNE radio station, in the formal opening of the day's program. The Vice President praised the efforts of all concerned with the charity air show.

All Chicago owes a vote of thanks to the twenty famous pilots who flew their planes hundreds of miles to

Dry Raider's Blow Fatal to Denver Youth

Denver, Colo., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Melford G. Smith, 20, died today from a fractured skull, alleged to have been inflicted by Henry Dierkes, federal prohibition agent, during a raid.

John F. Vivian, federal district prohibition administrator, said Smith was injured during a fight over posession of a bottle of wine the youth threw from a hamburger stand with the entry of the officers. No charges have been filed in connection with the death.

A. L. Green, 41, an uncle of Smith, was declared to have been struck over the head by the agent.

Police said Smith was removed to the hospital where he died after being held for nine hours in the city jail without medical attention.

Negro Agent Uses Gun.

New Orleans, Nov. 8.—(AP)—James Young, 34, Negro federal prohibition agent, was arrested following the fatal wounding today of Frank Jones, another Negro, in a raid on a soft drink stand. Edward Henley, district federal prohibition administrator, declined to discuss the case. Jones is said to have resisted arrest by Young while two white agents waited outside. Young said Jones attacked him.

Border Patrolman Shot.

Alpine, Tex., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Mexican liquor runners were blamed by officers for the shooting of James McGraw, Marfa, Tex., federal border patrolman, who was wounded from ambush today near Presidio, Tex.

The gunmen fled into brush across the Rio Grande river when McGraw's three companions returned the fire.

Officers anticipated more trouble with the smugglers. They were believed to be members of the band which wounded Ware Hord, another patrolman, recently.

At the time Hord was wounded one Mexican was slain and another toppled into the Rio Grande, apparently wounded fatally.

Boy, 13, Killed by Rifle as He Shoots at Target

An accidentally discharged rifle, in use during target practice, caused the death yesterday of John Miller, 13 years old, 9518 South Kenneth avenue, Oak Lawn. He and William Valera, also 13, were practicing with the gun in the rear of the latter's home at 95th street and 47th avenue, Oak Lawn. John fired a round of shots and walked up to the target to mark his hits. William picked up the small rifle to take his turn. As he did so the weapon was discharged, the bullet striking his playmate.

FLAMES ROUT 20 FAMILIES IN FLAT BUILDING

Twelve children and two elderly women were rescued and three firemen were injured in a fire which early this morning started in the basement of a four story apartment building at 6007-13 Dorchester avenue, near the University of Chicago campus. Damage was estimated at $10,000 by Assistant Fire Marshal Daniel Carmody. Twenty families were routed from their beds and fled to the street.

The blaze originated in the basement of the building section at 6009 Dorchester avenue and was confined largely to the floor of that section. Only the top floor was occupied, the tenants being Mrs. G. E. Albrecht and her children, Frank, 2 years old, and George, 3. They discovered the fire.

By the time firemen arrived the flames had spread upward at 6009 Dorchester avenue and partly to the upper floors of 6011-13. All families were asleep at the time and all safely escaped with the aid of firemen, who, led by Division Marshal Horace McLane, saved the children. During the fire Lieut. James Cull of engine 5 was cut by flying glass; Fireman Thomas Shanahan of squad 5 fell one story from a fire escape, and Fireman Patrick Moriarity of engine 19 stepped on a nail. Shanahan was the most seriously injured.

The women rescued were Mrs. Rhoda Richards, 87 years old, who was partly overcome by smoke, and Mrs. Richards was saved by Policeman Thomas Owens from her third floor apartment at 6007, and carried down through smoke. Police also rescued Mrs. Swedenborg, who lives at 6011.

MERCURY CLIMBS TO 73 FOR A NEW RECORD FOR DATE

Chicago's maximum temperature yesterday was 73 degrees, reached at 3 p. m., the third highest ever recorded here so late in the year and an all time record for Nov. 8.

Still higher readings were reported in the west. At Omaha the mercury climbed to 80, a mark never surpassed later than Nov. 7. The maximum at St. Louis and at Pierre, S. D., was 82.

Yesterday's mean temperature of 60 degrees in Chicago was 16 degrees above normal. The average daily temperature has been 4 degrees above normal since Jan. 1. Mild weather, with increasing cloudiness and possibly showers in the afternoon and evening, was forecast for today.

Death Takes James Genna, Ex-Alky King

James Genna, former head of the powerful bootlegging, alky-cooking, gunning Genna clan, whose three brothers were murdered in the earlier days of violence and death that followed in the train of national prohibition, is dead. And unlike his kinsmen and other "big shot" gangsters who were connected with him, he died a natural death.

Six years ago Genna fled the country to escape the fate of his brothers who fell before bullets of the avengers of the killing of Dean O'Banion, the beer lord, who was shot to death in his florist's shop on North State street. Genna's army of alcohol cookers was disbanded, and it was believed the city had heard the last of him.

Welcomed Back with Bullets.

However, last year, after serving two years in an Italian prison on a jewel robbery charge, he reappeared and undertook to reestablish himself in his old business on the west side. His invasion failed, for on May 31, 1930, as he and four of his old gang were driving in an automobile at Peoria and 18th streets, a large sedan drove alongside and a volley of revolver and shotgun fire was poured into the Genna car. One man, Philip Gneifo, was killed, and two others wounded.

Goes to Calumet City.

After this experience Genna again disappeared from the west side and gave up his attempts to dominate the alky racket in which he had once been king. Recently he has been living in comparative obscurity at 587 Freeland avenue, Calumet City. There, it is said, he has been a minor cog in the beer and booze dispensing gang of the south part of the county.

Last year the gangster's health failed and he has been an invalid practically ever since. A short time ago he underwent an operation which was not successful and he rapidly declined until death came. He will be buried from the home of his brother, Peter, 1021 South Ashland boulevard. The time of the funeral has not been set.

Blast Rocks Neighborhood as Wires Become Crossed

Crossed high tension wires in a penthouse on the roof of the National Ice and Fuel company building at 4248 South State street caused an explosion last night, wrecking the penthouse and shaking buildings for blocks around. An official from the Edison company said that the explosion occurred when two wires carrying 12,000 volts each crossed in the switch box in the penthouse.

Police Seize 5 in Stadium After Outburst

About 3,000 fans were assembled in the Chicago Stadium at 1800 West Madison street last night awaiting the opening gun which would start Chicago's twenty-sixth international bike race. Mayor Anton J. Cermak was to fire the gun.

He arrived with several prominent friends, among them Harvey Firestone and Vincent Bendix. But he was four minutes late. As he approached the microphone to deliver an introductory speech part of the crowd burst out into a boo. Despite his efforts to talk the jeers persisted. Mayor Cermak, after shouting out the word "hoodlum," fired the starting pistol without further ceremony.

Four Squads Raid Stadium.

A few minutes later he telephoned Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker. "If you want to find some hoodlums in this town, come to the Stadium," he advised crisply. Within a few minutes four detective squads raced to the Stadium, raided it—quietly—and seized five men.

The outburst against the mayor was regarded by his friends and the police as a reaction against the campaign which has been whittling down hoodlum power and racketeering profits in Chicago. At the apex of the drive are the federal authorities, using the income tax and the immigration law as weapons.

Backed by City Hall.

In this campaign the federal officials have had the cooperation of the present city administration. Through police activity the hoodlum element has been deprived of rich sources of income, and the funds for legal defense and official bribery are known to be dwindling.

This drive has already placed the two notorious Capones, Al and Ralph, in the clutches of the federal government. Ralph is now at Leavenworth penitentiary serving a three year sentence, and Al, biggest hoodlum of all, is in the county jail pending his appeal of an eleven year prison sentence and $50,000 fine. Both Ralph and Al were put out of active circulation by application of the income tax laws.

Deportation Drive Begun.

In addition to these assaults, which have put other Capone henchmen—Ralph Nitto, alias Nitti, gang treasurer, and Sam Guzik in prison, the government, with the aid of the city police, has begun another drastic drive—one of deportation. Already a number of Capone chieftains are facing exile from the country, among them "Mops" Volpe, James Belcastro, and Dago Mangano. The latest possible subject for deportation is "Tough Tony" Capezio, alleged killer.

Last night's hoodlum drive started without prelude. The Stadium was well packed with partisans and ordinary spectators. No special disorder threatened, but there apparently was a large scattering of hoodlums.

At the appointed hour the mayor had not arrived. Some one in the crowd yelled "Where's the mayor?" A few minutes after the set hour Mayor Cermak and his friends appeared. He mounted the platform.

Hoodlums Start Hissing.

Mayor Cermak approached the microphone. As he did so a number of men in the rear section started hissing. The mayor looked toward them and smiled. But the hissing grew louder. As one of the policemen described it later, it sounded like a protest against the mayor's previously announced campaign "to purge the city of hoodlums." Mayor Cermak paused for a moment to allow the heckling to subside.

Instead the booing arose to a roar and Mayor Cermak's face plainly showed his indignation over the reception. He tried to speak, but the

CALL OUT U. S. TROOPS AS RIOT RAGES IN CHINA

Japanese Bombard Native Quarter.

BULLETIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Nov. 8.—Japan today flatly refused to withdraw its army from Manchuria in a message to the league of nations. A league council resolution had requested the removal of Japanese troops before Nov. 16. The message was also a reply to Aristide Briand's warning note against permitting continuance of hostilities in Manchuria. Japan stated that the territory must remain occupied until the Nonni river bridge, destroyed by the Chinese, is repaired. This, it was said, will take at least two weeks more.

BULLETIN.

PEIPING, Nov. 9 (Monday.)—(AP)—Chinese dispatches from Tientsin said Japanese troops there opened a bombardment on the Chinese quarter at 7 a. m. today, killing four Chinese and wounding ten.

PEIPING, Nov. 9.—[Monday.]—(AP)—Three thousand armed civilians were reported to be participating in new disturbances in Tientsin today, leading to the death of at least one Japanese soldier. The 15th United States infantry regiment, called but last night, was standing by after a mob of more than 2,000 persons had attacked native police on the border between the Chinese city and the Japanese concession late yesterday. Gov. Chang Hseuh-liang sent an armored troop train from here to restore order.

The American soldiers were awaiting orders from Col. James D. Taylor, Italian and French troops also were standing by in their respective concessions. Three companies of Chinese troops were preparing to intervene.

Use Machine Guns.

Reports reaching Manchurian headquarters here this morning said shooting was continuing and machine guns were being used. The origin of the outbreak was uncertain, but the Chinese alleged the Japanese distributed arms and ammunition with the object of causing disturbances.

It was first estimated that about 2,000 persons dressed in Chinese clothes participated in the attack, but allegedly were instigated by Japanese.

The attack followed upon an unsuccessful attempt Saturday night to assassinate the former boy emperor of China, Hsuan Tung, who has been living in the Japanese concession since 1924 under the name of Henry Fu-yi.

Bomb in Basket of Fruit.

A Chinese hotel messenger handed him a basket of fruit containing a bomb which failed to explode. When he was arrested he said he had been given the basket by a Chinese in the French concession and had been instructed to hand it to the former emperor without comment.

Police said they could give no motive for the attempt, but believed it was connected with recent rumors that the Japanese were planning to establish Hsuan Tung, now 24 years old, as emperor of Manchuria in succession to Chang Hsueh-liang. He is said to prefer living quietly in Tientsin as a private citizen.

Chinese reports said later that a mob of 2,000 armed Chinese, together with some Japanese, rushed from the Japanese concession into Chinese territory and assaulted the police. The few who were arrested were quoted as saying they had been paid $40 in silver (about $10) to participate in the attack. The casualties were unknown. It was believed the onslaught was aimed at the police station, the civil governor's headquarters, and the railway station.

768 U. S. SOLDIERS.

Tientsin, a large commercial city with an estimated population of 900,000, is the port for Peiping, with which it is connected by rail, as well as with Manchuria. It is situated at the junction of the Peiho and Hunho rivers, and the river front of the Peiho is governed by foreign powers, which have various concessions.

These concessions were obtained by treaty after the city was occupied by English and French troops in 1858. The foreign quarters suffered severely in the Boxer rebellion of 1900.

Since then foreign troops have had the right by a protocol signed in 1901, to defend the legation quarter in Peiping and to occupy selected points between Peiping and the sea. Foreign garrisons were strongly reinforced in 1927 during the conflict between the rival factions of north and south China, but since have been reduced.

The American force was reduced to 39 officers and 768 men, the garrison consisting of the Fifteenth United States Infantry regiment

JAPANESE FORCED BACK

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Nov. 8.—Despite reports by Japanese military headquarters that the situation along the Nonni river battle front is quiet, messages stating that the Chinese troops of Gen. Ma Chan-shan today reoccupied their first defense line on the north bank of the river after severe fighting reached here. It is reported that the Japanese have withdrawn to the south bank.

An official Japanese military report stated that the Chinese are continuing to concentrate troops at Anganchi and Tsitsihar. A report from Gen. Shigeru Honjo, Japanese commander, stated that the opposing forces consist of 12,000 troops, including 6,000 infantrymen, 1,000 cavalrymen, 600 sappers, 4,000 reinforcements, and a large number of coolie laborers.

Japanese Expect Attack.

Japanese military leaders are convinced that the Chinese are planning to attack their position. The two armies are about 12 miles apart. According to the Japanese, their forces are now outnumbered more than 20 to 1.

The shooting down of four Japanese planes in last week's three day battle, in which the Chinese troops were routed, has led Japanese to believe that Chinese are receiving assistance from Russia. They point out that the Chinese do not possess anti-aircraft guns and that Chinese gunners have not been trained to use these weapons.

Tuan Chin-kai, aged Chinese official, former governor of Heilung-kiang province, today declared Fengtien, now also known as Liaoning province, independent from the previous administration headed by Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang as well as from the central government at Nanking.

Japan Sticks to Stand.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Nov. 8.—[Monday.]—The Japanese attitude this morning in semi-official quarters regarding the possibility that article XV. of the covenant of the league of nations will be invoked is that Japan must stick by her stated stand even if she is forced to withdraw from the league.

Opinion is gaining ground that Japan may withdraw voluntarily should developments make it certain that article XV. will be invoked. However, it is felt in official quarters that the league will not take that step.

[Under article XV. the league council may lay down a course of action in the settlement of a dispute between league members by a majority vote. Under article XVI., should a league member resort to war in disregard of the course of action reached under article XV., it is deemed "an act of war against all other members of the league."]

The government has instructed Kenkichi Yoshizawa, Japan's chief delegate to the league, to protest to Aristide Briand, president of the league council, against use of the league as an organ of Chinese propaganda to aid in spreading false rumors that Japan is seizing salt revenues in Manchuria. Japan objects vehemently because Reichmann, a league representative, now in China is alleged to have spent $13,000 in sending wireless dispatches to the league. It is stated that Reichmann is staying with T. V. Soong, Chinese finance minister.

WAR IN FAR EAST TESTS SCHEMES TO FORCE PEACE

U. S. Put in Embarrassing Position.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington D. C. Nov. 8.—[Special.]—As a result of the developments of the last 48 hours in the war between Japan and China in Manchuria and of the defiant attitude of Japan to the manipulators of world peace machinery, the chancelleries of the powers have suddenly awakened to the realization that the fate of the league of nations hangs in the balance and that the Kellogg anti-war pact is being subjected to a supreme test of efficacy.

Of even greater importance to the American people is the critical juncture to which President Hoover's far eastern policy will be brought if the league should invoke the withdrawal of the diplomatic representatives of its members from Tokio, the application of economic pressure or other sanctions of the league covenant for the purpose of coercing Japan.

A Difficult Decision.

In that event the President will be compelled to decide whether to make common cause with the league by the adoption of similar measures designed to bring Japan to time. If he should throw in his lot with the league he would intensify the opposition already aroused in this country to the policy of close cooperation with the Geneva organization upon which he has embarked. If he should hold aloof he would be charged by the league powers with backing down and by our pacifists and internationalists with taking a course tending to scuttle the Kellogg pact.

Apparently only the backdown of Japan or of the league can save the President from this predicament.

This is the situation produced so far by the attempt to halt the war in Manchuria by resort to two kinds of peace machinery—the league covenant and the Kellogg pact.

Third Method Still Untried.

A third one, still untried, is the nine power pact evolved by the Washington conference of 1922 providing that in the event of an impairment of Chinese territorial integrity the nine powers would confer on measures for restoration of the status quo ante. Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, thinks that the administration should have invoked the nine power pact in the first place.

Because of the secrecy with which the administration has clothed its acts the country is not fully aware of the lengths to which the President has gone in the effort to stop the warfare in Manchuria. Proceeding on the theory that Japan is the aggressor and is unjustified in the military measures it has been taking, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, at the instance of the President, has sent several sharp notes to Tokio.

The text of these protests has been withheld from publication, as has been also the text of the note Washington addressed to Tokio to remind the Japanese government of its pledge under the Kellogg pact to seek the settlement of international disputes by pacific means only. An official of the Tokio foreign office said the text of the American protests had been withheld from the Japanese public for fear of inciting popular indignation at the attitude of the United States government.

Public Sympathy for Japan.

A good deal of the opposition in this country to the President's policy is due to sympathy with the insistence of Japan that it is merely protecting it interests in Manchuria in precisely the manner that the United States is accustomed to protect its interests in the Caribbean countries—by intervention and force of arms whenever necessary—; was because the American people would not tolerate interference by the league with such interventions that President Wilson was compelled to incorporate in the covenant the exemption of action taken under the Monroe doctrine, on which such interventions had been based.

Japan's discovery of this analogy makes no impression on the Hoover administration, which regards American interventions in the Caribbean region indefensible either under any construction of the Monroe doctrine or under any conception of paramount national interest.

The administration, it is learned, has given some consideration to the matter of more forceful measures for coercion of Japan. As to the suggestion of withdrawing diplomatic representatives from Tokio, administration opinion is that Japan would capitulate rather than be subjected to action virtually expelling it from the fellowship of occidental nations. The opinion is also held that it would not be necessary for the United States to join the league in an economic boycott of Japanese goods for the reason that Americans probably would institute an informal boycott by ceasing to buy Japanese silks.

The bandit escaped with $60.

GAVE U. S. FIVE MILLIONS IN ART; DIES IN POVERTY

New York, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—John Gellatly, who spent his life collecting rare objects of art which, when he gave them to the nation in 1929, were valued at $5,000,000, died of pneumonia today in the Medical Arts hospital.

His widow, Mrs. Charlyne Whitely Gellatly, said tonight that he was penniless when he died and that she had to borrow the money to defray his funeral expenses. She declared that her husband, who was 78 years old, three years her senior—had been induced to part with his collection in the hope of achieving fame as a philanthropist.

Mrs. Gellatly said she would appeal to congress to return the collection which it accepted in 1929 for the National gallery of the Smithsonian institution. If her appeal fails, she said, she would retain lawyers to protect her interests. Some of the paintings and sculptures that comprise the collection are in the Heckscher Art galleries here.

Funeral services for Mr. Gellatly will be held tomorrow night. Afterwards the body will be sent to Washington for burial in the Congressional cemetery.

Mrs. Gellatly is a granddaughter of the late Senator Richard H. Whitely of Georgia.

EXPECT SENATE WILL TAKE HAND IN NAVY BATTLE

Members of Congress in Favor of Action.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—An investigation by congress loomed today as the probable aftermath of the findings of the Hammond committee in favor of President Hoover in his row with William Howard Gardiner, president of the Navy league.

SENATOR JAMES DUREEN.

Members of congress who are in favor of full steam ahead in building the navy up to the ratios established by the London treaty expressed the opinion that there will be an inquiry, probably by the senate. It also appears likely that, the Democratic organization of the house will seize upon the Hoover-Gardiner imbroglio as a medium for airing the administration attitude toward the navy.

Critics Say Scope Limited.

Advocates of an adequate navy point out that the Hammond committee was limited by the President to evidence submitted by government departments and did not allow the Navy league to present any testimony in support of Mr. Gardiner's attack on the Hoover naval policies. A congressional investigation would afford the Navy league an opportunity to present the evidence excluded from consideration by the President's committee.

"There are matters to be looked into by congress," said Senator James Couzens [Rep., Mich.], "and I hope a committee will be created to go into them thoroughly and hold impartial hearings."

Senator Henry F. Ashurst [Dem., Ariz.] said he "could not comprehend why any one would want an investigation other such a fair trial by such an eminent jury."

Expects Debate on Issues.

Representative Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.] declined to comment on the verdict returned in the President's favor by the Hammond committee. He expects that most of the issues involved in the controversy between the President and Navy league will come up in consideration of navy legislation in the approaching session of congress. He will be a member of the house committee on naval affairs, but with the Democrats in control he no longer will be its chairman.

"I hope the administration will submit a navy building program," said Mr. Britten, "for in my opinion it would be extremely unwise for us to delay longer the building required to bring our navy up to the strength allowed by the London treaty. If the administration should fail to submit a building program I shall introduce a bill providing for the construction of ships costing about 130 or 140 million of dollars.

Want Reduction Scanned.

"Of course, in connection with the consideration of such legislation by the naval affairs committee navy policies will be surveyed and I intend to pass particularly for examination of the $1 million dollar reduction of navy estimates by the President to determine whether such cuts are justified or tend to impairment of our national defense."

Representative Burton L. French [Rep., Idaho], chairman of the naval sub-committee of the appropriations committee in the last house, vigorously commended the findings of the Hammond committee.

"He says," he said, "can read the statement of Mr. Gardiner for the Navy league and the report of the committee of which Mr. Hammond was chairman without realizing that Mr. Gardiner and his associates deserve the excoriation which they have received. Having in mind the sound policy of the President and the reasonable naval construction that is going forward, the issue right now becomes larger than the Navy league and involves itself into whether or not the country shall have regard for actual naval needs and for the burden of taxation that rests upon the people, as the President insists, or, ignoring national welfare, turn the federal treasury over to the exploitation of those who have personal ends to serve—navy yards and shipbuilders, aircraft and munitions manufacturers, and to some extent officers who are misled by personal interest in seeking their own ends."

Readers Kill Elk on State Preserve; Are Fined $155

Port Point, N. Y., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Three inexperienced hunters are a huge elk behind a barbed wire fence. They shot him and then clambered upon his carcass. Along came a state trooper who arrested them for killing an animal on a state preserve. The men protested they did not know they were on state property but they were fined a total of $155.

HOODLUMS BOO MAYOR; POLICE RAID STADIUM

hoodlums in the crowd yelled louder. Every effort of the mayor to placate them was met by more derisive thundering.

One leather lunged fellow rose up in front and shouted something to Mayor Cermak. This so exasperated the mayor that he put his lips close to the microphone and shouted "hoodlum" at him. The single word carried through the Stadium's amplifying system and was heard all over. Without another word the mayor dropped all attempts to speak and fired the pistol starting the race. A few minutes later he called Chief Schoemaker.

In quick time the four police squads dispatched by Schoemaker and commanded by Lieut. John L. Sullivan and Sergts. Ray Gilso, Frank Reynolds, and William McCarthy, were at the Stadium. They entered the various exits, walked up and down the aisles, and scanned row after row of spectators.

The men arrested are Tony Taglia, 1502 Polk street, chauffeur; Sam Taglia, 3250 Congress street, a driver; Louis Mastrianno, 1501 Van Buren street, an embalmer; Edward Friscllo, 1502 Polk street, and Louis Cecilik, 747 De Koven street. They were taken to the detective bureau and held incommunicado.

Following the police visit, which did not interfere with the race and which perhaps was unnoticed by most of those in attendance, Sidney Stretz, president of the Stadium, conferred with the mayor. It was reported he protested against what "was an attempt to discredit the patrons of the show."

SEIZE CAPONE GUNMAN

Another of Al Capone's bravos, "Tough Tony" Capezio, was caught yesterday in the federal drive to place the members of the gang behind prison bars or beyond the borders of the United States.

Capezio, who police believe but could never prove was one of the machine gunners who mowed down seven gangster rivals of Capone in the St. Valentine's day massacre, is slated for deportation. He had been arrested by police as a bank robbery suspect.

Witnesses of the bank robberies were unable to identify him or his companions, Frank Zanger and John Du Bois, at the detective bureau showup, but his detention was ordered by W. F. Watkins, aid to Murray W. Garsson, special assistant of secretary of Labor Doak in the immigration drive. Mr. Watkins has information, he said, that Capezio was born in Italy in 1901 and was never naturalized.

Pulled from the lineup by Chief of Detectives Schoemaker, Capezio was ordered to raise his right hand to be sworn for questioning by the federal inspector. Tough Tony threw up both hands.

THE INSPECTOR—Now, you're under oath. Where were you born?

TOUGH TONY—Ohio, Pennsylvania.

INSPECTOR—Don't get funny with me. You're talking to a federal agent. Now, where were you born?

TOUGH TONY—Ohio, Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania, Ohio. I dunno. Small town somewhere.

At this juncture Tough Tony went mum. Chief Schoemaker interposed, prodded him to answer, and finally asked the inspector whether he wished to question the prisoner further.

"At 9 o'clock tomorrow morning in the federal building," said the inspector.

Alec B. Francis, Veteran Hollywood Actor, Missing

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Missing since yesterday, Alec B. Francis, veteran actor of stage and screen, tonight was sought by police. It was learned the actor drove to a railway terminal without overcoat or baggage. Since then no trace of him has been found. Neither his wife nor manager can offer any reason for his disappearance.

GOLDEN CARD TOURNAMENT TO AID IN RELIEF

Entries Pour In; Hotels Help.

From individuals, from large hotels, from business and social organizations the flood of entries to the Golden Card tournament, which will be held on Dec. 3, is pouring in to THE TRIBUNE.

The tournament is being given with two objects—to afford the multitude of Chicagoland bridge players a lot of fun and to raise much needed funds for two worthy relief organizations, the Joint Emergency Relief commission, which is still more than three millions short of its goal of $8,800,000, and The Tribune Hungry School Children fund.

Twenty large hotels in Chicago and the suburbs already have hastened with offers of coöperation. Each is to give a party for its guests of the evening. Each will handle the arrangements of seating and of ordering the prearranged packs of cards for every table.

Knickerbocker Has Plans.

The Hotel Knickerbocker has announced its definite plans for the big bridge day. The management will serve refreshments to the players and it will have a recognized bridge expert of its own to superintend the play in its card room. He is E. J. Tobin, president of the Chicago Whist association and a director of the American Bridge league and the Auction Bridge Club of Chicago.

The Edgewater Beach, Chicago Beach, Pearson, Lake Shore Drive, Belmont, Sovereign, Windermere East and West, Allerton, Bismarck, Belden-Stratford, Shoreland, Webster, Parkway, Copeland, Plaisance, the Georgian and Orrington in Evanston, and the Oak Park Arms in Oak Park are forming their groups.

A score or more of clubs have offered assistance, but have requested that their names not be published, as a matter of form, until boards of directors have given their approval.

Business Houses Join In.

Business firms have recognized the worth of the tournament as a get-together for employés who like bridge. Here's a sample of messages that are reaching THE TRIBUNE, this one from Burton Brown, advertising manager of Silver-Marshall, Inc., radio manufacturers:

"Count us in up to our necks in this fine thing. We've got a lot of girl employés who love their bridge. This company is going to have a party in its plant at 6400 West 65th street on Dec. 3. Reserve cards for ten tables for us."

Gets Cards as Presents.

From a woman, who asked that her name be kept secret, came an order. "I don't play cards," she said, "but I want to help those funds and I can use the cards for presents to my friends."

Every cent over and above the actual costs of cards and score cards will go to relieve suffering. These actual costs are less than 40 cents a pack of cards—there are four packs for each table, and the price is $2 a pack or $8 a table. Every time four players sit down to play they get their cards and $6.40 worth, or more, of satisfaction that they are doing their part for the poor and friendless.

Final Championship Contest.

Moreover, there will be a final contest, with a Chicagoland championship and handsome trophy cups to the winning team. The contestants for the finals will be chosen by Charles True Adams, bridge expert for THE TRIBUNE, and a committee, from those who send in their tournament scores on the official score cards which acompany each set of four prearranged packs.

All the entrants have to do is determine the number of packs they want and send in their orders and remittances to the Golden Cards editor of THE TRIBUNE. The cards are now being printed and prearranged. This newspaper promises to see that delivery is made to all entrants well in advance of Dec. 3. Rules will be announced frequently and Mr. Adams will discuss them on W-G-N fifteen minutes before the start of play.

ILLINOIS SEAWAY CAN BE READY TO OPEN NEXT FALL

A Little Pushing Will Get It Finished.

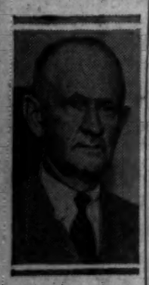
BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Morris, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The Illinois waterway appears likely to be ready for opening next October, if the builders keep up their present speed, instead of by May 1, 1933, the time set by the U. S. army engineers.



MAJ. GEN. LYTLE BROWN.
[Associated Press.]

The two and a half centuries old dream of Marquette, Joliet and La Salle is so close to the time of reality that it seems it will not require much of an extra shove by the government to finish it up half a year ahead of set schedule. President Hoover a few days ago told Senator Otis F. Glenn that he favors speeding up the work and that he would take up the question with the chief of army engineers, Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown.

Dresden Dam Chief Obstacle.

The middle section of the dam at Dresden island, to be built across a 400 foot gap in the middle of the river, has been regarded as the chief obstacle to completion next fall instead of a year from next spring, of the 60 mile missing link between the great lakes and the Gulf of Mexico. The Dresden project was the last to be attacked.

A survey of the ground, however, indicates the dam may be ready by next October anyway, instead of in February, 1933, the time set in the contract. A little extra pressure, night and day work when possible, a little extra money to make the cofferdam stronger to remove the ice and flood hazard, so engineers hold, would insure a finish next fall.

At Dresden island, a short distance below the point where the Des Plaines and Kankakee rivers flow together to form the Illinois, the locks are 75 per cent complete. Two of the three gates are finished. The dam masonry itself is 35 per cent finished, about one-third of its total length being finished on both banks.

Chicago Company Doing Work.

The masonry work is being done by the Congress Construction company of Chicago, which has a camp site at the dam site. Joseph Bridges, who built the Peoria bridge, is superintendent and J. C. Bonnell, Northwestern '27, who has been working on the waterway since a lad, is assistant chief.

On both banks the work is advancing ahead of schedule. A cofferdam was built nearly three years ago. On the south side of the river, four piers are built and the shore structures are expected to be ready in two or three weeks. On the opposite bank, concrete is being poured night and day. The walls and headgates are well under way, and the excavation is 20 feet deep into the rock, in readiness for the pouring of the footing which is to be 35 feet wide.

Out of 100,000 cubic yards of concrete to be poured for the Dresden island lock and dam, a total of about 60,000 yards is said to be in, and about 70,000 yards more is in sight for the remainder of the year.

Some 350 men are now working on the masonry at Dresden island, and 35 on the steel. The work has gone at such a rate that the Congress Construction company has already knocked half a month off its building program.

Between the shore structures is a gap of open water nearly 400 feet wide. This is where the next coffer dam is to be built to clear the bed of the river. Excavations are to be made 16 feet into the solid rock to get a foundation for the dam. In a few weeks the builders say they plan to start building this new cofferdam, removing the old one gradually. By the middle of December they expect to be pulling out the steel in the old coffer. Three months for building the new coffer is figured, and word at the dam site is that excavation on the river bed may be in progress in the latter part of the winter.

The builders on the ground say they expect that by fall next year the water could go through and everything be completed and shipshape except for the trimming up and moving out.

Fear Floods and Ice.

The government engineers in setting April 30, 1933, as the date for opening, have expressed apprehension that unless the low water season is made the period for the work, flood waters and ice might sweep out the cofferdam and cause property damage. Construction men up and down the waterway, however, point out that the old cofferdam at Dresden island has withstood the ice of two winters. It is only a structure of earth embankment with interlocking steel plates driven into the river bed as a front. A six inch pump has kept it dry.

Double shifts whenever possible, Chicago engineers declare, would insure completion by October, and besides would afford work for more men.

How Other Projects Stand.

On the projects, the present status is as follows:

Lockport—A 41 foot lift connecting the sanitary canal with the Des Plaines river is complete, at a cost of $1,973,000.

Brandon Road—Two miles below Joliet, lock and dam, with a 31 foot lift, will be ready Dec. 1, according to Col. W. C. Weeks, U. S. district engineer, more than two months ahead of schedule. Local engineers say work on the retaining walls through Joliet can be speeded up without trouble by working day and night. The cost estimates of the lock and dam were $3,385,000 and the pool, $3,900,000.

Dresden Island—Locks 75 per cent complete; dam 35 per cent finished. Lock and dam, with a 17 foot lift, are to cost about $2,300,000.

Marseilles—Lock and canal, with 31 feet lift, 98 per cent complete. A new dam is to be built, which the engineers say will not be a long job. Total cost is about $3,225,000.

Starved Rock—Lock and dam, practically complete, lift of 16 feet, cost $3,250,000.

Engineers along the waterway say 400 or 500 men might be employed for three months clearing trees and underbrush from the lands that will be overflowed when the waterway is opened. The army engineers are putting men to work, mostly farmers along the route. Dredging in the pools, they say, can be done next spring and summer. The state dredging plant is now tied up at Dresden island and it is planned to rent it to the contractors. An October opening, the builders say, would be dead easy.

The work of the sanitary district of Chicago in building sewage disposal plants is noticeable. Folks up and down the valley talk of the clearer stream. The texture of the water is thinner, its bouquet is less piquant, so to say, and at Dresden island, schools of minnows and small fry are swimming around where a year ago they used to turn belly up and die, due to industrial wastes.

England May Be Broke, but Pageantry Goes Marching On

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Great Britain may be broke, but she cannot do without her pageantry. For three days, beginning tomorrow, business in the center of London will be hampered, traffic upset, and life generally disorganized by medieval shows which have no bearing at all on present day life and in which none, except a few elderly gentlemen, take part.

First of all will be the lord mayor's show tomorrow, with Lord Mayor Elect Maurice Jenks holding the spotlight. Each year, on the installation of the lord mayor of London, this circus procession blocks the streets of London during the busiest hours of the day, between noon and 2 p. m.

The lord mayor will be followed by hundreds of carriages containing liveried men of London's guilds, old gentlemen in fur robes and comical hats. Then come the circus floats, representing industries and historical incidents connected with London, and, as always in Great Britain's public shows, a large contingent of troops.

During the procession all traffic will be barred from the streets through which it passes and London will be cut in two, no one being able to cross the line of the procession to get from the north to the south, or vice versa.

On Tuesday Westminster has its turn, when all traffic in the busiest parts of London's west end will be held up for King George's procession to open parliament in state. Headed by contingents of troops, the king and queen will drive in the gold plated old circus coach from Buckingham palace to parliament.

On Wednesday there will be another traffic tieup in the same neighborhood, when the king will lay a wreath at the foot of the cenotaph in Whitehall. This will last several hours.

Business men of London have been protesting against the traffic congestion for years, but with no result. They have even pleaded that these ceremonies be held on a Saturday afternoon, when most shops are closed.

But the reply has always been: "It has always been done."

Montreal Pastor Called to Church at Oak Park

The Rev. J. W. G. Ward, D. D., Litt. D., formerly of Montreal, London, England, and Detroit, has been called to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church, Oak Park. This was announced yesterday by Leslie H. Christie of Montreal, where Dr. Ward is now the pastor of Emmanuel Congregational church. Dr. Ward is known as a dramatic preacher.

2 YOUTHS DIE, WOMAN HURT AS TRAIN HITS AUTO

Seven Deaths Listed in County Accidents.

Two unidentified youths, believed to have been hitch hikers, were killed yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by an east bound passenger train on the 4th avenue crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad in Gary.

With them in the car was Miss Marion Vinivich, 29 years old, 816 Van Buren street, Gary, who was seriously injured. The car belonged to Miss Vinivich and the authorities at Gary believe that the youths were picked up in East Chicago. The condition of Miss Vinivich, who was taken to Mercy hospital, was described as critical.

Seven auto deaths yesterday in Cook county raised the 1931 toll to 1,095. The victims:

Mrs. Katherine O'Connor, 39 years old, 1744 North Menard avenue. Killed by hit and run motorist at Menard and North avenues as she was on her way to St. Angela's church, Potomac and Menard avenues, with her father, John Gorey, engineer at the Shakespeare avenue police station. A dark blue coupe carried her body for 100 feet, halted a moment, and then sped away.

Ralph Rahn, 6 years old, 1775 Cullom avenue. Fatally injured when struck near his home by an automobile driven by Louis Dobberstein, 1456 Rosemont avenue.

Alex Kochnuk, 36 years old, 1338 South Washtenaw avenue. Killed when the automobile in which he was riding collided with another car at 23d street and California avenue. The driver of the other car was John Bazacz, 22 years old, 3632 West 23d street.

Louis Lebo, 43 years old, 4809 North St. Louis avenue. Fatally injured when he was struck at Montrose avenue and Broadway by an automobile driven by Miss Barbara Issel, 4342 North Winchester avenue.

Mrs. Alvina Tyschen, 62 years old, 6330 South Ashland avenue. Died at the German Deaconess hospital of injuries sustained Aug. 1, when she was struck by a truck driven by Frank Rosebrock, 832 Washington boulevard, Oak Park, at 63d and Loomis streets.

Joseph Bender, 65 years old, 5708 South Hermitage avenue. Died at the Southwest General hospital of a skull fracture suffered when he was struck Saturday as he crossed the street in front of 5734 South Ashland avenue by an automobile driven by Martin Smith, 19 years old, 6506 South Green street.

Jesse Anderson, 48 years old, 2958 Cottage Grove avenue, colored. Died at the Michael Reese hospital. He was struck by a Yellow cab driven by T. H. Fisk at 29th street and Cottage Grove avenue Oct. 23.

Michael Burns, 15 years old, 2438 West Polk street, was critically injured when a stolen automobile in which he and three other boys were riding struck a taxicab at Flournoy street and Kedzie avenue. Burns, who was pinned in the wreckage of the car, was internally injured. Anthony Joyce, 17 years old, received a broken arm, but the other two boys fled before police arrived.

Four Machines Burned.

Three passenger machines and a truck were destroyed by fire in an unusual accident in Roosevelt road between Kedzie and Albany avenues early this morning. One man, Vito Steffanelli, 51 years old, of 1237 South 51st court, Cicero, was seriously hurt.

The accident occurred, police were told, when Steffanelli, operating the truck, crashed into one of the cars which was backing out of a parking place. The gasoline tank of the car exploded, throwing sheets of fire on the truck and another automobile parked near by.

ENGLAND FAILED YOU! COME HOME! INDIA TO GANDHI

British Accused of Using Oppressive Measures.

BOMBAY, India, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Asserting the British government had failed to grant its demands for independence, the Indian national congress today cabled Mahatma Gandhi in London that his further attendance at the round table conference was unnecessary and urged him to return to India at once.

While leaving the final decision to Gandhi, the congress' working committee adopted a resolution saying:

"The people of India should not allow themselves to be deflected from the right path, but should organize themselves and prepare for united, effective action." Recent attempts by radicals on the lives of British officials were condemned.

Charge Oppressive Tactics.

Gandhi was asked to abandon his proposed tour of Europe and come home at the earliest moment on the additional grounds that British authorities were using oppressive measures against the peasants in Bengal, the Northwest Frontier province, the United provinces, and other districts.

"The various facts and circumstances will be better known to Gandhi on the spot," it was said.

Delegates Visit Gandhi.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—On receipt of a cablegram from the Indian national congress, a number of Indian delegates to the round table conference today went to Oxford, where Mahatma Gandhi was speaking, to confer with him on his plans for the future.

Gandhi has said repeatedly he was wasting his time in London, because the conference was making no progress, but he has promised Prime Minister MacDonald to remain until its conclusion, expected about Nov. 23.

Asked in Oxford whether he would renew the civil disobedience campaign, he replied:

"If England shows no change of heart toward India, then a fiery ordeal and more suffering lie ahead of us."

NEW YORK PEOPLE JUST WAKING TO PUBLIC FINANCES

Takes Near Catastrophe to Arouse Them.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—It took a near catastrophe to make so prosaic and complicated a matter as city or municipal finances a matter of vital public interest—and that is exactly what is happening in New York today.

The ordinary citizen does not know where the money comes from nor what it goes except in a hazy, general way. The tax payer grumbles in July and November even in piping times of prosperity, but when his income tumbles and his tax assessments soar and he finds he cannot pay he wakes up and begins to look around for a way out of the financial morass.

A whole army of bookkeepers work day in and day out all the year over hundreds of huge ledgers, but no matter how impressive the figures or how huge the totals the fact remains that a state or city cannot continue to spend more than its resources can provide without going into bankruptcy.

State Is Waking Up.

New York state is making apparently successful efforts to curb its expenditures, and a tax revision commission which has been studying tax reforms for several months will report in December. The state budget for 1932 will be ready about the same time and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt has pledged himself to see that there is an equal distribution of the tax burden.

The state estimated its receipts for 1931 at $348,379,906. This is approximately $17,700,000 more than the budget requirements, but the collections have not been as good as estimated and now there is an estimated $30,000,000 deficit to be faced in 1932 unless cuts can be made or new taxes levied.

What the Figures Show.

The state obtained $2,279,906 from general property taxes, a total of $30,050,000 from its fourteen special taxes, including corporation, inheritance, personal income, mortgage, motor, motion picture and gasoline taxes, and $14,050,000 from other special taxes.

An increase of about $925,000,000 over the estimated values of real property in the state for 1930 is indicated by the 1931 equalization table of $29,-31,830,000. The average rate of equalization for the 62 counties of the state was 33.94 plus per cent. The total value of real property in the state in 1931 was $34,765,415,122, an increase of about $893,000,000 over the total equalization of 1929. The increase in both the assessed and full valuation of taxable property in the state was not as pronounced as in the several years preceding 1930.

The situation in New York City, however, has been likened to a man who owns a piece of property and gets his entire income from renting it. He places the rent at $500 a month on his ledger, although his renters are able to pay only $450 and he is well aware of that fact. Just the same, from year to year he continues to raise the rent and plans his personal expenditures as though he were getting the added revenue instead of just the $450. The more money the property owner spends the less and less rent the tenants pay. Finally he finds his original income cut almost in half, but his personal expenditures almost double his original income.

That is just about the fix Father Knickerbocker has found himself in this fall, but he is busily preparing to increase the assessments and keep right on spending at the rate of $1 a day for each of the 2,100,000 working people in the city. These are the people who indirectly pay $1 of their salaries each working day and then boast of the five cent subway fare.

Regarding the tax muddle in New York state and New York City in particular, economists are issuing daily warning. Merwin K. Hart, president of the New York State Economic council, an employers' organization, declares drastic revision downward is necessary.

"Nearly, if not quite, all of our municipalities and our multitude of other tax districts," says Mr. Hart, "are faced with reduced revenues and resulting deficits."

The office holding mind lags behind the business mind, according to Mr. Hart, who points out that business long ago reorganized and that that state and city must do the same and "cut to the bone."

REVENUE SESSION BRINGS TROUBLES TO COUNTY CLERK

Sweitzer in a Quandary on Extending Taxes.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The special session of the legislature is worrying County Clerk Sweitzer in his problem of deciding how the 1930 taxes shall be extended.

To get all available information Mr. Sweitzer plans to have a meeting in his office this noon, if it can be arranged, of Chairman Omer Custer of the state tax commission, Chairman Joseph K. Brittain of the executive committee of the governor's revenue conference, Harris S. Keeler, director of the bureau of public efficiency, and others concerned with the pending revenue program.

The board of review has practically completed its task of determining the real estate valuations for 1930 and has delivered about one-fifth of the books to the county clerk. These taxes are payable as soon as the bills can be gotten out and they become delinquent on Jan. 2.

Clerk Sweitzer's Problem.

"If I defer extending the 1930 taxes, as the Chicago real estate board has requested," said Mr. Sweitzer yesterday, "I prolong the period of settling the tax anticipation warrant debts of the local governments. That expense in interest has been estimated at $33,000 a day.

"But suppose I extend the taxes under the present statutes, and, just as I am completing it, the legislature adopts some new laws requiring an entirely different sort of extension, then the work will have to be done all over again."

The announced tax payment plan of the governor's conference for 1930 taxes provides that the state, school, and bond and interest taxes shall be paid as the first installment, and the remainder shall be payable in five equal installments during the five subsequent years, if the property owner does not desire to hand in all of his 1930 taxes in one payment.

The Bond Issue Plan.

To give the local governments cash with which to operate while the deferred taxes are out, the conference has recommended that the city and county be given the power to issue bonds, of which the maximum is estimated at $44,000,000.

Mr. Sweitzer said he has no information on whether the governor's conference desires that a tax levy, for the payment of the bonds and interest on this new issue, be included in the 1930 tax extensions. Added taxes for these bonds and interest will necessarily change the tax rate for the municipalities affected.

"Assuming that the revenue conference program goes through the legislature," commented Mr. Sweitzer, "it will be up to this office to extend the 1930 taxes in six installments. But suppose that program is changed by the legislature so that the installment plan is altered. Then the extensions will have to be made over.

More of His Difficulties.

"Some predict that the general assembly, under the wide open call, will not finish its job before Christmas. It will be physically impossible to extend the taxes between Dec. 25 and Jan. 1, and get out the bills.

"Under a new law, passed by the last legislature, we are required after Jan. 1 to extend taxes in two installments. The present statutes require that extensions made before Jan. 1 provide for payment of all taxes at one time.

"One of the principal reasons for calling the special session was to change these laws, and in our situation at present it is highly important that we obtain, if possible, knowledge of what is being planned, so far as it affects the extension of the 1930 taxes in this office.

Tax Extension Process Explained.

"We have prepared the skeleton of the tax books already. We have written in the books the names of the property owners, their addresses, and the legal description of their properties. Opposite each property we will place the tax valuation as we receive the reports of the board of review.

"After that has been done we will try to determine the rate in each of the 419 taxing areas within Cook county. If the proposed legislation does not contemplate new laws which will affect rates, we can multiply the rates by the valuation and determine the total taxes on each of the 1,200,-000 properties in the county.

"Then the question is, how much farther can we go? We can divide the taxes on each property into six installments, as the report of the revenue conference suggests. But the Chicago Real Estate board desires to kill that plan; and possibly the final result will be a modification of the revenue conference plan.

"I am not trying to forecast what will happen. I am only suggesting the troublesome possibilities I may encounter in attempting to extend the taxes."

Personalty Value of City's Banks Put at $86,241,625

The 1930 personal property assessments on the 204 banks in Chicago as fixed by the board of review total $86,241,625. This was disclosed yesterday when the books were completed. The volumes will be turned over to the county clerk today.

This valuation is $4,566,108 less than the 1929 assessment, which was $90,-807,731 for banks within the city. Both years show a steady decline in the personal property assessments of banks. In 1928 the banks' assessments totaled $102,859,500.

The assessment for 1930 as fixed by the reviewers is $27,806,875 less than the $113,848,500 total set by the assessors.

Largest Cut for Continental.

The largest single reduction in valuation made by the board of review was made for the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, which the assessors valued at $45,000,000. This was cut by the reviewers to $25,125,-000, a slash of $19,875,000.

Other reductions in valuations of loop banks were: First National bank, assessed at $12,500,000 and reduced to $8,500,000; Central Trust company, assessed at $8,400,000 and lowered to $5,460,000; First Union Trust and Savings bank, assessed at $7,500,000 and reduced to $5,100,000; National Bank of the Republic, assessed at $2,100,000 and reduced to $1,312,000; Northern Trust company, assessed at $1,600,000 and lowered to $1,560,000.

Explains Reduction System.

The personal property valuations of the banks are determined after reductions against their assets of capital stock and real estate have been made, according to Andrew W. Gatenbey, chief clerk of the board of review. The changes made in the assessors' figures for 1930, he said, were caused largely because the assessors had not taken into consideration the assessments made against the banks by the state tax commission, or the real estate assessments.

CITY'S GREATEST AIR SPECTACLE THRILLS CROWDS

Throngs Jam Lake Front for Charity Show.

participate in the show, and then put on an exhibition that exceeded anything seen at the national air races.

These twenty pilots, for whom money and time are as important considerations as they are for any business people, gladly contributed both, as well as their skill, to help Chicago through the winter without undue suffering. They received nothing except their expenses, in the form of donations.

Not only did the famous flyers perform in the air, but they landed in the yacht harbor in amphibions after taking their planes back to the airport, and were taken to the speakers' stand, where they greeted the spectators and were applauded.

Last night the flyers attended a dinner and reception given by THE TRIBUNE at the Hotel Sherman in appreciation of their efforts. After the dinner all the flyers and a number of their friends were the guests of Beatrice Lillie, star of "The Third Little Show" at the Great Northern theater. Several of the aviators were mentioned from the stage and took bows amid the applause of the audience. Miss Lillie gave fifty seats to the flyers.

Air Liners Open the Show.

The charity air show opened with an unusual sight, the parade of 15 huge air liners. Led by William F. Bliss, manager of Century Air Lines, at the head of a three-plane formation of three tri-motored Stinson planes, the parade was an inspiring sight as the heavy ships flew over the lake shore.

Immediately behind the Stinson formation flew Jack Knight, the oldest mail pilot in point of service, with 12,000 hours of flying, in a tri-motored Boeing plane. Behind came Ben O. Howard, the "pylon polisher" of last year's air races, in a tri-motored Ford. The two planes are used on United Air Lines.

Following the parade of air liners groups of Chicago's sportsmen pilots from Chicago, Stinson, Palwaukee, Sky Harbor, Curtiss-Reynolds, and Waukegan airports arrived over Grant park in a mass celebration of more than seventy-five planes.

Noted Women Pilots Parade.

The first of the contingent of famous flyers to arrive in the air were the women pilots, who passed in review and then returned, each to do her special stunts.

Mrs. Ruth Stewart and Miss Doble Stanford led the parade in their white Curtiss Robin plane, powered by a Challenger motor. They have flown in many national air races, and plan to make a 5,000 mile flight from New York to South America later this month.

Mrs. Phoebe Fairgrave Omlie, noted aviatrix of Memphis, who wins national air races from the leading men pilots, followed in her little yellow and red Warner powered monocoupe, which she whipped around beacon standards on the breakwater in pylon turns.

Miss Maude Irving Tait, society girl of Springfield, Mass., who won the women's speed classic in the last national air races at Cleveland in her red and white Gee Bee racer and equaled the American women's speed record, dived over the lake front, her Wasp motor roaring as she pulled it out of the dive into a 1,000 foot zoom straight up into the sky.

Walter Hunter Leads Review.

Next came the review of the famous men pilots, led by Walter J. Hunter, one of the endurance flying Hunter brothers, who stunted his big Travel-air plane, powered by a Wright J-6 motor. Hunter's hands are still red from being severely burned when he jumped from his blazing racer at only 200 feet two months ago, but he wouldn't refuse a chance to do something for charity.

Eddie Stinson, who knew all about flying long before most of the pilots there yesterday had even seen an airplane, flew next in line in his yellow Stinson Junior plane, powered by a Lycoming motor.

John Livingston from Aurora, Ill., who has won more national air races than any one else, flashed by in his yellow Monocoupe, Warner powered, showing the speed that has made him and his small plane famous.

Russel Boardman and John Polando, two famous flyers, who won the world's distance record by hopping in one jump from New York to Turkey, went by in their large Wright powered Bellanca monoplane. They handled the ship remarkably, for its size and weight, demonstrating its facile maneuverability.

Hugh Herndon Jr. and Clyde Pangborn, the round the world flyers who finished their flight with a nonstop jump across the Pacific and a landing without wheels, passed in their ship, also a Bellanca monoplane. Mrs. Hugh Herndon, who married the famous pilot just before he took off across the Atlantic, was with them in the plane.

Morrow Does Show Stunts.

Dwight Morrow, another Chicago pilot of note, flew from Curtiss-Reynolds airport in a Curtiss Fledgling plane, powered by a Wright motor. He did a series of slow stunts in the manner of Commander Atcherley of Great Britain.

Walter H. Beech, who is many times a millionaire but still gets a thrill out of piloting a new type plane he has built, flew his new baby amphibion in a race against a championship speed boat piloted by Art Jacobs, well known Chicago boat racer. Jacobs had several slight accidents in his small outboard boat, but he put up a good show against the much faster plane.

Another feature of the show was the Enna Jettick blimp, commanded by Maj. Wadsworth. The blimp floated down over the yacht harbor and idled along in the slight breeze as the planes roared past.

E. M. [Matty] Laird, former Chicago bank clerk who became enthusiastic about flying by building model planes, then barnstormed the middle west and now builds famous racing ships, gave an excellent show of snap rolls and quick stunting in a Wasp powered Laird plane.

Betty Lund, most famous of all women stunt pilots, who is carrying on despite the recent death of her husband, Freddy Lund, in an air race accident, flew through an exhilarating series of stunts in her taper-winged Waco, Wright powered.

Then Bayles dived across the lake front, the supercharged Wasp motor in his Gee Bee racer roaring, in a fraction of the time it had taken most of the planes to make their appearance. He pulled up, climbed a couple of thousand feet, did a wing-over, and came diving back along the lake front.

Bayles' performance seemed a simple bit of fast flying to the crowds, but behind the performance lay the research and experimental work of hundreds of men to produce the new motor, which was installed in his plane on Friday, for the trip to Chicago.

With this motor he hopes to shatter officially the world speed record of 278 miles an hour for land planes, now held by France.

Does Tricks in Autogiro.

Jim Ray took up his autogiro for a series of novel stunts, which included making the windmill plane hover momentarily in the air, execute very steep climbs, turn abruptly, and land lightly after coming almost straight down.

Ray landed and Lieut. E. Verne Stewart of Dundee got into the front seat of the autogiro. They climbed to about 1,500 feet and Lieut. Stewart jumped, releasing a triangle-type parachute. He descended faster than Ray's autogiro, and lost their "slow race" by landing first, just inside the emergency landing area.

Then appeared seven Douglas observation planes, Wasp powered, of the aviation unit of the 33d division, Illinois National Guard, led by Lieut. Col. M. D. Mann. The squadron of fighting planes executed close formation flying, with cross-over turns and a snake dance. Then they turned toward the center of the lake and dived toward the water, their forward machine guns barking.

Then followed the introduction of the twenty famous flyers to the crowds over the public address system. This was conducted by Casey Jones and Maj. Lafeton Whitney on the speakers' stand, where the flyers were assembled.

During the entire show a shuttle service was operated by two Sikorsky amphibions between the ramp near the speakers' stand and Chicago airport, where the famous flyers were picked up after they had finished their acts. The planes were piloted by Art Caperton and Capt. Homer Berry. The efficiency with which the service was operated indicated that a shuttle service for air transport lines operating into Chicago might be evolved from the experiment.

Britten Gives Explanation.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Representative Britten of Chicago said tonight that the failure of army and navy planes to participate in the Chicago air show for unemployment relief was due to objections to the flying of service planes on Sunday.

"Both the services were eager to cooperate," said the congressman, "but the executive branch of the war department refused to let their aviators fly on Sunday because of the protests of church people." Mr. Britten tried to obtain army and navy planes for the show.

Maj. Schroeder Directs Air Show from Room in Hotel

MAJ. SCHROEDER.

The entire charity air show yesterday was directed from a southeast corner room on the twenty-third floor of the Stevens hotel. There Maj. R. W. Schroeder sat at a window overlooking Grant park and the lake, with a schedule of events in his hands and a telephone by his side.

Everything was planned to "go off on the head," in Maj. Schroeder's words, and almost everything did. At 1:59 p. m. there was to be an aerial bombardment and salute. After a minute or so the bombardment started popping, but there were no salutes—bombs that burst and released flags and things.

Maj. Schroeder was on the telephone in an instant shouting to his "ramp master," George Dunlap, who was in charge down at the water front.

"What happened to those fireworks? Put them over until the close of the show if they can't get started. And here's the right time—five minutes to two. Let's have everything on the head." It was explained that the fireworks operators had caused the slight delay.

From then on each new event began on the minute, at intervals of ten minutes. The parade of sportsmen pilots was a little slow in getting off the "stage" when their time was up, but the women pilots' review came on, anyway, with the tiny little ships darting under and around the straggling sportsmen.

Besides the telephone connection with the amphibian ramp at the water's edge, Maj. Schroeder was in connection with the Chicago airport, where the flyers in the show took off. All the "property men" at the lake front and at the airport, as well as the flyers, had synchronized their watches with Maj. Schroeder's.

The advantages of Grant park for such a demonstration, as pointed out by Maj. Schroeder, could easily be seen from the hotel room. The spectators had their backs to the sun and visibility was perfect. Had an accident occurred, the plane would have fallen into the lake, with no danger to the spectators and little to the pilot, who would have been rescued immediately by motor boat.

The "stage" was the water's edge from the National Guard armory at the foot of Randolph street to 22d street. Viewed from the Stevens, the blue water of the lake seemed to rise and lose its identity in the haze above, forming a back drop for the spectacle.

"It's amazing the way these shows work out," said Maj. Schroeder. "Until the last minute a lot of things are still uncertain. A new man on the job would throw up his hands in despair. But when the time comes for the show to start, it goes on, and there is not a hitch. These flyers are the most dependable people in the world."

ET CONSCIENCE GUIDE YOU ON AIR SHOW FUND

ens of thousands of Chicagoans yesday afternoon watched the first -if-you-like-it charity air show ere staged.

Although the air show was not going to be a pay-if-you-like-it affair, so great were the throngs that hiked for Grant park, on foot and in automobiles, that the collection points at the various entrances to the park were overwhelmed at times, and it was necessary to let in thousands regardless of whether they paid or not.

Besides those thousands who intended to pay but could not, a vastly greater number witnessed the show from buildings along Michigan avenue, from vantage points along the Illinois Central railway depression, and from their automobiles parked in a wide area around Grant park.

"Conscience Fund" Started.

Immediately after the close of the show a check for $105.50 for unemployment relief was received from Ernest J. Stevens, president of the Stevens hotel, representing the amount collected from spectators who saw the show from the hotel roof. The hotel charged 50 cents a ticket and sold 211 of them.

Last night J. Russell Forgan, chairman of the special benefits division of the joint emergency relief committee, made an appeal to the sense of fair play of the Chicagoans who saw the show but did not pay, to send what they think the show was worth to the unemployment relief fund.

"This appeal for a 'conscience fund' was made especially in view of the fact that the aviators and pilots donated their services in an effort to help the jobless and the believe that their work should receive the support of the spectators who enjoyed the spectacle.

Forgan Makes Appeal.

"We all saw one of the greatest shows ever staged," Forgan said. "It was undoubtedly the most colorful and diversified show of flying the Chicagoans have ever seen. I am sure every spectator feels the show was well worth the admission charge of 50 cents per person. And I am equally sure that those Chicagoans who did not pay will be glad to do so by sending their checks to The Tribune, which will hand them over to the relief fund.

"Everybody enjoyed the air show, which was staged for the benefit of Chicago's unemployed, at considerable cost in hundreds of pilots, airport attendants, police, and other persons. We feel that the spectators would like to show their appreciation for a good show well and pay for their entertainment of yesterday afternoon. None money will not be spent to pay expenses of the show, because all services were donations and every cent of receipts will help the unemployed.

Spectators who saw the show and who did not pay and who desire to help the unemployment relief are invited to mail their contributions to THE TRIBUNE, making checks payable to the Joint Emergency Relief fund.

TRAFFIC IN KNOT AS CROWD GOES TO AIR PAGEANT

Chicago surged to the loop and Grant park yesterday to witness the charity air show and as a result traffic in streets near the park was virtually at a standstill. Thousands of automobiles jammed the streets from early afternoon until long after the show was over.

Grant park was packed hours before the show started and disappointed motorists and pedestrians sought every vantage point to witness the spectacle. Crowds lined Michigan avenue from the bridge to Roosevelt road, the outer drives and the Navy pier. Buildings along Michigan avenue and others which afforded a view of the show were packed to overflowing.

The police found difficulty in coping with traffic. Seventy-five south park policemen and an equal number of city policemen, together with a detail of the Illinois National Guard, were powerless at times to keep the interminable lines of automobiles in motion.

Approaches to the loop from all directions were congested hours before the show. Thousands of persons unable to reach the park left their automobiles in the loop streets and proceeded on foot. Wabash avenue, State street, Dearborn and Clark streets, from Van Buren to Lake street, were lined with parked cars.

KILLS SELF IN HOME.

E. E. Weismandel, 54 years old, 6717 Wentworth avenue, shot himself in the head yesterday as he lay in bed, inflicting a fatal wound. He was suffering from illness, police were told.

ROSENWALD FUND USES $2,500,000 IN WORK FOR YEAR

Point to Success of Big Housing Project.

More than $2,500,000 has been expended by the Julius Rosenwald fund this year, according to an announcement yesterday by Edwin R. Embree, president of the fund. This is the largest amount ever drawn from the fund in any one year.

MR. ROSENWALD. [Wallinger Photo.]

Mr. Embree pointed out that the largest part of the disbursements came from capital, and that in withdrawing it the desire of Mr. Rosenwald — that income and principal be used freely whenever opportunities for usefulness are recognized—had been followed.

Negro schools and colleges received $1,200,000 of the $3,500,000; pay clinics and studies in medical economics, $200,000; Negro health, $225,000; child study and general education, $225,000; library service, $150,000; social studies and attempts to improve public administration, $135,000.

Help Build 5,295 Schools.

The report stated that help had been given in the building of 5,295 schools for Negroes, all part of the public school system in the south, accommodating 650,000 children. Fellowships were given to 165 Negro teachers and students of promise, and twenty private colleges were helped with buildings, endowment or current expenses.

The interest of the management of the fund in housing as a means of social welfare promotion was discussed at length in the report. Mr. Rosenwald financed a large apartment building for Negroes in Chicago, which has been regarded as a success.

"During the next generation," Mr. Embree stated, "housing may be as important in national business as the automobile business was during the last thirty years. Huge sums are involved in the building and the resulting demand for furniture, plumbing, gas and electric appliances, heating and refrigeration.

Seen Cure for Business.

"Many of the basic industries would be set in motion and kept going if private capital and public funds cooperated in a vigorous campaign to clear out slums and erect decent living quarters for the great bulk of the population who are still housed archaically and in squalor.

"Disease and crime are in striking close relation to bad living conditions.

"Housing experiments, especially those in and near New York, indicate clearly that large scale projects involve great savings in land and in central services such as heat and refrigeration."

It was added that mass production principles which have been successful in other industry can be applied to housing, but that there is need for tax exemptions and for an extension of the power to condemn land for large projects.

Neighbors Quarrel; One Kills Other with Gun

John Gresko, 42 years old, 1423 Sherman street, Hammond, was shot and killed yesterday by his next door neighbor, Joe Horvath, 50 years old. The men had had trouble before. Gresko returned home yesterday morning and threw a stone through Horvath's window, whereupon the latter shot him, police were told.

ASKS WITNESSES BE RECORDED IN TRAFFIC ARRESTS

Sonsteby Seeks to Speed Trials.

BY HAL FOUST.

Chief Justice Sonsteby of the Municipal court addressed a letter yesterday to Police Commissioner Allman requesting that policemen, in making arrests for violations of the motor vehicle laws, take the names of civilian witnesses who can corroborate the testimony of the policemen when the case is brought to trial.

JUDGE SONSTEBY. [Moffett Photo.]

Jurors, it has been found, place more weight on the testimony of civilians uninterested in the outcome of a trial than upon the statements of policemen. This public attitude toward the official agents of the executive branch of the government has developed under prohibition, which has carried the badge of authority on missions lacking the sympathy of the citizenry.

Speed Traps Cause Disregard.

Disrespect for police has likewise been nursed, according to some of the judges, by speed traps, shakedowns, and discourtesies from some of the constabulary.

"Will you kindly issue an order to members of your command," reads the chief justice's letter, "directing them when making arrests for violation of the motor vehicle laws to secure the name and address of at least one witness, either automobile driver or pedestrian. The name and address of the witnesses should be written on the copy of the ticket which is returned to the Municipal court.

Not at First Hearing.

"It will not be necessary for such witnesses to appear or be summoned to the first hearing.

"I feel quite sure this additional burden placed upon your officers will bring extremely good results, and help to bring home to the citizens generally the duty devolving upon them to assist the police in enforcing the laws."

Bandits Cart Away Cafe Safe in Stolen Taxicab

When George Skrandos, owner of a restaurant at 1901 South Michigan avenue, told three bandits early yesterday that he was unable to open his safe, they picked up the 250 pound strong box, carried it to a taxicab which they had stolen a short time before, and drove away. The safe contained $400, Skrandos told police. Charles Hemak, the cab driver, was bound and thrown into the rear seat of his cab.

Calls Legion Party Beer Case a Mistake.

Federal prosecution of Boleslaw Lidlkewicz, the home brew making janitor, and Charles L. Wiley, the business man tenant who drank some of the beer, is a mistake and not in accord with announced government policies, according to a statement by United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis yesterday.

Lidlkewicz is now serving a 60 day sentence in the county jail and Wiley is awaiting action on the charge of conspiracy put against him when he said Lidlkewicz was not making beer to sell, but was brewing some for a meeting of American Legion members. The Crusaders have retained Attorney William C. Dunn to defend Wiley and Attorney Stephen A. Day has undertaken to do something in behalf of Lidlkewicz.

Hits Legion Resolution.

Senator Lewis said his attention was called to the prosecution through resolutions passed by the Cook county council of Legion posts criticizing Assistant United States District Attorney Walter Wiles as "a tool of Clarence True Wilson," because of the prosecutions.

"If what is said to me by Legion chiefs be correct, I am sure that Federal Judge Barnes was misinformed as to the facts and the United States district attorney was misled as to the law," said Senator Lewis.

"If the brew was made in the home and merely passed to a guest in the home and not made for the purpose of transportation or the business of sale and profit, there was no violation of any law.

Cites Official Statements.

"Let it be remembered that the director of prohibition at Washington has, a number of times in this year, set out public statements that the law did not call for the prosecution of those who in their own homes made their private brew with innocent object.

"Also he has stated, supporting his opinion with the opinion of the law officers, that the law never made a crime of that which merely affected the private act of each individual; if the matter of a drink in their homes of their own making, with no object of barter and sale, could be called a crime.

"Only lately Judge Bourquin of the Montana U. S. court (but while sitting in another state) dismissed just such proceeding as we are describing.

Many Similar Victims in Jail.

"There are 456 persons in jails and penitentiaries for assumed violation of law in making home brew in some like manner in their own homes for themselves, their families, or neighbors, but our government has announced its intention to have all these released. Lately the members of the Wickersham commission called attention to that such imprisonments had followed the revolt against the prohibition act.

"In my own political campaigns in this state, in many speeches on the subject, I called attention that I, as senator during the creation of these prohibition laws, was constantly advised that I was wrong in assuming there would be prosecutions and persecutions that I charged would be.

"The statement was made in answer to me that there was nothing in the law, nor was there any policy of the law, to make the private brewing in private homes, as between the families, the subject of criminal prosecutions and the members of that family be made convicts and outlaws from society by the government, for merely that which was hospitality among the Christian people."

REJECT CULT REPORT OF 'THEISTIC' DEATH; WILL HOLD AUTOPSY

Oroville, Cal., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Unwilling to accept, "disobedience of God," as a legal cause for death, Butte county authorities tomorrow will hold an autopsy on Martin Jordan, 50, member of the Brother Isaiah colony near here, who died Friday.

Brother Isaiah, the leader, signed the man's death certificate and gave the cause as that "he disobeyed God." The members of the colony claim immortality, and said Jordan had transgressed on the rules of the colony and of God as fixed by Brother Isaiah.

While authorities were inclined to believes the man's death was from natural causes, and an inquest is planned for later in the week.

SEEK GRAND JURY ACTION AGAINST BOMBERS TODAY

Speed Prosecution of 2 Caught in Act.

Grand jury action will be sought this morning against Joseph Siegel, 29 years old, 5406 Roosevelt road, and Roy Rapp, 37, of 332 North Avers avenue, dynamite bombers who were trapped early Saturday morning by a police squad as they placed a bundle of explosives on the roof of the Becker bakery at 1502 South St. Louis avenue. Siegel was shot in both ankles when he tried to flee.

On orders of State's Attorney Swanson, Siegel and Rapp will be arraigned in court and tried as speedily as possible. In this way, Mr. Swanson explained, he hoped to preclude any possibility of intimidation of witnesses.

Police said last night they believed that Siegel is a professional bomber, and that they would try to connect him with recent theater bombings and other outrages. Rapp, detectives declared, apparently was a hireling.

Battle Laundry Racketeers.

The Employers' association, which was instrumental in trapping the bombers, announced that steps had been taken to prevent the entry of racketeers.

A few years ago, according to Gordon L. Hostetter, executive head of the Employers' association, the laundry industry suffered at the hands of racketeers through the organization of wagon drivers, plant workers, and some owners of cleaning and dyeing plants.

"Recently we found that because of the depression a small part of the laundry industry was willing to resort to the old muscle methods to help their businesses," Mr. Hostetter said.

Tells of Complaints.

"Complaints were made to us and also to the Secret Six of the Association of Commerce.

"The secretaryship of the organization was vacant and there was danger of the racketeers getting control of that position. It was arranged that I was to become counselor for the laundry organization and John T. Toomey was to be appointed executive vice president, instead of secretary, and to work under my direction."

YOUTH LEAPS ON AUTO TO GREET "FRIEND"; IS SHOT

Julius Falker, 28 years old, 4422 Drexel boulevard, an automobile salesman, was driving his car slowly along Parnell avenue last night when, near 59th street, a man leaped on the step of it.

Believing the man was a robber, Falker fired a pistol at the stranger, who dropped to the ground. He had been struck on the left hand. Falker, holding his weapon ready, stopped and got out of the car. He was still waiting with the victim when Policeman White and Fogarty arrived from the Englewood station.

The wounded man, Chester Barcus, 23 years old, 5923 Parnell avenue, said that he believed Falker was a friend of his and he only intended to take a ride, not to commit a robbery. After his wound, a slight one, had been dressed, both men were taken to the police station for questioning.

Lost! 22 lbs. of FAT

Young Ohio Lady Sings Praises for New Battle Creek Treatment That Helps Stout Folks to Reduce Without Starvation Methods—Health Restored and Youthful Figure Regained.

It is nothing short of sensational the way formerly stout folks are reporting thrilling victories over excess weight, ugly fat, double chin, heavy arms and legs, large hips and bust—since the discovery of Bonkora.

You might call it a boon to humanity—for not only does the treatment seem to make the fat disappear with magic speed, but with it goes that dragged out feeling, upset stomach with indigestion and gas, headaches and other tortures that drive fat people frantic.

If you have tried one thing and another and are ready to give up in despair, simply follow the lead of this happy lady, Miss Hilda G. Lantzer, 156 Twenty-sixth St., Massillon, Ohio, who states:

"It took me about eleven days to reduce 14 pounds. Since then I lost 8 more pounds—or a total of 22 pounds, all in less than a month's time. Not only has Bonkora reduced my weight, but it has relieved me of gas on my stomach, constipation, bloating, tired feeling, headaches, bad breath, and bad taste in my mouth. I feel like a new person in every way. I am much pleased with Bonkora and recommend it to anyone who wants to reduce their weight."

You may not want to lose 22 pounds. But if you have excess fat you can lose it in the famous "3 easy stages," as shown in this picture. Each day for the next week, take a little Bonkora. No need to starve. Eat as much as you want. The big secret is selecting for each meal the proper combination of foods that do not clog the system and turn to fat. An almost endless choice of correct combinations of foods you probably like best furnished free.

Private Business Hurt by Federal Operations.

federal, and ask that my contract for the building or plant be canceled, or will I, on the other hand, find myself out of business and still obligated to fulfill this contract? If I am forced out of business, is congress ready to take care of me in the larger scope of following the socialistic theory in its entirety or am I to start anew in another line of business? Then what assurance have I that by a new and later whim of a foolhardy congress I will not again be legislated against and forced out of my new line?"

The answer of the farm board to such questions is in effect that if the private dealer is forced out of business by the competition of coöperative marketing associations operating under the agricultural marketing act he is merely out of luck, the victim of a system deliberately created by congress for the purpose of eliminating the middleman and giving the middleman's profits to the farmer.

Federal Objective Explained.

"The grain dealer, for example," said a member of the farm board, "buys grain for as little as possible. The coöperative grain marketing association, assisted by the government under the agricultural marketing act pays the farmer for his grain as much as possible without incurring a loss. Congress has set up a system of marketing operating on an entirely different principle from that of the old line dealer who buys for as little and sells for as much as he can. Through the grain coöperative the farmer gets not only the middleman's profits on sales but the middleman's profits on the cleaning, grading and processing of grain. It is possible that eventually few middlemen will be able to survive."

When he was a member of the farm board Charles C. Teague said that "a literal interpretation of the agricultural marketing act can be construed to mean the practical paralysis of independent marketing."

The old line dealers thought they were safe wehn President Hoover said to the congress that passed the agricultural marketing act which he signed, "We must not undermine initiative. No governmental agency should engage in buying and selling and price fixing of products, for such courses can lead only to bureaucracy and domination."

Points to Fixed Prices.

The government at that time, however, was well advanced on a program of price fixing, and the inclusion of farm products represented only one more step. Prof. Slichter of Harvard estimates that the prices of goods and services aggregating 13 billions of dollars, about one-seventh of the annual income of the American people, are now fixed by the government.

One farm board official visualizes the eventual absorption of the private dealers by the grain, cotton, live stock, fruit, poultry, dairy, and numerous other coöperative marketing associations organized with the financial aid of the government. The commission men, according to this vision, will shut up shop and hire out to the coöperatives, following the example of George S. Milnor, former East Alton, Ill., grain elevator operator who is now drawing a salary of $50,000 a year as general manager of the Farmers National Grain corporation and president of the Grain Stabilization corporation.

"Is not this class legislation?" demand the irate old line middlemen.

Contends Course Is Legal.

Yes, the farm board blandly admits. But perfectly legal, for the enactment of class legislation, while forbidden by the constitution to the states, is not forbidden to congress. Yes, admit the heads of farm organizations, but it was time for some class legislation for the benefit of the farmers, what with the tariff protection of industry, the subsidy to the merchant marine, government operation of shipping lines, the protection of labor in the limitation of immigration, and the aids to banking provided by the federal reserve act.

POISON VICTIM

MARIAN WALKER.

Seneca, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Dr. L. D. Howe, coroner of La Salle county, was seeking today to determine if rat poison had accidentally or otherwise caused the death of Marian Walker, 14 year old high school girl, and the illness of her two sisters, Marjorie, 21, and Caroline, 24.

Dr. William D. McNally, Chicago toxicologist, found a quantity of arsenic in the stomach of Marian, and Dr. Howe said the illness of the two sisters suggested symptoms of arsenic poisoning.

Coroner Howe said he has no evidence to present at the inquest tomorrow that would throw any light on the mystery which has all Senecs people wondering. The townsfolk are convinced the mother, Mrs. Mable Walker, was not responsible for the poisoning of the three girls unless in some accidental manner. The mother insists there was no rat poison in the house during the past year and that there never was any arsenic on the premises.

The officials are convinced that the girls became ill as a result of some peas eaten at two meals and that in some way the arsenic was put in the pan between meals. Those who had partaken of the peas at luncheon did not become sick, and at the evening meal the three girls who became sick were the only ones to eat of the peas, according to Dr. Howe.

RESUME BATTLE AGAINST STATE STREET WIDENING

Property Owners Reject Final City Offer.

Hearing of legal objections of property owners to the proposed widening of North State street between the river and Chicago avenue, will be resumed this morning, after a month's adjournment, before Judge Ross C. Hall.

B. F. LINDHEIMER.

The proceedings involve the protests of nearly forty owners who claim that the widening of the thoroughfare from 66 feet to 115 feet will cause loss rather than benefits to them. The city contends the widening is a necessary preliminary to the subway program, and asserts that the fight of the North State street litigants virtually destroys hope for early action in the digging of the subway.

City's Offer Rejected.

On the eve of today's hearing B. F. Lindheimer, president of the board of local improvements, declared that the city's final offer of damage settlement to the owners had been rejected. He said that the offer was "more than fair." According to Howard F. Bishop, attorney for most of the owners, the proffer is inadequate, being approximately $1,500,000 less than the owners deem just.

"The widening of State street is necessary preliminary to subway construction," said Mr. Lindheimer last night. "We have made satisfactory settlements with a large number of the land owners, but final action has been obstructed by a small group of property owners who have been holding out for settlements which the board believes are unreasonable.

"I feel that we have gone to the utmost possible lengths in making very liberal offers to these property holders—and the offer we have made is our final word. I will not pay one penny more. The onus of obstructing the forward movement of the city's great improvement plan must therefore fall upon this small group of owners."

Will Fight to Finish.

Mr. Lindheimer stated he would carry the fight to the Supreme court if necessary. The State street fight, he asserted, is of great importance because the improvement would give employment to perhaps 25,000 or 30,000 men in Chicago alone.

Attorney Bishop said that the owners felt that if the subway were built they would suffer irrepayable financial loss during construction through stopped rentals, remodeling and new foundation costs. Mr. Bishop predicted that the fight against the widening might require two years if carried through to highest courts. All the owners involved are north of the river.

The final offer of settlement described by Mr. Lindheimer was compiled by an independent advisory board consisting of Joseph J. Rice, Newton C. Farr, and Paul Steinbrecher.

THE CHARACTER OF THE PROHIBITION ISSUE.

Col. Ira L. Reeves, manager of the west central division of the Crusaders, the organization opposed to federal prohibition, has written to Amos W. W. Woodcock, chief of enforcement in Washington, asking for permission to examine the records of prosecution for the period following the American Legion convention in Detroit. The Legion passed a resolution against the Volstead act. Dr. Clarence True Wilson said that the expression was one of drunks whose conduct tarnished the organization.

If it should be regarded as a preposterous thought that the fanatical drys had been able to influence prosecution and make it bitter against the Legionnaires in retaliation, it is to be observed that the whole scheme under Volstead is preposterous. The conduct of government, in the protection of man-killing agents, in the subsidizing of winemaking, in the jailing of beermakers, in the savagery of sentences for offenses which are felonies only as fanaticism makes old customs crimes, is frequently incredible. In the present circumstances of enforcement of federal prohibition the question of Col. Reeves is a fair one. Although the special prosecution of service men would be preposterous, it is not for that reason unbelievable, and the possibility is not to be dismissed without inquiry.

Prohibition is the great political issue in the United States today. Candidates may try to avoid it, but it crowds in on them. It divides public opinion as no other issue does, and the weight of opinion against sumptuary law by constitutional amendment and federal statute grows month by month and is registered with increasing force in successive elections.

The effect of such manifest disapproval upon the prohibitionists is what may be expected when a repressive bigotry feels its power waning. In its struggles to reassert itself it becomes more bitter and more savage to the nonconformity it seeks to exterminate. That has always been the course of intolerance in the control of government. When it can make the laws it makes them more severe as the opposition grows. It provides excessive penalties, punishments out of reason, and it adds ferocity to prosecution. If it was not persecution in the beginning it tends to become persecution as the control slips. That has been true of all dominant and inconsiderate religious enthusiasms and it is true of prohibition. Resistance so enrages the enthusiasts that they lose their heads.

The conditions created by national prohibition, the constitutional questions involved, and the acts of the prohibitionists make this question the political issue in the United States.

THE AIR SHOW.

The pilots who took part in the stirring air show over Grant park yesterday have earned the gratitude of Chicago. All the pilots asked to participate did so. They provided an astonishing display of skill and virtuosity in the air and opened the eyes of many not only to the present achievements of aviation but to its future possibilities as well. In addition, their exhibition made possible a substantial contribution to the relief of suffering in Chicago this winter.

It is a matter for regret that the army flyers were not permitted to cooperate in the show. Chicagoans are permitted to pay taxes to the federal government, but the fact seems to have been overlooked by Assistant Secretary of War F. Trubee Davison. Army pilots were sent to New York for a charity show, but the same spirit of cooperation was not extended to Chicago. The slight is one which it is not easy to forget.

THE WATERWAY BY 1932.

The President has informed Senator Glenn that he, too, favors expediting the work on the Illinois waterway. The matter will be referred to the chief of army engineers. The present plans call for completion in the spring of 1933. Those in close touch with the situation believe that the waterway can be finished early in 1932; and, if that is done, employment will have been given this winter and next spring to many hundreds of men who otherwise might become public charges.

There are no engineering obstacles to speeding up the work. Congress has taken care of the financial obstacles. If the government intends to use the money in a way to create the maximum amount of employment in the period of the emergency the schedule will be revised.

The promise of earlier completion will in itself serve as a stimulant to industry and commerce. It will also hasten the moment when new factories and warehouses will be built along the waterway, and will stimulate the construction of barges, towboats, and railroad connections. There is nothing to be lost and much to be gained by speeding the work.

POLITICS IN THE COSTS.

A protest against school expenditures for power driven machinery used in the instruction of children under 16 years has been made by the Woman's City club. The question of safety aside, the women object to such diversion of school funds. Mrs. H. A. Tyler, chairman of the public schools committee, says that the school machinery workshops are not inspected by the department of labor and that possible injuries are not covered by the compensation act. That is one point. Another is that the costs are far in excess of the costs of any other equipment and that there is no educational value in such instruction for young children.

The recommendation of the woman's club is that the use of power driven machinery be discontinued except in courses for advanced training, that expensive new buildings be dispensed with and that more funds and more attention be given elementary education. These suggestions appear sound, but they run counter to the influences which have pyramided the costs in the system to the injury of its instructors and the cracking of its financial structure.

The schools have been exploited by percentage politicians and the percentages are in the purchases of equipment, land and building material. The spoils system cannot work on the teaching pay roll, but it can on the funds for material. That is the explanation for high costs in unneeded equipment and extravagant building.

SPREADING GOVERNMENT.

The Citizens' bureau of Milwaukee, a voluntary organization, has performed a public service in undertaking to chart the growth of governmental activities of that city. It has just completed the first step of its program, and announces that the city alone is performing approximately 300 separate functions. Of these, one-fifth have been added during the last sixteen years. The most recent additions are listed and the statement is submitted to the bureau without recommendation or opinion.

It is to be hoped that this report will be followed by further study of the governmental activities of the county and state which are operating for the benefit and at the expense of the citizen. Also that there will be an analysis of the costs and a study of the taxpayers' continued ability to pay them.

Milwaukee probably is no worse than any other city in the tendency always to expand its municipal operations. Likely it is better than most of them, for its citizens are politically minded in municipal affairs, and watch with eager concern the proceedings of its city authorities.

The Citizens' bureau finds no fault with the growing activities of its city's government. It is altogether probable that each added manifestation is commendable, if we are to adopt the principle that it is the proper function of every unit of government to extend a paternal hand over its citizens, keep them from harm and provide an increasing number with jobs. The survey is presented merely to help each separate government in the county and its citizens reach conclusions as to probable future trends in the growth of governmental activities.

In the wartime period from 1915 the tendency was toward the extension of public health safeguards, the additions including such duties as maintaining medical dispensaries, disease clinics, providing public field nurses, and the compulsory pasteurization of milk. This was followed by a period in which extensions of governmental functions were definitely associated with the growing influence of the automobile, and then a period, up to the present, of further broadening of the scope of health and welfare services and the development of airport facilities and public dock terminals. The latter, the Citizens' bureau submits, are purely business ventures with a decided public utility aspect.

It is axiomatic that no job holder ever lets go, and the general tendency is to expand these semi-social governmental offices more rapidly in the future than in the past. Jobs breed jobs, and the profession of public inspector is getting to be the largest single employment classification.

There are no fantastic manifestations among these additions to Milwaukee's public service. All have their virtues and may be justified. It is certain that each one would find so many defenders that it would prove harder to discontinue than it was to create it. This is a point that should be remembered when the city is urged by any group of special pleaders to add to the public activities, however worthy the cause.

The tendency everywhere to increase the operations of all governments out of all reason has to be fought eternally. The Citizens' bureau can find no more important or worthy subject for its study than to continue its fact finding survey of this trend. Its constant scrutiny will be a valuable service.

JACK FROST AND INDIAN SUMMER.

[Illinois State Journal, Springfield.]

About this time of the year we always remember the Jack Frost cartoon by McCutcheon, the CHICAGO TRIBUNE's gifted artist, with its figure of Jack Frost, the autumnal artist of nature, perched on a leaf stem, wearing a pointed hat and with palette in hand, putting those gorgeous fall colors on the leaves. No wonder that the sketch is reprinted annually by request of many.

His remarks beneath the cartoon are also noteworthy: "Gosh! I'll be terribly busy for the next few weeks. I've got billions and billions of these leaves to decorate—and every one has to be a work of art—worth putting in a scrapbook; and then when I get 'em all done and perfectly beautiful, folks will say 'How purty!' and then rake 'em up in a pile and burn 'em up. Gosh!"

Jack Frost's work is about done hereabouts. His handiwork has been duly admired and eulogized by the citizenry, the winds have already depopulated many of the trees, and the rakers are building bonfires with the leaves.

In fact, it is apparent to most of us that Indian summer is upon us. Not that there is any fixed time for this wonder of the fall season. Sometimes it comes earlier, sometimes later—but the signs are unmistakable. Late October is usually the time for it.

The Indians used to make much of this mild season just before the cold weather sets in. They enjoyed, as do we, this delightful period "just in between seasons" with its call back to higher temperatures, sunlight and exhilarating atmosphere—and all the while the glorious panorama of nature coloring, so beautiful for a few fleeting weeks.

Regardless of its scientific status—and in truth the meteorologists show little interest in the matter—we are happy in looking forward annually to Indian summer with its gracious enchantment as a perfect "breathing space" in the seasons, holding infinite pleasure for all of us, in anticipation and reality alike.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

THINKING UP THINGS to be thankful for as glad Thanksgiving day draws on apace, we are mighty thankful we are not a congressman. For if we were to slip quietly away across the River Styx, instead of the long and truly beautiful account of our noble accomplishments in life the papers would immediately say after announcing we were deceased: "This gives the Democratic majority in the house at least one more vote and makes the selection of a Democratic speaker practically certain. This death makes the lineup of the next congress as follows: Republicans, ——; Democrats, ——."

THE LEAGUE OF NOTIONS is going to meet next Friday (the 13th) again to consider what to do about getting Japan out of Manchuria. The League has been jinxed already in trying to make Japan behave, but meeting on Friday, the 13th—well, that settles it. The League will be hoodooed for life.

AUTUMN.

Treasured wealth is chaff today,
Yellow gold turns dull and gray.

Now is Autumn's beauty-fair,
Festive is the fragrant air.

River paths and forest ways
Are cathedral aisles of praise.

Goldenrod is still afire,
Sumach scarlet whets desire—

Sharp desire for more of life,
Soon to yield to North Wind's knife.

But why brood on things to come—
Joy! till Winter strikes me dumb.

With new hope my heart believes,
Faith is fair as Autumn leaves.

God is good and Nature smiles
As I tread these forest aisles.

Toil and care and pain, away!
This is Beauty's festal day.

DOWN IN NEW YORK the number of intoxicated drivers has been increasing year after year and more than doubled in four years. Two thousand four hundred and thirty-three drivers' licenses were revoked in 1928 for driving while intoxicated and 5,667 last year. We must admit that it does seem as though there should be some sort of amendment adopted to the constitution of the United States forbidding the sale of intoxicating likker. Write to your congressman today.

THE CONVENING of the Illinois state legislature at Springfield with the announced intention of laying another income tax and all sorts of other taxes on us is rather startling to the average voter. It has always been held that whatever wrongs existed the sovereign voter had only to write to his congressman about it. Today. And now if we're sore about things apparently we've got to write to our state representative about it. And how many of you know who your state representative is? Neither do we.

ADV.

Midway in the building
Is a shop where I sit
And smile and serve those Who appreciate it—
Of 1925 Linebooks
I have 'bout a score.
Of the original Linebook
I have even more!
These books I have treasured
Very long, very well—
Now who shall have them
Dites donc—R. H. L.

Richard Duffey Better Stick to Poetry.

Dear Dick: "Dumb" is a swell game (new to me) that any little group of straphangers can play. It's guaranteed to secure seats immediately. As you swing merrily on your personal strap, you shoot a word at your group. "Dumb" definitions are then in order. Here are some of last night's results. (We had the whole car to ourselves before we had gone two blocks.):

Measure: An army officer.
Gush: A Swedish name.
Appearance: A pair of fathers and mothers.
Alligator: Horizontal skyscraper transportation.
Grateful: A fruit for breakfast.

If this ISN'T funny you can credit it to Richard Duffey, Arney Freeman, and Mook Evans—sticklers for parlor games extraordinary.

MARRIAGE.

I know we loved each other when we walked
Those dream-sweet April nights beneath the moon;
When, hand clasped close in hand, we softly talked
Of wonderment our hearts would shelter soon,
Perennially golden and secure
From any change. But, oh, we could not see
That springtime's wonderment would not endure
As first it was, but alter blessedly.

We could not know, my dear, we could not guess
How years augment the miracle of love;
How summer brings a depth of tenderness
That is beyond our April's dreaming of!
How there would burn a richer flame some day
Than that which first threw glory on our way.

TREATMENT OF BRONCHIESTASIS.

DR. A. OCHSNER suggests the treatment of chronic bronchitis and frequently occurring attacks of bronchitis by means of iodized oil, swallowed into the bronchial tubes. He gives it as his opinion that in every case of chronic bronchitis, and in most cases in which colds on the chest recur many times yearly, there is a bronchiestasis; or, to put it differently, some parts of the bronchial tubes have been ballooned out to form bronchial sacs. These cases are not reached by ordinary medicines given in the ordinary way, whereas iodized oil, swallowed into the bronchial tubes, goes to the spot. If he is correct his list should include bronchial asthma. Hay fever and asthmas of that group belong in another picture.

His method of getting the oil into the bronchial tubes sounds simple enough, and experienced physicians will be able to carry it out safely. Others must beware. He anesthetizes the anterior pillar of the fauces, the fold which runs up and down just in front of the tonsils. This anterior pillar is the front door to the normal swallowing process. As food approaches this area an alarm is sent to headquarters. There follows, instantaneously and automatically, shutting down of the trapdoor which closes the air passages, opening of the tube which leads to the stomach, and an alert ready-to-push-back attitude at the gateway from the back of the mouth into the rear of the nose.

If everything works properly the food passes by the pillars and the tonsils, over the trap which closes the lung route, into the stomach route, and down it. When the anterior pillar region is anesthetized the gate to the air route remains open and the gate to the stomach fails to open. If, now, iodized oil is carefully poured into the back of the mouth it flows slowly and smoothly through the gateway to the air passages by the vocal cords, down the trachea, larynx, and bronchial tubes to the bronchiectic sacs.

Dr. Ochsner reports a series of cases of bronchiestasis and chronic bronchitis relieved of their symptoms by this treatment. Sometimes the oil is poured into the lungs only once. In other cases it is repeated. In some instances more than one repetition is required. In all, he has treated more than one hundred cases that way, and more than one-third have been relieved of all symptoms. If the bronchiestasis is more advanced and the number of ballooned sacs is quite large, others make use of surgery to collapse the affected part of the lung, in order that healing may be promoted.

This method is also applicable in lung abscesses and in some cases of tuberculosis. Iodized oil is introduced into the bronchial tubes and X-ray pictures are taken. These pictures are used as guides in the collapsing procedures.

TREATMENT OF OZENA.

A. M. writes: I seem to have that stubborn and humiliating disease of the nose called ozena. Can you offer any encouragement for a permanent cure? It has made me self-conscious and disinterested in things that I would let no barrier interfere with if I could have it cured.

REPLY.

Treatment of ozena is most unsatisfactory. I doubt if any nose specialist would promise much for any one of the several treatments. Deodorants are of considerable service.

IT IS POSSIBLE.

L. A. writes: Could a dye used in small quantity in coloring the hair cause a loss of vision in one eye? The condition is supposed to have come from the tonsils.

REPLY.

Yes, that is possible.

PROBABLY TORN LIGAMENT.

An anxious reader writes: Some time ago I slipped on the steps and evidently sprained my ankle, for it has been hurting ever since. It swells and pains, especially after walking. As my daily routine requires a great deal of walking, I am unable to rest during the day. I wonder if you could suggest some relief for it?

REPLY.

There is a fair chance that an X-ray would show a tip of bone broken away or cracked. There is a better chance that you have a torn ligament or tendon. If you must continue to use this foot as much as you do, support the ankle by wearing high shoes or having it strapped. Physiotherapy might help somewhat.

SEND A STAMPED ENVELOPE.

Mrs. J. F. E. writes: Kindly send me your free booklet on "Personal Hygiene for Women."

REPLY.

We think you ought to be willing to supply the stamped, addressed envelope. The notice you read specifies that the consumer pays the freight.

MENTAL TEST NEXT.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—[Friend of the People.]—I have taken the medical and physical examination for the civil service patrolman position and I would like to know if I have qualified and if I will be called for the mental examination. Can you tell me when the mental examination will be held? O. F. I.

If the writer participated in the complete medical and physical examination for patrolman he passed such examination and will be notified later when and where to appear for the mental test. The commission contemplates calling the mental as soon as possible after the physical examinations have been held. JAMES S. OSBORNE, Secretary, Civil Service Commission.

NEED PEDDLER'S LICENSE.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I maintain an office with living rooms in the rear where I prepare a hair tonic and other cosmetics. I display these products in my office show window and sell them from house to house canvass. Am I required to secure a license for my establishment? If so, what classification other than peddler's license? J. S.

You will need a peddler's license. Take your facts up with the city clerk, in the city hall.

OBLIGATION REMAINS.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Last March we were eleven dollars behind in our rent. After saying that she would let us stay indefinitely, the landlady suddenly changed her mind and said she wanted the money or the rooms that night. We moved, still owing the eleven dollars. 1. After having been asked to move, is the money still collectible? 2. Are we obliged to pay? M. H.

1. Yes.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 9, 1915.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—A mob composed of unpaid Villa soldiers, civilians, and women raided the German consulate in Chihuahua, Mex., burned the market house, and looted the headquarters of the confiscation agency, according to a delayed message received here from Corral, near Chihuahua. Chihuahua levied a forced loan of $100,000 Mexican gold on the merchants and wealthy residents in order to obtain money with which to pay the rioting troops, the message stated.

LONDON.—Criticism of the conduct of the war, a demand that the censorship be less strict, and a plea that Great Britain should show itself ready to accept any suggestion which would end the war were the outstanding features of the debate in the house of lords during the renewed questioning of the government. It was said 15,000,000 killed and maimed thus far is the result of the war.

NEW YORK.—The French line steamship Rochambeau, two days out of New York for Bordeaux, which reported by wireless that there was a fire in the coal bunkers, presumably is steaming for Halifax, the nearest port. Aboard the steamer are approximately 650 persons and a large cargo of war supplies, in luding 2,541 cases of cartridges and 136 bales of cotton.

BALKAN WAR NEWS.—Montenegrins report desperate fighting in the western section, near Herzegovina border, in which the Austrians were repulsed at Grahove. The Serbian government was established temporarily at Rashka. At Krasevac, Austro-Germans captured 3,500 Serbians, ten cannon, and large quantities of ammunition and supplies.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 9, 1901.

LEAVENWORTH, Kas.—Fifteen of the twenty-six desperate convicts who mutinied and escaped from the new United States penitentiary site yesterday are still at large and terrorizing the countryside. Of the others two are dead, two badly wounded, and the others back in captivity. The slaughter took place near Nortonville, Jefferson county, thirty miles from here, in a pitched battle between five convicts and a posse. The convicts were surrounded in a barn.

BUNKER HILL, Kas.—Mrs. Mary A. Bickerdyke, famous as a civil war army nurse, died at the age of 84. She saw her first battle at Fort Donelson and from that time on was continuously in the service. She was in charge of field hospitals at the siege of Vicksburg, at Lookout Mountain, Missionary Ridge, and Chattanooga, and accompanied Gen. Sherman on the march to Atlanta. At the final review of the 15th army corps Mrs. Bickerdyke rode with Sherman's staff through the streets of Washington. She was known in Grand Army of the Republic circles as "Mother Bickerdyke."

CHICAGO.—The latest attempt to repeal the midnight saloon closing ordinance came to a sudden end in the meeting of the council license committee. Ald. Kent's repeal resolution which provided for the abolishment of all winerooms was taken up and the section which provided for the repeal was stricken out. The wineroom proposition was referred to the subcommittee already considering the proposition.

PITTSBURGH.—The Carnegie Steel company has within the last week divided $1,000,000 worth of bonds among twenty-one old and faithful employés. The men received from $30,000 to $60,000 according to their salaries, each being given bonds enough to net them, at 5 per cent, an amount equal to their wages. More than half of Carnegie's partners in the company obtained their present large holdings through gifts of stock which became theirs as soon as the earnings of the stock had paid for it.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 9, 1881.

WASHINGTON.—It is probable that the trial of Guiteau will commence next Monday, Nov. 14. Attorney George Scoville, the assassin's counsel, asked for a further continuance, but Judge Cox said he could not grant the motion unless attorneys for the prosecution agreed. There is no likelihood that the prosecution will agree to such postponement. Guiteau grows more and more nervous as the day of the trial approaches.

CHICAGO.—The election of yesterday was the most remarkable one ever held in either the city or county because of the amazingly light vote that was polled and the supreme indifference which seemed to prevail on every hand. It resulted in the reëlection of Judge Gary to the Superior court bench; Capt. John Stevens for clerk of the Criminal court; John Mattocks and Fred Sommer, both Democrats, for county commissioners from the city districts; Donnersberger, Democrat, from the Cicero district; Klehm, Republican, from the Evanston district, and Weber, Republican, from the Lemont district.

WASHINGTON.—All the personal effects of the late President Garfield, including his books and pictures, were removed from the White House to the Baltimore and Potomac depot for transportation to Mentor. Special cars were placed at the disposal of Mrs. Garfield by the Pennsylvania Railroad company. The Alderney cow presented to the President was sent on the same train with the other goods.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. — The most prominent social event of the season was the marriage of Claiborne Hanna of Peoria, formerly of Bloomington, and Miss Louise Weldon, one of Bloomington's most admired and respected belles. The Rev. J. W. Dinsmore, Presbyterian, officiated.

IN DEFENSE OF CRANE COLLEGE.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The range of free public education has for years included the college. Our great state universities, tax supported, have "sold themselves" to the public. More recently, communities smaller than the state have established junior colleges, so that their boys and girls might prepare for professions or senior college or the better positions in business, without the expense of living away from home. The American people believe that junior colleges are a good investment to produce better citizens; they have established them by the hundreds.

Crane college is Chicago's investment in citizen making, and has proved its worth for twenty years. Here more than 3,000 students every semester press closer to their goal in education. Here every Chicagoan's son [yes, or daughter] has the chance to show the qualities of leadership, to measure himself with the best of his fellows, to equip himself with the finer tools of life.

Not 10 per cent of these ambitious students could afford to attend another college. Without Crane Junior college 2,500 young people, insufficiently trained, would be dumped on Chicago's industrial market each year. The thousands who have graduated from its two year course are contributing to the community more than they ever cost. It has never been proposed before, it is unthinkable now, that in Chicago such a college should close its doors. To maintain it involves no new expense; to drop it would bring a pitifully small saving in cash.

It asks, with the approval of superintendent, board, federations of teachers and of labor, business organizations, citizens' committees, and every Chicagoan who knows of its work, just one thing: To be given by the legislature the formal authority to carry on.

J. LEONARD HANCOCK,
Dean of the Faculty.

FROM A FACULTY MEMBER.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—If college education is something for which public money should not be spent, then you are quite right in advocating in your editorial of Nov. 4 that the city of Chicago should discontinue Crane Junior college. But the trend in this country has plainly been the other way. Not only do the majority of our states maintain universities which charge little or no tuition, but such cities as Akron, Toledo, Cincinnati, Detroit, and New York—to mention only a few—support municipal colleges or universities. Now this may all be wrong, but I am one of those who believe that it is one of the best possible uses of public funds.

College education is coming more and more to be necessary to those who hope to become leaders in any business or profession. A very important question, it seems to me, is: Are we going to largely close the doors of opportunity to those who are not fortunate enough to be born of parents who have money, or are we going to make some attempt to maintain the American ideal of equal opportunity for all?

To say that we should do the latter is not the same thing as to say that we should force a college or even a high school education on every one. It may well be that the modern emphasis on the responsibility of the school and the teacher for passing the pupil has resulted in a lowering of standards of scholarship in many of our American high schools; in a "soft" education; in failure to teach the pupil one of the most important things he should learn—a sense of responsibility. It may be that we might well, even in our high schools, deny attendance to those who cannot or will not attain a reasonable standard of accomplishment. But the opportunity to go to high school, and college as well, should depend upon ability and ambition, not upon the fortune of birth.

The present financial situation is in itself a very poor argument for abolishing Crane college. The city of Chicago is not in its present difficulties because it is carrying on educational activities which it cannot afford, but it is in those difficulties because of political graft and waste, the breakdown of an antiquated if not impossible system of taxation, and, to cap it all, the worst business depression in our history.

As a teacher at Crane college I know something of the ability and earnestness of many of its students, and of the sacrifices which they must make to continue their education. To many of them the tuition fees of Northwestern or Chicago would be absolutely prohibitive. The cost of Crane college is a very small part of the cost of the Chicago school system. Unless we straighten out the tax muddle it looks as though we should not be able to carry on our schools at all. Once we do this properly we must be well able to maintain Crane college. To abolish it at any time would be very unwise. To do so at this time of depression, when there is no room for its students in the business world, would be as unfortunate a backward step as the city of Chicago could take.

HENRY F. HUNT.

REQUEST FOR REMUNERATION.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Your strictures on democratic, and weakly based editorial against the continued maintenance of the Crane Junior college is a vicious and unfair blow to Chicago's ambitious youth. Your baseless statements probably were created to influence Chicago disinterested—the bachelors and spinsters who are merely interested in saving a few dollars at the expense of striving college students.

Because of the present plight of the board of education, through no fault whatsoever of the students of Crane college, we, innocent of all blame, should not suffer. The little revenue that the city would save if Crane college were abolished would be merely a drop in the bucket to the board, but a most terrible loss to the prestige of Chicago and to Crane college students.

Turning these three thousand young men and women into the streets would only complicate our present unemployment situation that exists in the city.

In behalf of the student body and faculty of the Crane Junior college I earnestly entreat your publication to remunerate its statements printed in your issue of Nov. 4, 1931.

MORTON C. KRAUSHAR.

MILLIONS FOR DOGS.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Why all the agitation about the late Mrs. McConnell's $2,500,000? If she had left it to a lot of distant relatives, the "thousands of babies" that Prof. Visscher is now wrought up about would not have received it. If she had left no will the members of her family would have gone to bat over it and the hungry children would have been benefited.

One could cite countless examples of the misplacing of millions going on all the time, but because Mrs. McConnell loved animals well enough to leave them her $2,500,000 much consternation is the result.

Prof. Visscher seems to forget that millionaires do not leave their fortunes to hungry people and sick babies—but to their families who don't need them—so why berate Mrs. McConnell? At least she got it out of the family.

DAISY M. ELWART.

AN OFFER.

Maywood, Ill., Nov. 5.—I have an Airedale dog, my companion for five years. I value him more than anything else I have, next to the human members of my family. I will deliver that dog at Prof. Visscher's laboratory free of charge to him to do what he chooses with it. Prof. Visscher will tell me why it is socially right for Mr. Morgan to spend three million dollars for a yacht and socially wrong for Mrs. McConnell to spend two and a half million dollars to keep lost dogs clean till their owners can find them.

PILOT AND WOMAN PASSENGER DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Craft Narrowly Misses Three Children.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Two persons, a pilot and a woman passenger, were instantly killed this afternoon when a plane crashed 200 feet to the earth, north of the Curtiss Wright airport on highway 41.

The dead are:

Oscar Dickenson, 35, an amateur pilot, who operated a restaurant at 140 North 15th street, where he also lived, and Miss Ethel Galligan, 27, of 80 North 15th street.

They had been in the air about 30 minutes and apparently were returning to the airport when the plane suddenly went into a dive and crashed on the farm of Rockey Sabotik, the nose of the plane completely burying itself in the soft earth.

'Chute Jumper May Die.

Racine, Wis., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—P. J. Landreman, 31, flying instructor at Air City, west of here, while seeking to set a new parachute jumping record, received injuries in his ninth jump today from which physicians said he might not recover.

Landreman was hurt as a result of trying to spare a foot in which a bone had been fractured in the third jump, in trying to avoid a natural landing as his foot, he landed on his back and was dragged 50 feet. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital unconscious, and indications were his back was broken.

Hurt in Third Landing.

The aviator made his first parachute jump two weeks ago with such success that he believed he could make a new record. He began his jumps at 7:30 this morning, proceeding without event until the third landing, when a bone in the foot was fractured. After that he tried to save the injured foot when he landed.

Landreman's plane was piloted by Sten Hanson, also a local aviator. At the American Legion air circus two weeks ago Landreman and Hanson collided in midair but landed without injury to either.

Boy, 15, Killed in Cave When Caught Under Slide

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Pinned beneath tons of earth which fell while he was exploring a cave near Grand View park this afternoon, Clyde L. Beck, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Beck, smothered to death. Three other youths also were in the cave but escaped.

GOOD WILL THEME MARKS SERVICES OF PEACE SUNDAY

Veterans Hear Plea for Arms Cut.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Yesterday, the Sunday before Armistice day, was observed as Peace Sunday in many Chicago churches. A number of leading pulpits were occupied by visiting preachers and religious leaders who are in the city to attend the 16th annual meeting and good will conference of the World Alliance for International Friendship which opens Tuesday in the Palmer house.

At St. James' Episcopal church, Cass and Huron streets, the Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, preaching before British and colonial war veterans, declared that war is inevitable unless a worldwide reduction of armaments is made.

"The thing you prepare for is what you will get," said the bishop to a congregation that filled the historic north side church. "The world is spending 5 billions yearly for armaments and America leads the list with $707,000,000. A man is a fool if he says America needs no army or navy, but armaments are relative. Vast sums could be saved and peace nearly realized with world armaments relatively reduced."

Pleads Economic Dependence.

The Rev. Charles Stelzle of New York, an officer of the alliance for world friendship, spoke at Central church, Orchestra hall, in the morning. He argued for America's interest in peace on the ground of our economic dependence on the rest of the world.

Last night Canon T. Guy Rogers of Birmingham, England, spoke before the Sunday Evening club, Orchestra hall. He pleaded for some method of international coöperation, such as the league of nations and world court.

Dr. John Haynes Holmes of New York was another speaker at the meeting. He asked all nations to banish hatred of other nations.

Canon Rogers also spoke yesterday morning at St. Luke's Episcopal church, Evanston. He told the Evanston congregation that America's unofficial participation in the league of nations looking toward a settlement in Manchuria disclosed a desire on the part of some of America's great statesmen to reconcile the two oriental countries.

Holds Church Is Peace Agency.

Dr. Harry, N. Holmes, another officer of the coming peace convention, spoke at the Englewood Methodist Episcopal church. He declared that peace no longer belongs to cranks and idealists, and that the churches are the most powerful agencies for creating international understanding and good will.

Other visiting preachers in churches were Dr. Linley V. Gordon of New York, who spoke at the New England Congregational church, and Dr. Henry A. Atkinson, general secretary of the Church Peace union, at the Presbyterian church of Austin.

CERMAK AND IGOE KEEP DEMOCRAT GOSSIPS BUSY

Eyes on Coming Race for Governorship.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Democratic politicians who have been worrying over two questions about their state campaign, it was learned yesterday, now believe they have definite information on both of those subjects.

Mayor Cermak, they said, will not be a candidate for governor. While some of his associates have been declaring him a "natural choice" for the state race and a sure winner if he should enter, even his biggest boosters for that honor say they are convinced now that he is not a candidate and will not become one.

The same leaders and many others are equally certain, they said, that Michael L. Igoe, minority leader of the Illinois house of representatives and a national committeeman, is a candidate right now and will not consent to withdraw under any conditions.

Both Deny Interviews.

Neither Mayor Cermak nor Mr. Igoe has consented to a formal interview as to his intentions. This is due to some extent to the agreement reached by the party chiefs on Democratic day at the state fair last August. This was that the state ticket will be drawn up by means of one or more conferences in which all the party groups of the state will be represented. These, it was forecast at that time, would start either this month or early in December.

Mr. Igoe was not present at the Springfield rally. He was in Europe, but some of his leading supporters were on the job with all the paraphernalia of a full grown campaign prepared for an "Igoe for governor" demonstration. They held back their fire after Mayor Cermak, immediately upon his arrival at the capital, urged that anything so decisive be postponed until the state organization in consultation with other chiefs had had a chance to line up a program.

Mr. Igoe, personally, was not a party to any Springfield agreement, but inasmuch as some of his principal backers took part in the informal deliberations and as he called on Mayor Cermak upon his return from Europe and indicated a pacific attitude, he has been withholding announcement of his candidacy. But the activities of his supporters have been increasing steadily.

Cermak Wants a Wet.

Mayor Cermak has taken the definite position that the head of the party's ticket next April must be a Chicago man and a wet. It was he who brought Judge Henry Horner to the front at the state fair.

But despite his frequently stated friendship for the probate judge the gossips have continued to say over and over again that the mayor has the bee in his own bonnet and will be the Cook county organization's candidate at the showdown.

But the accumulating evidences of the financial troubles into which the city has been plunged, increasing estimates as to the length of time required to solve its problems, have brought Mayor Cermak to the point of saying that even if he wanted to do it he could not quit his present position with only a start made on the job for which he was elected.

It is said the argument also has been made to him by those who believe he should remain at his present post under penalty of losing public confidence that it is a bigger thing to be World's fair mayor in Chicago than it is to be governor of Illinois.

Expect a Primary Battle.

However, the developments in the Democratic state situation are construed to mean that there will be a primary battle in which Cermak and Igoe will be on opposing sides. Just why this is so is a matter of "inside politics" having to do with the mayoralty fight. Regardless of what Igoe says, Cermak's friends insist that the national committeeman, "to put it mildly, did not help Cermak."

This history is taken as warrant for a forecast that, whether Igoe is a candidate or not, Mayor Cermak will back some one else from Cook county. The indications up to this time have been that this man will be Judge Horner.

And downstate has a candidate, Bruce Campbell of the East St. Louis district, whose friends say that if Cook county splits wide open a downstater can win.

SMITH REPUDIATES GROUPS BACKING HIM FOR PRESIDENT IN 1932

New York, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith announced today that he has no connection with, and has taken occasion to repudiate, two organizations, one here and one in Philadelphia, which are sending out circulars and stamps to promote a Smith candidacy for the presidency in 1932.

The New York organization styles itself "Smith Stickers of America," and lists its address at 489 Fifth avenue.

Mr. Smith announced he has sent a letter to the organization, objecting to the use of his name and his photograph, and threatening to take legal action unless the practice is stopped.

The organization's name is not listed on the directory board at 489 Fifth avenue, but it has desk space in a suite on the fourth floor.

The other organization is listed as headed by Miles William Lederer, editor of Plain Facts, 1321 Arch street, Philadelphia, with subscription $1 per year. This organization also is sending its appeal through the mails.

DELUGE KEEPS PANAMA CANAL IN GRIP OF FLOOD

Traffic Still Tied Up; Open Lake's Gates.

BY GERALD MARTIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Nov. 8.—All the mechanical marvels that have made the Panama canal the outstanding engineering feat of the age were helpless today in the face of torrential rains which again halted canal traffic and forced officials to remain at their posts without sleep for over 48 hours to battle the flood.

At midnight ten of the twelve Gatun lake spillway gates were open. At noon today the other two were flung wide. Locks and culverts were also opened at Miraflores. Water flowed towards the ocean at the rate of 170,000 cubic feet per second, but it was coming in faster, averaging 250,000 cubic feet per second from the Chagres river and its tributaries in addition to the rainfall.

Sweeps All Before It.

Along the Chagres river which feeds the lake and supplies the water to float the ships in the transit locks, the water rose to 190 feet at Indio station. The river, carrying everything before it, rushes madly towards the lake, averaging four knots.

Twelve vessels are held up on the Atlantic side of the canal and five on the Pacific side. Four of the Atlantic ships have passed into Gatun lake to await permission to complete their passage, but the liners, Santaines and Orazio, which spent yesterday in the center of the canal, completed their canal trips when authorities temporarily stopped the spilling of the locks and culverts and enabled them to pass through. There is a strong possibility the canal will be closed for transit tomorrow.

R. Z. Kirkpatrick, chief of surveys in charge of meteorology and hydrography, a native of Macomb, Ill., is directing the struggle against the flood.

Heavy Pressure on Locks.

"Yesterday's flood was duplicated today," he said. "We are fighting hard to lower the water in Gatun lake. We have reinforced the bridges, but when Gatun lake with its 107 square miles rises two feet the pressure on banks and locks is enormous.

"Heretofore, the opening of the twelve gates of the Gatun spillways has been dangerous, as Colon and Cristobal are below, situated bu a bare foot above sea level. These two cities might have been washed away, However, the dike was reinforced today which enabled us to release the maximum water. A leak there yesterday, or today might have been serious for the cities on the Atlantic side."

TAKES OWN LIFE WITH GAS.

William Smith, 50 years old, 2139 Cleveland avenue, a furniture finisher, committed suicide in his room yesterday by inhaling gas. He left a note which said he was out of funds and despondent.

—says this business man

"Of course I'm tired of hard work and want a little fun for a change. But I'm not fooling myself when I call this vacation a business investment.

"This has been a pretty strenuous year and I have to get in tip-top shape for the months ahead."

More here to enjoy

This man knows the health value and the business value of change and relaxation. But he isn't forgetting what winter golf on championship courses will do for next summer's scores ... nor the healthy tan he will get in days of outdoor sports, basking on a sandy Pacific beach, climbing mile-high mountains, and riding and swimming at oases in the winter desert.

He knows Los Angeles has leaped to fifth place among United States cities, and would like to learn more about it. He also knows of its smart cafes and theaters and superb hotels, and that Hollywood and the movie stars are next door.

Then too, there are Pasadena, Long Beach, Santa Monica, Beverly Hills, Glendale, Pomona and other world-known resort cities, reached by palm-lined, orange-bordered boulevards. There is the foreign "color" of ancient Spanish Missions, Fiestas, and of Old Mexico herself just to the south, where racing, sports and gaiety bring thrills galore. Half-a-dozen vacations combined in one!

Follow experienced world travelers this winter. Come to Southern California for a glorious vacation. Advise anyone not to come seeking employment, lest he be disappointed, but for the tourist the attractions are unlimited.

Costs no more than at home

In this year 'round vacationland you escape the "peak prices" necessary in short-season resorts. In fact, costs while here need be no more than at home. We prove these statements in a remarkable new book which the coupon below brings you free.

It outlines, day by day, a winter (and also a summer) visit to Southern California, including nearly 100 interesting gravure photographs, map, information about routes, itemized daily cost figures, etc. ... perhaps the most complete vacation book ever published. Send the coupon for your free copy. Start planning now!

SCHOOL WISHES APPEAL FOR AID KEPT A SECRET

Seek Help in Battle to Meet Own Needs.

Cash contributions to the Hungry School Children's Fund will be received at the following Tribune offices: 1 South Dearborn street, 1101 East 63d street, and 4152 West Madison street.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

There is a school on the south side of Chicago, which for years past has been the center of community life in that district. Yesterday the principal of the school and officials of the Parent-Teacher association appealed to the Hungry School Children's fund of this newspaper for help, but begged that their plight not be made public.

"You see, we are afraid of the effect it will have on the entire community," the man who directs the school explained. "This is an area of small home owners and hard working, civic minded people. Community feeling is unusually strong, and up to the present time we have done everything we could to carry our needy families over this depression without outside aid. At last it seems to be getting away from us, and though we need assistance, we would almost rather forego it than allow it to become public.

School Well Known.

"General knowledge of this situation would have a deplorable reaction on our neighborhood. This school is large and well known, and always has maintained a high reputation. Admitting our need now, when we hope to be able to pull through eventually with the help of our constituents in the district, seems like confession of failure.

"So although we would like very much to receive sufficient help from the fund THE TRIBUNE readers have raised, to supplement the gifts we are receiving in our home district, we are only willing to accept it if it is given anonymously."

Forty Get Free Lunch.

About forty undernourished children are receiving free lunches each day at this school. The Parent-Teacher association reports that its membership has fallen off appreciably and although the remaining mothers have doubled their efforts, the net result still is short of the funds needed.

It is emphasized by the principal of the school that a dental clinic and a nurse are at the service of the children, and that examinations conducted have revealed that those suffering most from lack of proper food frequently are not the thinnest children. Starchy food such as beans, rice, and potatoes received from charity agencies have a tendency to keep some children actually overweight when their health is being seriously affected by lack of milk, meat, and other articles that go to make up a balanced diet, it is said.

Gifts Are Announced.

Yesterday's receipts for the Hungry School Children's fund were:

$50—J. Smith.

Previously acknowledged ..... 21,081.86
Grand total ..... $21,319.21

William and Charles Fitzsimmons of 1209 West 82d street heard from their mother about the school children who need food. They set about doing their bit to help the situation by staging a moving picture show in their basement with their own projection machine. Five cents was the admission. The room was filled with youngsters from the neighborhood, and $3.25 was realized for the fund.

Mrs. Charles Karsch has requested that acknowledgment be made of the coöperation of Mrs. Sol Brounstein and the Sovereign hotel in the bridge benefit for the fund last week, which netted $31.50. Mrs. Brounstein assisted with the arrangements and the hotel donated the use of the room in which the affair was held.

Donations may be directed to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, at Tribune Tower, accompanied by the coupon appearing herewith.

Gunwoman Helps Rob 6 Victims; One Disrobed

A gunwoman and two male companions held up a card game yesterday, robbed the players of $48, and forced one of them to disrobe and surrender his suit, which struck the fancy of one of the bandits. The game was in the rear of the grocery of Casimir Pustalnik, 1320 Wicker place. The grocer, his wife, who lost a fur coat, and four other men were held up. Frank Swinsky, 1446 Evergreen avenue, was the one who lost his suit.

FIND 14 OF EACH 100 PUPILS LACK PROPER HOUSING

Of every 100 children in Chicago public schools, fourteen lack either regular and adequate seating facilities or housing, according to a survey by Don C. Rogers, director of building survey. There is a total enrollment of 485,515 pupils. Of this number, according to his report, 67,506 are improperly housed.

The overcrowding is greater in the junior and senior high schools, the report shows, than in the elementary schools. The seat shortage in the high schools totals 40,320, as compared with 27,186 in the elementary schools. This situation is ascribed to a 31 per cent increase in high school attendance during the last ten years as compared with a 5 per cent increase in the elementary schools.

The irregular accommodations take the form of portable buildings, rented quarters, half day sessions, extended day sessions and rotary shifts. An aggregate of 28,000 children are assigned to portable schools, 25,000 attend on half day schedules and approximately 14,000 are seated in inadequate basements, programmed at unusual hours or scheduled on rotary shifts. One senior high school has 1,200 students in an abandoned factory building.

INQUEST IN DEATH FROM FALL.

An inquest is to be held today into the death of John D. White, 7613 Coles avenue, a food inspector for the health department, who died at the County hospital Saturday of a fractured skull he sustained when he fell from a porch railing at 1500 West Division street.

To Relieve Sour Stomach, Colds, Headache, Gas on Stomach, Neuralgia, Rheumatism and that Tired, "Run-Down" Feeling

Ninety per cent of the people who suffer with these everyday aches and pains are victims of EXCESS ACIDITY. Scientists tell us that to keep healthy, vigorous and energetic, we must keep our bodies slightly more alkaline than acid.

Two serious mistakes are made by most of us in our daily diet which reduce the healthy alkaline balance and cause too much acid in our systems. Right here is where most of our troubles start.

FIRST—we eat too much of the rich, acid-producing food such as meat, fish, bread, eggs, cereals and pastry — and not enough of the alkaline type of foods which are composed mostly of the fruits and vegetables.

SECOND—we often over-eat, over-work, or over-indulge without sufficient exercise. This invariably decreases the alkaline content and increases the acidity of the body. Your resistance goes down—vitality is lowered—and you become a victim to stomach disorders, and the many other aches and pains, so common to us all.

Then you suffer with Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Gas on the Stomach, Headaches, Colds, Neuralgia and Rheumatic pains—you become tired-out, run down, dull and depressed. That's a pretty sure sign you have too much acid in your system. As the alkaline content of the body decreases, these ailments become more distressing. Unless the condition is corrected, unless the excess acid is neutralized—unless the normal alkaline balance is restored, serious and dangerous illness is likely to follow.

Now science has developed a remarkable Effervescent Alkaline Tablet that quickly corrects this excess acid condition. It is a new and better way . . . a safe, harmless way . . . to restore the alkaline balance in your system

This new Effervescent Alkaline tablet is called ALKA-SELTZER. When you drop one of these tablets into a glass of water, it makes a sparkling alkaline drink that neutralizes the excess acid and gives prompt relief from everyday aches and pains.

AT ALL DRUG STORES in TWO SIZES
Large Size $1.00 Small Size 25c

Try a drink of ALKA-SELTZER at any drug store soda fountain

Don't confuse this new Effervescent Alkaline tablet with the ordinary type of remedies. ALKA-SELTZER is a scientific product—a corrective alkaline drink that first relieves the pain and discomfort of everyday ailments and then removes the cause. There is nothing on the market like it—there is nothing equal to it. Each tablet contains the vital alkaline mineral salts your body needs to correct excess acidity. An ALKA-SELTZER tablet in a glass of water gives you a perfect anti-acid drink.

When troubled, with Sour Stomach, Acid Indigestion, Gas on the Stomach, Heartburn, or Flatulency, don't fail to try ALKA-SELTZER and see what amazing relief it gives.

If you are subject to Colds, Headaches, Neuralgia, Neuritis, or Rheumatic Pains, try ALKA-SELTZER and experience the most welcome relief you ever had.

When tired out and run-down from overwork or too strenuous exercise—take ALKA-SELTZER and see how wonderful it is to renew your vigor and banish that "tired feeling." After any over-indulgence in eating or drinking, late hours, rich food, or too much smoking, there is nothing equal to ALKA-SELTZER to overcome that "morning-after" feeling.

Every mother or father who wants to keep the family healthy should keep a package of ALKA-SELTZER in the home. Let every member of the family use it frequently. Remember, it is harmless—and it will keep down excess acid—keep up the alkaline balance so necessary to good health and build up strong resistance to everyday ills and infectious diseases.

CITY LAUNCHES WINTER DRIVE AGAINST SMOKE

27 Violators Summoned Before Inspector.

Twenty-seven persons and business concerns have been summoned to appear today before Frank A. Chambers, chief city smoke inspector, to explain violations of the city's smoke abatement ordinance. Their appearance marks the opening of Chambers' winter campaign against the emission of soot and smoke.

All of those summoned have violated the smoke ordinance for the first time. They will be given an opportunity to correct defective boiler operations that cause the smoke, but a second violation is committed suits will be started against them in the Municipal court.

Judge to Hear Suits Today.

The smoke abatement suits will be heard today by Judge John A. Sbarbaro. The defendants are R. G. Johannsen, official of the Premier laundry, 4501 Addison street, and Harry Silverstein and Max Finklestein, proprietors of a bakery at 4742-44 North Kedzie avenue.

Those summoned to appear before Mr. Chambers today are:

Mark Levy Brothers, 340 South Dearborn street.
Baird & Warner, 306 Sherman street.
Ralph I. Sherwin, 227 West Van Buren street.
Hydrox company, 5400 Lake Park avenue.
Thomas J. Flan [Pennsylvania railroad], roundhouse at 55th street and Stewart avenue.
M. Huber, Inc., violation by steam shovel.
J. A. Stevens, 3917 Calumet avenue.
Interstate Milk Service garage, 3711 Milwaukee avenue.
Coon-Schrager & Co., Inc., 228 South Wells street.
Frankenstein & Co., 327 South Wells street.
Atlas Brewing company, 2107 Blue Island avenue.
M. S. Rebenstein, 5549 North Damen avenue.
Commonwealth Edison company, 100th street and Calumet river.
Kraft Coal and Fueling company, Steamship Kraft.
E. F. Jones [Belt railroad], engine No. 100.
Balaban & Katz, 175 North State street.
C. F. Durland company, 512 West Kinzie street.
C. L. Willey company, 2558 South Damen avenue.
Frank Phillips, 1801 South Canal street.

Begins Chimney Study.

Mr. Chambers has started a study of the discharge from chimneys that he believes will lead to measures not only for eliminating smoke but also the soot and ash that discharges into the atmosphere from boiler fires.

For every ton of coal consumed 50 pounds of dirt, soot and ash is discharged, Mr. Chambers said. In some places washers have been attached to stacks in which the dirt is trapped.

Mark M. J. Mitchell Dead; Proofreader Many Years

Mark M. J. Mitchell, 70 years old, employed in THE TRIBUNE proofroom for many years, died last night in the home of his daughter at 7948 Essex avenue after a long illness. He had been a member of Chicago Typographical union for 45 years and had served as vice president of the organization.

DR. HARRY W. ADAMS, 48 years old, a dentist of La Salle, Ill., died yesterday in the home of his sister, Mrs. Aubrey Prosser, 1431 Maple avenue, Evanston. He had practiced dentistry in La Salle for 20 years.

S. A. CLARK, ARCHITECT AND SPORTSMAN, DIES SUDDENLY AT CLUB

New York, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Samuel Adams Clark, architect, who was widely known outside his profession for his interest in sports, particularly racing, died suddenly here today at the Brook club, of which he was a member. He had passed the night there, preparatory to meeting friends, after having left his home at 655 Park avenue.

Mr. Clark was in his fifty-seventh year. Some three weeks ago he became ill from a heart ailment, and for a time was unable to leave his home, being under care of two physicians. In the few days immediately before his death, however, he had said that he was feeling better and his friends and his wife, the former Gertrude Jerome Alexander, had believed that he was recovering.

ARGENTINA VOTES FOR PRESIDENT; POLICE ARE IDLE

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Argentina voted today in nation wide elections for president, members of congress and other officials designed to inaugurate the return of constitutional government.

With the state of siege lifted until midnight, the balloting was quiet and orderly nearly everywhere, and the massed troops and police had an idle day.

The presidential candidates were Gen. Augustin P. Justo, nominee of the Conservative coalition, and Lisandro de la Torre, representing the Liberal coalition. Half of the registered voters of Buenos Aires had voted before noon. Gen. Justo led in the first returns with 802 votes, against 192 for De la Torre.

RICHARD CRANE FUNERAL RITES TO BE WEDNESDAY

Funeral services for Richard T. Crane Jr., president of the Crane company, will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday in St. Chrysostrom's Episcopal church, 1416 Dearborn parkway. Burial will be in Graceland cemetery. Mr. Crane's death Saturday in the Doctors hospital in New York, of heart disease, occurred on his 58th birthday.

R. T. CRANE JR.

His body will be brought back to Chicago today. The widow, Mrs. Florence Higinbotham Crane, and other members of the family, are returning with it, and further arrangements for the funeral await their arrival. The funeral service will be conducted by the Rev. Norman Hutton, former rector of St. Chrystostrom's church, and an old friend of the Crane family.

FIND MAID DEAD AFTER PARTY; 4 ARE ARRESTED

Four men were arrested yesterday by the Evanston police in their investigation of the death of Mrs. Minnie Sprowell, 48 years old, a housemaid. She was found dead in the early morning hours in the doorway of the home of her employer, George Fairburn, 834 Reba place, Evanston. Her death is believed to have resulted from heart disease, aggravated by alcohol.

Ray Walker, 1655 Juneway terrace, and Harold Lindell, 2827 Hartley street, Evanston, were taken in custody, and admitted that Mrs. Sprowell spent Saturday night drinking with them. Walker said he placed her in the doorway where she was found. She was unconscious at the time, but he thought that was the result of the drinks she had had, he said.

Walker and Lindell told police that they had bought their liquor at 1006 Darrow street, Evanston. Michael Plociennik was arrested there as the keeper of the place, and Victor Yurow as an inmate. The raiders seized a gallon of alcohol.

John D. Purdy, President of Plumbing House, Dead

John D. Purdy Jr., 59 years old, 108 North Sheridan road, Highland Park, will be buried tomorrow in Rosehill cemetery, following services at 2:30 o'clock in the chapel there. Mr. Purdy was president of George D. Limbert & Co., 570 Fulton street, dealers in pipe and plumbing supplies. He died on Saturday at Passavant hospital of heart disease, following several months' illness. Three daughters, Mrs. W. W. Kimball of Hinsdale and Mrs. Miller Jordan and Mrs. Sherwood Johnston of Los Mochis, Mexico, and a son, John D. Purdy III., survive.

OFFERS TO TRADE STOLEN BONDS TO ESCAPE CELL

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—An offer to trade $600,000 in stolen securities for immunity has been made to prosecuting authorities here by Gus Winkler, Chicago hoodlum under indictment as one of the bandits who robbed the Lincoln National Bank and Trust company of $2,500,000 in bonds and other valuables last year.

Winkler, it is understood, claims an alibi, saying that he was in Buffalo on the day of the holdup. He also asserts that he does not possess the securities he offers to barter for immunity, but is able to procure them "in Chicago within a few hours." If the charges are not dropped against him the stolen papers may be destroyed, it has been threatened. Winkler is now out on high bond.

Max Towle, county prosecuting attorney, admitted tonight he had been approached with the Winkler proposition and had conferred in Chicago twice on the proposition. W. E. Barkley, director of the Lincoln bank, favors the deal, as do many persons who lost through the robbery, he said. Towle has not agreed yet, he said. On the other hand, Attorney General C. A. Sorenson announced that if substantial evidence exists against Winkler as a robber he would not permit the deal.

TWO GUN BANDIT CAPTURED AFTER RUNNING BATTLE

John de Ambrosia, 35 years old, 1118 Polk street, was captured after a running fight on the near west side early yesterday in which he and three policemen exchanged about thirty shots. De Ambrosia had two guns. He had committed five robberies in the preceding hour. Policemen John Healy, Edward Fitzgibbon, and Patrick Lally made the capture at Madison street and Ogden avenue.

Mary S. Ziehlke, Chicago Resident 73 Years, Dies

Mrs. Mary S. Ziehlke, 73 years old, 4230 Washington boulevard, a resident of Chicago all her life, died yesterday in her home of pneumonia. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lillian Van Zandt and Mrs. Charlotte Crebo. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock from the residence to St. Mel's church, 4300 Washington boulevard.

WILLIAM BAKER, VETERAN BROKER, IS DEAD AT 84

William Vincent Baker, veteran broker, died on Saturday in the home of his daughter, Ethel Markley Baker, 1228 Elmwood avenue, Evanston. Mr. Baker had been ill a week. He was 84 years old and had lived in Chicago for 61 years. Mr. Baker had made his home at the Ambassador hotel.

Mr. Baker was born in India where his father was stationed at Ranegunge as a colonel in the English army. He was educated in India, France, England, and Canada. He came to Chicago in 1870.

In 1877 Mr. Baker married Frances E. Markley, daughter of the late John A. Markley. He was engaged in the life insurance business until 1880 when he became a broker in commercial paper. In 1890 he became a member of the firm of A. O. Slaughter & Co., and later with Alfred L. Baker & Co.

Mr. Baker is survived by his daughter and two brothers, Arthur and Charles Baker. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon in the chapel at 4227 Cottage Grove avenue.

Chicago Plays Host to Authors of Varied Fame

H. G. Wells, Edna Ferber and Paul Morand.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

CHICAGO had some distinguished literary visitors last week, among them H. G. Wells, Edna Ferber, and Paul Morand. I managed to see all of them.

Mr. Wells greeted me with "It was at Rudolfin's we met. Swinnerton introduced us." I hadn't a notion that he would remember, although I hadn't forgot a moment of that luncheon party, two years ago in London, with Arnold Bennett across from me and Mr. Wells on one side, just as he was this time. On Saturday he made his first visit to Chicago in twenty-five years and he thought the city very impressive, he said.

Somehow we got to talking about T. S. Eliot, a modern poet, born in St. Louis, U. S. A., but gone very English and become an English citizen.

"Were there isn't an Englishman but who believes in the gold standard or the divine right of capital or the papal succession," he said with the pixy twinkle in the eye, "there will still be T. S. Eliot, the typical Englishman, upholding all of the good old English traditions. I cannot understand what he is writing about, but all of the boys in the college swear by him. I think that good writing is writing that is so clear and so easy so exactly what the author wants to say that even careless readers can't miss the meaning."

That naturally led us to James Joyce as the most obscure writer of all to date. "I was very enthusiastic about 'A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man,' and I wrote a very enthusiastic article about it," said Mr. Wells. "Joyce had an idea that there ought to be a great popular public for his latest book, 'Work in Progress,' which is still in process of writing, and he talked to me one day in Paris about helping it along. I told him to send me 'round some of the manuscript. But I couldn't make a thing out of it."

The best person who did the stream of consciousness type of writing in English was Dorothy Richardson.

"Dorothy used to go to school with my wife," Mr. Wells related. "She had the kind of mind that stored every trifle detail away like a filing cabinet. She came to stay with us once in the country. Twenty years later she described that stay in the minutest detail. There wasn't one thing wrong, as far as my wife and I could remember, except that she had said there was had on a red wool frock, and it was a red baize. Dorothy Richardson is an unappreciated genius. She is a safe person for the small intelligent public."

With Mr. Wells' enthusiasm, there probably will be a new edition of Dorothy Richardson, whose writing seemed so intricate at the time that it was first published but whose work would probably seem pellucid now, like "Ulysses."

Mr. Wells says this does not seem like a period of great creative literature in England. There are a great many young writers doing adequate and skillful work, but there has been no genius rise up lately. England is more interested in religion and economics now, he adds, than in creative art.

Mr. Wells may have been joking, but he sounded very serious when he said that he wanted very much to do a history of the Trinity. His latest book is concerned with the other subject which he says is intriguing to the English. The book—in two volumes—is called "Work, Wealth and Happiness of Mankind," and it is promised to an eager public for Nov. 23.

Mr. Wells was in Chicago only for a day and a half. Ill health has changed his plans for a longer visit here and in the United States.

Paul Morand, whose "New York" is the most popular one about an American city ever published in France, arrived in Chicago last Friday on his way home to France from a trip to South America. He probably is the most traveled author of our age, and every journey results in a popular volume either of short stories, reportage, or a novel. He once told an interviewer that he had been everywhere but to Polynesia and South America. His exploring has been narrowed down to Polynesia.

M. Morand is what you think of when you say "cosmopolite." He has all of the charm of the French, the heritage of an Englishman (he went to Oxford to school), and friendliness of manner which is more American than anything else. He was, despite all that, born in Russia. He is America's most enthusiastic acclaimer in France.

He is considering writing a book about Chicago, an idea which I discovered him was the best one that I had heard of for months. France really knows Chicago no more than it knows the Polynesia which M. Morand has yet to visit. New York it does know from the tales of returned travelers. But Chicago is in the midst of a wilderness for most Frenchmen. No one could translate that wilderness into the reality which is Chicago better than M. Morand.

And one of our own, Edna Ferber, returned to us last week for a few days. She did all of her early work on the south side of Chicago, Ill., and she feels for Chicago a real affection. Unlike most modern realists, she isn't ashamed of saying so. She left the middle west as a source of material in her latest book, "American Beauty," for the first time. She told us in her inimitable humor, the trials of writing about any place or any-

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams.

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight.")

I suppose that if the urge for something for nothing were extinguished life would become a very sane but dull affair. And so, in spite of my frequent dissertation on the [to me] obvious fact that every bridge hand cannot be bid a grand slam that plays a grand slam, I still get many letters, hand inclosed, saying "I made seven on this. How could I have bid it?"

The proper but rude answer is—"You tell me." Usually a notation could also be added—"Your opponent was just a little bit sleepy when you made seven."

Yesterday's play-a-problem was:

♠—10,2
♥—8,6,5,4
♦—A,K,Q,7

WEST
♠—9,7,6
♥—3
♦—10,7,6,5

EAST
♠—8,4
♥—K,Q,J,10,9,7
♦—J,9,8,4
♣—J

SOUTH [Dealer]
♠—A,K,Q,J,5,3
♥—A,2
♦—3
♣—A,K,5,2

It should have been bid six. South made seven as the hand was played. With a different [or rather an indifferent] South, six would have been the limit.

South opened with a game demand bid of three spades, holding nine probable tricks. West passed. North bid four diamonds. East passed. South then bid the small slam and all passed.

A response of four of a minor is never given to a game demand bid unless holding two to two and a half high card tricks. [Sometimes stated—"unless game in the minor or a slam seems probable."]. While a response of three in a major or minor [i. e., three diamonds over three clubs or three hearts over three diamonds, etc.] is given with a biddable suit and one high card trick and a response of four of a major [i. e., four hearts over three spades] is made on a similar suit and one and one-half high card tricks, it is better to bid three no trumps than four of a minor with these minimums.

So South thought North held at least A-Q of diamonds and the ♥ K, or, lacking the ♥ K, the ♦ A-K plus slight other strength.

West opened the singleton heart which South took with the A. South then proceeded to lead out all his trumps, watching the discards with an eagle eye. If West had unguarded his clubs South would have set up his club suit, discarded his losing heart on dummy's good diamonds, and that would have been that.

West, however, discarded two diamonds and a club on South's last three leads of spades. South now turned his attention to East. East had kept the ♥ K and Q and his four diamonds. Dummy held the four diamonds and two clubs.

South now led the ♣ A, on which East discarded the ♥ Q, but South's next lead of the ♣ K ruined him. If he throws the ♥ K, South's two spot is good, if East discards a diamond, dummy's diamonds all make. Either way—a little slam and one extra.

Do you think the big slam should have been bid?

Have you entered the Golden Card tournament? Two dollars a corner—money to be divided between two of our most urgently needed charities—and you are entered in this greatest of all tournaments. Two dollars is a lot of money for some things but not too much to give to properly nourish our school children and to carry our unemployed through the winter. The tournament is just something extra—a reward for doing what we want to do anyway. Get your table of four together now—send in the eight dollars for the four players.

Remember—the high pair at each table win something. Also take a tip from one who knows. If your entry is in before Nov. 12 you will get much better cards!

PLAY-A-PROBLEM: SOLITAIRE OR PARTNERS

Play this hand tonight at your bridge game. Keep a record of the bid and play in the spaces provided. Numbers in the bidding squares are for successive rounds. Check your results with tomorrow's answer.

To play "Solitaire": Record the bids you think each hand would make in the bidding squares. After the final declaration has been made start the play, leading from the hand at declarer's left. As you play each card, cross it off of the diagram and record it in the proper square, as S. 3, H. K., etc. In the last column indicate the hand which won the round and lead from that hand on the next round.

"THE UNKNOWN WARRIOR."

A play by Paul Raynal, adapted from the French by Cecil Lewis; given at the Selwyn theater Nov. 8 [matinée], 1931, with Maurice Browne as star, under the auspices of James B. Pond.

THE CAST.

The Soldier ..... Maurice Browne
The Father ..... Daniel Reed
The Betrothed ..... Rosalinde Fuller

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

MAURICE BROWNE, to whom the finger of history points proudly as the father and founder of the little theater movement, is acting in Chicago again, fifteen years after he closed his famous shrine in the Fine Arts building. He has brought "The Unknown Warrior," a play of war agonies from a French literary point of view, to the Selwyn theater for a series of matinées.

This piece, with only three characters, spins through three acts a story and a theme that might easily have been presented in one-act form. It is somber of mood, bitter of intent, and insincere in its emotional excesses. It is an art-y little play making grandiose gestures by candle light over the grimness of war and the sacrifice of youth upon its altars while old age looks on, admiring and applauding the spectacle of terror.

The appeal to sympathy becomes almost hysterical as "The Unknown Warrior" drags along its dreary, fantastic course. The theme is tortured until one begins to suspect that the author's intent was not drama but propaganda. The play is strongly marked with a fanatic zeal for rhetorical exaggeration.

Here is a story about a soldier on leave from the front who has come home for the girl he loves. When he returns to the trenches certain death awaits him as volunteer in a desperate foray behind the enemy's lines. But this situation was not enough for the author in developing his thesis of a martyred generation of youth. He proceeded to send his hero through a series of spiritual crucifixions at the hands of the stay-at-homes. The girl, after mating with her fiancé, breaks his heart with the confession that she doesn't love him. The father—an incredible effigy of old age selfishness—picks a nasty little quarrel with his son. The soldier starts back to his duty, robbed of everything but his own stark determination to do his bit for the world.

Certain passages in "The Unknown Warrior" are decidedly effective; for example, the soldier's toast to the souls of his dead comrades as a prelude to his night of love. Handkerchiefs came out to stanch some quiet tears among yesterday afternoon's audience as this scene was impressively acted by Mr. Browne and his admirable leading woman, Rosalinde Fuller.

But when the play ended I felt convinced of only these two things:

That florid French literary men should not write plays for little theaters.

That a soldier should never go home on leave without being prepared to spank his own father.

Mr. Browne's acting has greatly improved since the days of the Chicago Little theater. He gives a crisp and sound performance of a philosophic and disillusioned poilu. Miss Fuller is lovely and persuasive.

"Blossom Time," the operetta based on the life and melodies of Franz Shubert, began an engagement—its sixth or seventh in Chicago—at the Grand Opera house last night. The performance will be discussed tomorrow.

Robert Williams Is Star of "Platinum Blonde."

"PLATINUM BLONDE."

Produced by Columbia.
Directed by Frank Capra.
Presented at the Oriental theater.

THE CAST.

Gallagher ..... Loretta Young
Stew Smith ..... Robert Williams
Anne Schuyler ..... Jean Harlow
Mrs. Schuyler ..... Louise Closser Hale
Dexter Grayson ..... Reginald Owen
Bingy ..... Walter Catlett
Conroy ..... Edmund Breese
Smythe ..... Halliwell Hobbs
Dawson ..... Claude Allister

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

The finest thing about this picture is the acting of Robert Williams—and Robert Williams is dead!

Such a little while ago—there he was, working with a will and doing good work—for the small daughter at home. Now, a sad little girl will creep into the theaters to gaze at and listen to a father whom she can see and hear but will never really see or hear again. How strange—and wonderful—it all seems, doesn't it? Strange that life can depart so suddenly. Wonderful that modern invention can keep beloved forms and faces and voices with us always. . . .

Well, "Platinum Blonde" is about a newspaper reporter who marries an heiress and lives to wish that he hadn't. The late Mr. Williams played this particular reporter with color, finesse, and appeal. He's not the only male reporter in the picture, but he's the sole one permitted by the director or script to act with any decency. As a newspaper person who tries to behave like a human being and knows plenty of others who DO, I get tired and sick of seeing members of the press portrayed as vulgar and conscienceless boors. A protest! But let it lie. It will, anyway.

Mr. Williams has many whacking good scenes that he put over in great shape with an unfailing, whimsical humor that is delightful. Miss Harlow is entertaining as the crême de la crême-ic Miss Schuyler who adores sensations of one sort and another quite enough to marry for a new one. Loretta Young is nice as a certain loyal "Gallagher," and Walter Catlett is perfectly ghastly as the reporter sent to the Schuyler mansion for a story.

The film moves rapidly and holds your interest—though its pull would be slight were it not for the late Robert Williams.

"ONCE A LADY."

Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Guthrie McClintic.
Presented at the Chicago theater.

THE CAST.

Anna Keremsoff ..... Ruth Chatterton
Bennett Cloud ..... Ivor Novello
Faith Fenwick, the girl ..... Jill Esmond
The child ..... Suzanne Ransom
Jimmy Fenwick ..... Geoffrey Kerr
Lady Ellen ..... Doris Lloyd
Roger Fenwick ..... Herbert Bunston
Mrs. Fenwick ..... Gwendolyn Logan
Alice Fenwick ..... Stella Moore
Caroline Cryce ..... Edith Kingdon
Allen Corinth ..... Brumwell Fletcher
Miss Bleeker ..... Ethel Griffiths
Harry Cosden ..... Theodore von Eltz
Sir William Gresham ..... Claude King
Jane Vernon ..... Lillian Rich

Ruth Chatterton, suffering much, enduring bravely and trilling her "r's" as she feels the Russians would do, gives a half and half performance in this picture. For the first two or three—or four or five—reels, her work is calculated and wearisome—and you don't see why she had to be Russian, anyway. She could be exactly as well misunderstood as an American girl.

Toward the last—while she still inwardly and apparently ponders every move, like a chess player—she manages to inspire considerable sympathy.

The piece is impeded by a supporting cast that is, in the main, deadly. Hampered by their determination to talk with an English accent, they are automatic, frozen, fishy. One long "a," you feel, and their careers were ended. I don't know how many of these people may really be English, but, yes or no, they certainly take it hard. Especially wearing is Geoffrey Kerr, as the heroine's husband, who would a-house of commons-ing—or something of the kind—go. He finds that a Russian wife who moos at cows and delights in wading with her little girl, is a great, great hindrance to his career. No doubt she is, but it should have been hindered.

The most convincing of the supporting players is Jill Esmond, who plays the heroine's daughter grown up. She does some mighty nice work.

The story carries young Mrs. Fenwick from a stodgy and misunderstood life with her husband and his parents in England, to that of a cocotte in Paris. A philosophical cocotte whose emotions, like her hair, have been bleached. It becomes the lot of this lady with a past to insure a happy future for the daughter who does not know her.

Zoe Akin is responsible for the play from which "Once a Lady" was adapted. It may have been a good play. But the screen version sure does drag.

CHICAGO RELIEF FUND NOW EXCEEDING 5½ MILLIONS OF DOLLARS

Donations announced yesterday to the steadily climbing total of the emergency joint relief fund amounted to $32,500, bringing the mark to $5,375,802. Several large Chicago firms and their employés participated in pushing the amount of the pledges to date up to that figure.

Among the large gifts added were: $3,440, employés of the Sawyer Biscuit company; $1,000, Sawyer Biscuit company; $1,500, employés of Paul Schulze Biscuit company; $4,000, Paine, Webber & Co.; $1,293, employés of Peerless Confection company; $1,250, Williams Candy company; $1,000, Chicago Water Purifying company; $3,000, Reid-Murdock company; $1,200, Valentine-Seaver company; $1,000, Bremner Bros.; $5,000, Sprague, Warner & Co.; $5,000; E. J. Brach & Sons; $1,500, Walter Field & Co. and employés.

Fourteen separate gatherings to promote the fund are on the schedule of activities for today, each with a special speaker to explain the distress among the unemployed and urge contributions to the relief quota.

Herbert C. Lust is to tell the story before the Polish American Business Men's association at 8 o'clock tonight at 1221 North Ashland avenue. H. F. Grunden will be the speaker at the Wadsworth School P. T. A. gathering, 64th and University avenue, at 2:30 this afternoon. Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank is slated to address the Hyde Park Travel club at 2 o'clock at the Hotel Windermere ballroom. Victor A. Olander, labor official, will talk to the Irving Park Woman's club at the Presbyterian community house, Belle Plaine and Keeler avenue, at noon.

Other meetings and their speakers are: Chicago Firemen's post, American Legion, Sherman hotel at 8 o'clock, Charles A. Aspinwall; Austin Park lodge, I. O. O. F., 5711 West Chicago avenue, 9 o'clock, John J. Moran; Austin Woman's club, Austin Masonic temple, Fulton and Central avenues, 2:30 o'clock, Dr. W. A. Evans; Honor chapter, No. 600, Eastern Star, 1501 North Harding avenue, 7:30 o'clock, Anna G. Francis; Lake View post American Legion, Social Turner hall, Paulina and Belmont, 8:15 o'clock, George H. Weinmann.

Churches Offer Way to Give Away Clothes

Other Local Agencies Also Described.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

How can you get that suit of clothes, or that overcoat or cloak you planned to give away into the hands of some one who is both needy and worthy?

It is a fairly good garment—lots of good wear in it, and looks well—and you wish it could be deservingly worn. On first thought the plan of taking it to a principal distribution center presents itself.

But then other problems arise. The joint relief commission has wrestled with them. Various other central agencies have struggled to find answers. First, if such centers are advertised there will be streams of people, worthy and unworthy, flocking to them. The first problem then is that of discovering the sort of need represented by each applicant. What applicant is worthy and what one is a drifting mendicant for whom the city has no responsibility? Next follows the matter of fumigation and the sorting as to condition. Donated garments that arrive anonymously in central distributing points, leaders point out, frequently are very bad and have almost no value whatsoever.

It is now stated by members of the commission that the only satisfactory answer is that to be found in neighborhood organizations developed for the purpose. In fact, this method already has been begun in a number of sections of the city. It may be a neighborhood church, a club, or a community lodge around which the organization is created. For instance, yesterday afternoon a pastor of one of the well known churches related a story of being called by telephone by a railroad employing agent. The pastor was informed that a certain man living near his church who had been laid off by the railroad eighteen months ago had been recalled to service as a clerk. But before the man could return to his job he must have a presentable suit of clothes. The job was the "white collar" sort. The pastor was also advised that the train which would carry the man to his work would leave in about two hours.

In the church's "old clothes closet" were some old clothes, but they were very old and unsuited to the need. This pastor then told how badly he wished he had that suit of yours, perhaps, which you know still is a pretty good suit, but one you would gladly give if it could reach the right wearer. He called several people on the telephone who he thought might possess the right garments, but without result. Train time approached. Here was a man who had not appealed to the charities, but had striven to make his way. Hither and yon he and his wife had worked two, three, sometimes five hours a week. The average weekly income for the family had been about $2.50 for the long period.

Excess furniture and clothing had been sold, and finally only two weeks ago the man had sold his overcoat for $1.50. Then suddenly he was notified he could have his old job back! But he had only overalls to wear on a white collar job. With only a few minutes left before train time the pastor looked at his bank account, took the man in his car to a second hand clothes dealer and bought the needed suit, and then rushed to the station to put the man on his train for the suburb where again he resumed his clerkship in the yard office there.

That pastor stated that in a quiet way he has already begun asking his parishioners to search their clothes presses for good garments for distribution among people for whose worthiness he can vouch.

LONDON AMAZED AT $106,000 PAID FOR A GUTENBERG BIBLE

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—News that a private collector had purchased at auction for considerably more than $100,000 a paper copy of the prized Gutenberg Bible, of which only 41 copies are known to exist, astounded London's book world today.

The volume was understood to have reposed in the continental library for more than a century and to be in splendid condition. A paper edition of the Bible sold in New York a short time ago for $106,000 and a real vellum copy for $50,000.

The Gutenberg Bible was the first book produced from movable type and required five years to complete. It is praised for the beauty and strength of its paper, the luster of its ink, the boldness of its gothic type, and its superb binding.

HOW TO KEEP FROM GROWING OLD

Cooking School for North Side Open Tomorrow

Classes Will Be Held in Aragon Ballroom.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

After a week's session on the south side, attended by overflowing audiences, THE TRIBUNE School of Cookery will move to the north side this week, opening tomorrow afternoon in the Aragon ballroom, 1100 Lawrence avenue.

Although the program is to start at 1:45 o'clock, the experience of thousands of south side women who were turned away from last week's classes in the Trianon ballroom, 6201 Cottage Grove avenue, may serve as an object lesson to north siders.

Officials of the school stated last night that the doors would be opened not earlier than 12 o'clock, but they would be opened at any time after 12 o'clock that the size of the crowd warranted it. On the final day of the south side school, last Friday, the doors remained open less than 30 minutes before the 5,000 seats were taken.

Mrs. Ida M. Chitwood, nationally known cooking expert, will conduct the school in coöperation with Mary Meade, THE TRIBUNE home economics editor. Miss Meade will introduce Mrs. Chitwood and make an opening address daily to the north side women.

Classes will be held at 1:45 o'clock Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons as well as tomorrow. In addition to a lecture on cooking, illustrated by the preparation of dishes on the stage by Mrs. Chitwood, a new program of entertainment will be given daily, with Phil Maxwell as master of ceremonies.

On the opening day Frank Bennett, assisted by Cathryne Bennett at the piano, will lead the audience in community singing. Ruth Streeter, soprano, and Henry Phillips, tenor, will sing a duet. As a headliner for the afternoon, Irene Rich, screen actress, who is appearing at the R. K. O. Palace theater, will make a personal appearance.

Solos will be sung by Sherwood Thatcher, baritone, with Miriam Mims as accompanist. Both are from the Chicago Musical college. A novelty act will be given by the Kitchenette Sinkopators, a group of 14 girls directed by Clara Lawrence.

On succeeding days the program will be furnished by Barbara Schrappacasse of the Donna Parker Concert management and Florence Thomas of the Columbia School of Music.

More than 100 prizes, consisting of a large shopping bag filled with foodstuffs, kitchen goods and so on, will be given away daily. In addition, ten special prizes, large baskets of foodstuffs, will be given away daily.

On Friday the grand prizes will be distributed among those women who have attended one or more classes previously during the week. They will consist of labor saving household articles, including an electric refrigerator, a vacuum cleaner and other similar things.

The following week classes will be held for women of the west side, and on Nov. 23 and 24 the final classes will be held in the Coliseum, both afternoon and evening classes to be conducted. These final classes will be attended by women from all sections of the city.

Illinois State Journal Will Be 100 Yrs. Old; to Celebrate Tomorrow

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 8.—(AP)—The Illinois State Journal will observe its centennial next Tuesday.

Founded in 1831 as the Sangamon Journal and Simeon and Josiah Francis, emigrants from Connecticut, the newspaper flourished in pioneer Springfield and became the champion of Abraham Lincoln's political fortunes. It antedated the incorporation of Chicago and the wars that expelled the Indians from northern Illinois.

Abraham Lincoln settled in New Salem the year the Journal began publication, and he became a friend of the publishers. His first political platform was published in the Journal, and from that day until his death the newspaper was linked with his fortunes.

Simeon Francis became paymaster of the northwest army when Lincoln was elected President. Francis had emigrated to Portland, Ore., where he became editor of the Oregonian.

A centennial program will be held Tuesday in the Sangamon county courthouse that was the legislative hall where Lincoln made his famous address asserting that "the house divided against itself cannot stand."

Pershing and Lindbergh Ask Funds for Needy

New York, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Gen. John J. Pershing, retired, and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh ushered in this week's drive for unemployment relief with radio addresses over nation-wide hookups tonight, in which the former commander of the A. E. F. compared the unemployment crisis to a war emergency, calling upon all citizens to respond to the call for help as they would to a summons to defend the country against a peril from without.

Open Exhibition of Alson Clark Canvases Today

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

An exhibition of paintings by Alson S. Clark opens today in the O'Brien galleries. The paintings deal with old Mexico and are among the most beautiful we have seen in many a month. They are pink and white and blue. They are of buildings softened by time, kissed by wind and sun into a mellow blend of color that is rarely lovely. Below their surface tenderness is felt the taut hand of a perfected technique.

This is neither sentimental nor sloppy painting. It is a keen interpretation of an architecture which is old and romantic; it is painting such as we see too little of in these days of garbled meaning and misproportioned conceits.

Alson Clark is a native Chicagoan. He was born here some fifty years ago and his career as a painter began in the Art institute school. In his late teens he went to New York and entered the Chase School of Art. From there he went to Paris. He has always traveled widely and everywhere he has used his eyes and his brushes to good effect.

Mr. Clark is particularly interested in architecture. He delights in the feel of a column, the slant of a roof, the value of a tile. You can see it for yourself, easily, in his graceful little loggia picture, "The Mirador," where the light shimmers and breaks on the grand old pillars and dances from the chairs and balustrade. You can see it in his unusual use of roofs in his large and brilliant canvas "Roofs, Cuernavaca." The rich tiles are at your feet and beyond them rise a little town, a church and hills over which great soft white clouds roll, having dispersed their summer shower. It is a great picture.

So lovely are all of these Mexican canvases that it is nearly impossible to select a few for special notice, and yet possibly the most lovely, the warmest, richest, and most sympathetic are "The Town Fountain, Taxco," "Towards the Sea," "Cathedral Grounds, Cuernavaca," "The Inn, Taxco"—but the list grows too long. Better to include them all and say that here is an exhibit that no one should miss.

Forget Your Own Woe, Help Others, Is Doris' Advice to Complainer

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"My husband and I separated after years of suffering on my part. I was left on my own without position or friends. Fortunately, I have money of my own. But my husband saw to it that all my old associations were cut off, while he went out having a good time without me.

"I am attractive and have an almost perfect figure. I have no trouble attracting men, but it is their conduct that I find objectionable. I want to be treated like a woman with ideals—not subjected to the improper proposals which are more often my lot.

"Seriously, I am thinking of death as the way out. Am I a coward, or crazy? What does it matter, with life so depressing? Why should I be treated so cruelly? ANN W."

Both coward and crazy to think of self-destruction! And weak as dishwater to go down to defeat so easily. How can any sane person with eyes that can see the real suffering going on in the world today take her own temporarily thwarted affairs so tragically? Of course, it is depressing not to have life turn out just the way we want it. It's human, too, to feel that we've been cheated. And it is equally human to try to lay the entire blame on other shoulders. But it isn't big, it isn't brave and it isn't the sort of conduct that inspires a high order of respect.

How about getting out into the highways and byways patronised by the poor devils looking for food? How about stirring around employment bureaus and seeing what you see there? How about looking in on the haunts of underfed, undernourished children and seeing if there isn't something you could do with your spare time and money to lighten hearts that are a lot sadder than your own? There are countless ways of keeping the mind off self and of going about rebuilding a life that is temporarily disarranged.

If you're doing something worth while with your time you'll meet with the tributes to your finer self that you seek. A woman who has a husband somewhere in the background and who is obviously out to attract other men works at a disadvantage. There's no question about that. Her conduct has to be pretty exemplary to persuade men prejudiced in favor of the lighter form of companionship with women of no background.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Mrs. Samuel Sloan Auchincloss will arrive on the Ile de France and will be at the Drake for the winter.

Miss Louise B. Scott has returned from Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Benson Bennett Sloan gave a small dinner with dancing last night at their home for Miss Julia Livingston Delafield, debutante daughter of Mrs. Joseph L. Delafield.

Want to Look Young?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about the natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color, 15c, 30c, 60c.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: The Cuckoo Bird

LAST WEEK, WINNIE'S BOSS, MR. BIBBS, WAS FORCED TO PAY OFF HIS ELECTION BET BY PUSHING A PEA ALONG THE STREET WITH HIS NOSE, AND WEARING HIS COAT BACKWARDS. HIS ROUTE TOOK HIM PAST AN ASYLUM, WHERE TWO KEEPERS SAW HIM AND ARE HOLDING HIM ON SUSPICION. MEANWHILE, THE OFFICE IS WITHOUT A BOSS. . . .
WELL, I GIVE UP! I'VE CALLED UP EVERY PLACE I COULD THINK OF, BUT NO ONE HAS SEEN MR. BIBBS!! HE'S JUST DISAPPEARED!!
IT'S A MYSTERY TO ME!!
ALL I'M WORRIED ABOUT IS, NOW THAT THE BOSS IS MISSING WHO'S GONNA PAY US OUR SALARIES?
YES-YES, MR. BIBBS! THIS IS WINNIE! WHERE IN THE WORLD ARE YOU??
FOR GOODNESS SAKE, GET ME OUT OF HERE! THEY'VE GOT ME IN AN ASYLUM!!
IN AN ASYLUM!!?? WHY, MR. BIBBS— ARE YOU CRAZY!??
GUESS THEY KNOW HIM ALL RIGHT!!

Rear Neck Line Needs Attention, Says Antoinette

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

It seems as if there is always one more Waterloo to be conquered by us youth-chasing women. We get the silhouette remodeled pretty well and there's that chin line droop that has to have special attention. Or, we get the complexion all cleaned up and finegrained and we have to learn about a newer and more becoming makeup.

Or, if we get our eyes all bright and sparkling, then some one says: "But, there's an eye shadow—a blue, probably—you should try. "And so on and so on. Always that something else just around the corner to be tackled for better beauty sake.

And speaking of around the corner, which is what I started out to speak about, I've just been told by the woman an experimented on by a most capable Swedish masseuse of how the back of her neck was remodeled with the disappearance of that age-telling incurve frequently noted. Fat women haven't this complaint so much as the lean ones. But you know the indented line I mean, which gives rise to the accusation of being one of the stringy necked sisterhood.

Now, women, Heaven only knows, have been preached at and to sufficiently about the front chin and throat view. If they don't do the things they should to preserve the graceful front view youthfulness, it isn't because they don't know what they should do. But that rear neck section is the new Waterloo that lies before a good many who otherwise are quite snappy and young looking. It may be that back there you have the hollowed out neckline, or you may be carrying a good imitation of a politician's roll.

Anyway, if it isn't a swan-line your rear head and neck view shows, you should step up and enroll for the new corrective term. Now, it has been proved that what that back of the neck needs in exercise form is the resistance form of exercise. It isn't enough when you flop your head forward on your chest, tip it back as far as you can, turn it to the right and to the left. Do the movements, but when you do them, the great trick is to work the muscles against a resisting force. To do this most easily, grasp the chin with the thumb and the first two fingers and press on it while you do the popular neck twistings and turnings.

Parents Responsible When Child Adopts the Teasing Habit

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

"My little girl teases and teases me for things, and especially in front of people. It makes me so ashamed. I can't see why she acts so."

Of all the things that children do, teasing is the simplest to explain. And of all the things parents do, teasing is the simplest to avoid.

You may, if you have a teasing child, not like to be told it is your fault, but it is. Haven't you heard people say, "Well, Mary never teases me for things because she knows it won't do any good. But she teases her father because she knows he'll give in in the end, if she keeps it up long enough." Isn't that the whole thing in a nutshell?

If your child learns to know you mean what you say she won't resort to teasing, because she knows nothing will be gained by it. If she learns again and again and again by experience when she is little that your "No" is final, she won't get the teasing habit. It's simple to prevent it.

The more difficult thing is to try to cure it after you've been so unwise as to allow teasing to become a habit. Then you have to adopt the right course of action and stick to it consistently until it gradually seeps into your child's consciousness that you've changed your tactics, so she must change hers. And that takes time.

In a small way, I think teasing for things is one of the most unpleasant habits a child can have. It keeps a child in an unsettled and often unhappy state, and it is most wearing on his parents. Whereas if he is told "No," he knows where he stands, he can reconcile himself to the disappointment, and go on to something else.

Food Talk.

I am glad that this is national honey week because it gives me a chance to tell you something I became enthusiastic about when I went to the Wisconsin State fair. I had always thought there were just bees, but it seems there are as many kinds of them as there are of dogs—big ones and little ones and brown ones and striped ones, and all fully as busy as we hear about them being. A hive of them makes a rushing, mechanical sound as the bees mill around. At first they appear to be aimlessly dashing hither and yon, but as one watches the pattern of motion is quite regular.

Honey is light or dark according to the flower from which it is extracted. Clover honey, which we see most frequently, is light, while honey from the tiny, white buckwheat flower is dark brown. At the fair there was honey strained, granulated, and in the comb, molds of beeswax in plain forms and fruit shapes, candles, and drums; honey vinegar; honey candy; fruits preserved with honey, vegetables pickled in honey vinegar, and salad dressing.

The apparatus needed for bee keeping is diverse and mysterious. All sorts of things were on exhibit there, probably the most interesting being a modern and an old fashioned hive side by side. One was of glass, set in a white wooden frame, through which the bees were visible, and the other was a picturesque old bee skip made of straw rope, tied coil on coil with rattan.

Honey, you know, is our oldest sweet. When men in the Bible came back with the tidings that the Promised Land was flowing with milk and honey they said that because it was the only sweet known to them. But because of its tradition, I think we too often think of it only as a cooking thing to put on our griddle cakes or as a matter of fact it is excellent to cook with because of its flavor, making a perfectly unforgettable salad dressing—and, they tell me, it isn't fattening.

If you've been using nothing but clover honey, shop around a little and try some other kind. It all has a distinctive flavor, depending on its source. There are epicures who will have nothing but basswood honey, which has quite a pungent odor and taste.

My menus this week contain a few honey recipes. Try them and see if you don't like this sweetening for a change.

CHEESE BISCUITS.

1 tablespoon vinegar.
2½ cups flour.
½ teaspoon salt.
½ teaspoon soda.
1 tablespoon fat.
1-3 cup grated cheese.

Combine the milk, water, and vinegar. Sift the flour, then measure. Resift with other dry ingredients. Work in the fat and grated cheese. Add liquid and combine thoroughly. Turn onto a floured board. Roll to ¼ inch thickness. Bake on an ungreased baking sheet in a hot oven (about 400 Fahrenheit) about ten minutes.

The Marriage Racket

By VINA DELMAR

SYNOPSIS.

Jean Graves, while playing in vaudeville in Thrace, an upstate New York town, is showered with invitations by Bill Fitzroy, friend of her pianist, and Wallace Graham, a distant friend of Bill's. Wallace asks Irma to be his wife. Bill's proposal to her is of a different nature. Irma marries Wallace and leads a dull existence as his wife. Wallace's young daughter, Mildred, and his aunt live with them. A son is born to Irma. He becomes the center of her universe. Wallace and Irma go on a trip to Europe. Irma worries continually about the baby. They meet Russell Byrnes, a wealthy bachelor from New York who has a cabin on a boat sailing in two days, which Irma persuades him to sell to Wallace. Back in Thrace they find the baby well, but Mildred planning a hasty marriage with Scott Avery. Wallace appoints Irma to guard her. Mildred eludes her guard and elopes with Scott. Wallace and Irma quarrel. Irma decides her marriage is a flop and takes the baby to New York. She gets an engagement dancing in a night club where she meets Russell Byrnes. Irma becomes Russell's mistress because he can do for her everything Irma thinks he needs. Russell is called to Paris on business and Irma leaves her manager over there. Bill Fitzroy visits Paris and meets Irma.

INSTALLMENT XLIII.

THE THIRD CATEGORY.

"What's the matter, Irma?"

"Nothing, Bill, why?" She pressed her hands against the aching temples. Fury added to the hot agony and she wondered if Bill could hear the madness drum beats that sounded in her ears.

"You're so quiet."

"I've been thinking of Mildred."

"And I've been thinking of you."

"What have you been thinking? O, wait, here we are. Tell me upstairs."

They stepped into the little gilded elevator and flew skyward. It was a lovely feeling to be home. Jeanne took their hats and disappeared. Marie led Bill to the living room and left him. Irma went to swallow some aspirin and immediately felt better because she believed that shortly the pain would leave.

Neither the Lebeaus nor Russell had arrived. That was a blessing. She could lie for a while on the sofa listening to Bill's pleasant voice and giving her nerves a chance.

"Very Gloria Swanson, aren't you, darling?" he asked.

"How do you mean?"

"O, the setting and the bunch of help and your clothes and what not. Do you know what I was thinking?"

"No. What?"

"I was thinking of the talk we had long years ago. Remember the day I told you about the three kinds of women—mothers, wives, and mistresses? Well, do you realize that I've had a chance to see you take a shot at each?"

"How do you know I'm somebody's mistress?"

He waved a vague hand at the appointments of the room. "Darling, your dancing wasn't this good."

"Come clean, Bill. Wallace told you."

"He didn't, Irma. Your name has never passed between us since the night of the day you left Thrace."

"Darling, your dancing wasn't this good."

"Well, for the sake of future matters, Bill, I'd deny it to anybody but me. Yes, I'm in the third category now."

"I hope you're happy."

"I am."

"Then three cheers for the third category. Who's the lucky man?"

"Guess is."

"Don't fool yourself, Irma. You're worth having about, you know. Been a good egg. Who's the chap who's to be congratulated?"

"You'll meet him at luncheon. He'll be the American."

"Say, Irma, can I see the little boy?"

Irma rang for Marie. Haltingly she requested that monsieur be led to the nursery to see Martin. A rush of apologetic French answered her. Irma picked out enough words to understand that, in accordance with her wishes Martin had been taken away from her today, mademoiselle and he were lunching with the maid and his nurse at the home of Paul's parents.

"Oh hell, Bill. The master of the house is having luncheon with young Madame Lebeau. You'll see him another day."

"I hope so."

Irma wished that the child were home. Not since yesterday had she seen him. If he were in his nursery she could walk by and look at him. Certainly he couldn't catch grip from that distance.

When she stood up to greet Russell and the Lebeaus she wasn't so certain that she would be taking Martin anywhere. Mme. Lebeau receded with unpleasant rapidity as Irma walked toward her. There was a sickening sensation of drifting through space that accompanied the phenomena of Mme. Lebeau's motionless retreat. Irma felt light and giddy and curiously separated from her body. For a moment there was even a blessed respite from pain before it returned to tear brutally at her reason.

She heard herself presenting Bill. "A friend of mine from America, from Thrace," she added in case the name Fitzroy hadn't placed him in Russell's mind as the good samaritan who had sent her to New York.

Russell evidently knew who Bill was. She kept her aching mind on the conversation till certain that Russell was being unusually friendly, then she permitted it to drift back and give its undivided attention to the business of eating.

Once she was seated she felt better, but the odor of food was definitely disturbing. She decided as she salted a salad which she positively was not going to eat that as soon as the guests were gone she was going to bed and call a doctor. No point in being so sick and doing nothing about it. The pain was unbearable, she thought. Were the others feeling it so badly?

Evidently they were. She heard Mme. Lebeau telling Bill that nobody ever stayed in Paris in the summer except American business men who had titled French business men into staying also.

"Yes," Irma said, remembering suddenly that she couldn't remain silent throughout the meal, "it is terribly hot."

Her guests stared at her. Was her voice funny, she wondered.

"You have been day dreaming, Irma," Mme. Lebeau laughed. "It's no wonder since we mentioned the heat."

"Not really?" Irma laughed uncertainly. She paid more attention thereafter to the conversation, for Russell was eyeing her narrowly. He was doing what the others were not. He was seeing the pallor of her face and the deep furrow of pain between her eyes. No use in getting him all steamed up over an attack of neuralgia or some such thing. She'd have the doctor see him afternoon and be fine in the morning.

The ordeal of luncheon was over at last. Irma led her guests to the living room. She was aware that Russell's eyes never left her face as she ostensibly trying to present a topic that would keep conversation alive for a few. She wondered if she looked ill. At any rate not as ill as she felt, for tonight; if so, the others would be staring at her, too.

After an hour the Lebeaus took their departure with many extravagant expressions that no luncheon had ever before been so perfect. Irma was glad to see them leave. It would be possible to lie down now and there was a chance that Russell and Bill could find some topic of mutual interest which would leave her free to rest her mind.

"Have you a headache?" Russell asked as she stretched herself upon the divan.

"A slight one. I've taken some aspirin. If I lie here a bit I'll be all right."

"Would you like to nap?" Bill asked. "For heaven's sake, speak up, if you'd like me to beat it."

"No, indeed. I'll be all right."

It was nice to lie quietly, free of the troublesome burden of trying to make conversation. The men chatted easily together. Russell was making plans to take Bill on a tour of the bars and other places not included on the list of "Things of Interest in the Great French Capital."

"Let's see, you're going home Friday," Russell was saying. "Well, suppose—say, have you seen the Folies Bergere?"

"No."

"Well, tomorrow night you have dinner with me and we'll see the Folies and do Paris afterwards. How does that sound?"

"Swell if it's not putting you out."

"Not at all. I'd like to show you around."

Bill said something then. Irma was certain that he spoke, but there seemed no reason for the fussy, faraway voice he used. She turned on her side so that she could look at him. He was rushing away from her. His head and wheels that were rolling away with dizzying swiftness. She looked at Russell. He was smiling at her and growing smaller as his chair whisked him almost out of sight yet never reached the wall. They mustn't leave her. Especially Russell. She was only staying in Paris because he was there. If he weren't—but he mustn't go.

She heard some one calling him.

"What's the matter, Irma?"

Irma? Then it was she who had called.

"Don't go away."

"All right. We didn't know you were awake. We were going to leave you sleeping and slip out."

She laughed a little, although it hurt terribly to laugh. "Were you going to take the chairs with you?"

"The chairs?" The perplexity in his voice hurt her deeply. It wasn't like him to make her explain when her head hurt so. She heard him moving away from her and whispering, "Say, Fitzroy——"

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Family in Dire Need.

"My husband has been sick and unable to work for three years. We have seven children and we are all in need of clothing for the winter. The girls are 11, 9, 6, 3, and 1½ years old. The boys are 8 and 4. I wear size 36. I am expecting another baby in December, too, and will need clothing for it. Anything you can do for us will be greatly appreciated.

"MRS. M. G."

With a family of this size to think of and the additional worries of unemployment and illness, Mrs. M. G. is surely burdened. Providing the children with warm clothing for the winter will help immensely.

Mary Garden Sings Tonight to Aid Charity

BY THALIA.

THE audience at the Mary Garden-Barre Hill concert at Orchestra hall this evening to benefit the Country Home for Convalescent Children promises to be as festive a social gathering as there has been this autumn.

Guests of Mrs. William J. Chalmers, president of the board of the home and chairman of the benefit, and of Mr. Chalmers in their box, and at dinner preceding the concert, will be Mr. and Mrs John Alden Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Reynolds, and Col. Frank Knox.

Mrs Patrick A. Valentine, who has been an active member of the ticket selling committee, is to have her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, Mrs. Richardson Dunham, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garfield King as her box and dinner guests. Frederick T. Haskell's guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Nelson L. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Eldridge, and Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks.

Mrs. Waller Borden is giving her box to her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Adlai E. Stevenson, and has taken 4 main floor seats for herself and Miss Jeanne de Mare, James B. Waller, and Russell Tyson, who will be her guests. The Stevensons are to have as guests the James Weber Linns and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paepcke.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Field have one of the stage boxes, and their guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Cramer, Mrs. Sheldon Dick, and Charles Breasted, Prince and Princess Rostislav will have as guests at a dinner party at the Piccadilly and at the concert Prince Rostislav's brother, Prince Vasili, who is in Chicago for a few days' visit, Miss Frieda Foltz, and Mr. and Mrs. George Artamanoff.

Mrs. Chalmers is to give a tea tomorrow afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock at her apartment at 1100 Lake Shore drive for Mary Garden.

Arts Club Sends Word of Displays for This Season.

The Arts club sends along with its cards announcing the opening of its exhibition season this Friday afternoon with an exhibit of paintings by Bertha Morisot, Mary Cassatt, and Marie Laurencin, little prospectuses—or should it be, prospecti—of its season's activities. On Nov. 20 there's to be a reception for Mr. Fernand Leger, the "well known French artist whose paintings have at various times been exhibited at the club." He is to show his moving picture, "Le Ballet Mechanique," which was similarly shown in Paris to music by George Anthell. Among other exhibitions the Arts club expects to offer this winter will be Chinese sculpture from the collection of C. T. Loo, the professional members' exhibit, paintings by Defreene, Sterne, Picasso, Soutine, and Noguchi, with a further possibility of a lone portrait exhibition later in the season.

The New Orient society also plans an ambitious program for the winter. Henry Field, chairman of the executive committee, announces a meeting on the evening of Dec. 9 with Prof. Sir E. Denison Ross, British scholar and traveler, giving an illustrated address on "Persian Art," with special reference to the recent international exhibition in London. Later in December the society will be guests of the Oriental institute of the University of Chicago, and will be shown the new exhibits and collections. In March there is to be a joint meeting of the society with the American Oriental society.

An all day sale originally planned for Nov. 25 [in case you saw it in the Junior League Topics] is to be held by the Vocational Society for Shut-ins at Mrs. Waller Borden's residence on Wednesday, Nov. 18. Mrs. Borden is opening her house this afternoon, too, for Miss Jeanne de Mare's lecture on "The New Impulse in Modern Life."

Eleanor Mary Jerrems' Debut Tomorrow at the Blackstone.

Mrs. Donald Jerrems is presenting her daughter, Miss Eleanor Mary Jerrems, to society at a luncheon at the Blackstone hotel tomorrow. Miss Jerrems' debutante assistants include Florence Carr, Louise Clarke, Dorothy Dewes, Jane Fortune, Alice Mae Dickinson, Jane Valentine, Peggy Glidden, Polly Hart, Louise Neff, Gwendolyn Juergens, Eleanor McNally, and Catherine Molloy.

Percy B. Eckhart, vice president of the Art institute, is to preside at the dedication of the Fountain of the Tritons on Thursday evening in the McKinlock court of the Institute, and Walter S. Brewster is to make the speech of acceptance on behalf of the trustees.

Parents Will Be Actors and Children the Audience.

"The Emperor's New Clothes," a drama to be presented at the Lake Forest Country Day school on Friday evening and Saturday afternoon, is a reversal of the usual order of things. Instead of the school children giving the play and the parents going to see their youngsters perform, the fathers and mothers are to do the acting. The children are all excited about it, and they're having a hand in arranging for the performance. Under the direction of the school's art director, they're making the decorations and the costumes. Mrs. William R. Odell Jr., who is also in the play, is in charge of the costumes which are to be as effective and inexpensive as possible. Some of the older children are going to the Friday night performance, and the rest of the young ones who aren't yet allowed to stay up late will go to the matinee. Lawrence Williams is to be the emperor in the play and Mrs. Corson Ellis and Gilbert Rayner are also taking leading parts. Mrs. Richard Bentley is in charge of the ticket sale, and Frances Acher is to be the only child in the cast. Her mother, Mrs. Ernest Kilroe, and Mr. Kilroe are also members of the cast, as are the William E. Casselberrys, Miss Marouess Russell, Mr. Ellis, and Mrs. Phelps Kelley.

The women's committee for the charity ball [it doesn't seem to have any other name as yet] protested that Dec. 4 was too early, that they couldn't complete the arrangements in a month's time. So the time has been changed to Dec. 18. An elaborate program is planned. Howard Gillette and Mrs. Potter Palmer, chairmen of the men's and women's committee, respectively, are to meet the first part of this week to appoint other committees.

Miss Marjorie Boericke and W. M. Walker to Wed Nov. 28.

The marriage of Miss Marjorie Boericke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolphe Boericke of 524 Melrose street to William Murphy Walker Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy Walker of 5430 Sheridan road is to take place on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 28 at St. Peter's Episcopal church, with a reception following at the Belden-Stratford hotel. Miss Boericke's sister, Mrs. Gardner Stevens is to be the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids will include Miss Christy Mann, Miss Susan Wegener, Miss Emily Owen of Louisville, Ky., and Miss Virginia Carter of Jackson, Mich., the last two named having been roommates of the bride-to-be at school. Robert Walker is to come from Princeton, N. J., to be his brother's best man, and the ushers will include Gardner Stevens, Dwight Dean, Paul Ware, Williams Collins, Burr Robbins, and James Ebbert of Pittsburgh [Mr. Walker's roommate at Princeton].

body. Always there is some one—there are hundreds of some ones—who write or telephone or telegraph the author that they have been used as the hero or the heroine or that their house—as in "American Beauty"—has been misrepresented.

"The house in 'American Beauty' was built in 1930 on East 56th street, New York," said Miss Ferber, "in the mind of E. Ferber. Practically every show boat on the Mississippi sued me for misrepresentation. Since 'Cimarron' there are towns in Oklahoma where there is a reward for my apprehension, towns I never even heard of. I wish I could make people realize that I am a novelist and not a historian."

Miss Ferber is looking for a homestead anywhere outside New York, which gives you a mild idea of what it means to be a successful novelist and playwright in that town. She says she has looked at high buildings so long that she has an "edifice" complex.

Vera Mirova Dances as 2 Other Russians Play Accompaniment

BY HAZEL MOORE.

One of the pleasant observances of the dancing season is the annual recital of Vera Mirova. A full theater at the Playhouse yesterday afternoon attested to the popularity of this Russian dancer, who now calls Chicago her home.

Yesterday she chose two other Russians to assist her in her program, Leon Benditzky, expert at the piano, and Michel Krasnopolsky, who plays the bass violin. I must confess a complete ignorance as to how that instrument should sound as a solo instrument, therefore I must blame the instrument and not Mr. Krasnopolsky for my disinclination for the tone.

Mirova has long maintained the reputation of first oriental dancer of our city, with an unexcelled technic gained through years of study in the orient, particularly in Java and Burma. This position she still retains, but she is also an eager experimentalist of the dance, and as such she has added numerous novelties to her repertoire. If she does not reach in these the high standard of her oriental dances, at least she shows herself an individualist and occasionally offers something really interesting.

Two dances yesterday belonged in this category—"Comedia," to music by Wlickens, portraying the drama of the human soul. Here she used two masks, cleverly handled to change the mood, and her own expressive face as the real soul. This and "Jewish Wedding," a Hebrew urchin's imitations of the wedding as seen through a tipsy window naively hung on the back curtain, proved amusing, and displayed Mirova's gifts of facial expression.

Another study, "Opium," was in the mood of modern ugliness. Of the oriental dances, "Lakshmy," "Oriental," and "Arab" were all new.

U. of Illinois Students Will Get 5 Days' 'Thanksgiving'

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—University of Illinois students will enjoy a five day Thanksgiving holiday recess this year, according to a ruling made by the senate committee on the university calendar. The vacation period will start at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, Nov. 25, and classes will be resumed at 1 o'clock the following Monday afternoon, Nov. 30.

Smeterlin Plays Chopin Forcefully, but He Doesn't Bang on Piano

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Jan Smeterlin, pianist, and, it would seem, Chopin specialist, gave a recital yesterday afternoon before a large and extremely friendly audience. His program was in great part made up of Chopin's works, the "B Minor Sonata," a mazurka, and a quartet of études, preceded by Mozart's "Sonata in F" and followed by a group by Szymanowski, Albeniz, and Debussy.

His great service in this program was to show how Chopin can be made interesting without hanging the keys. Never was he within the slightest danger of punching through the piano tone. At the same time he had plenty of contrast, a highly expert pair of hands with which to demonstrate it, and no taste at all for becoming languishing. If he seldom scaled exciting peaks of execution or interpretation, he never permitted himself to drop into the commonplace, having quite evidently a mind and individuality of his own.

Aletta Tenold and Grace Welsh also appeared during the afternoon at the Civic theater. This pair of artists have been working together on music for two pianos, and the program was the result of their researches. It seems to be inevitable that every pair of duo pianists plays the Mozart "Sonata in D" on their first program, but beyond this there was little indulgence in the obvious, since they selected Guy Maier's arrangement of the Bach "Sicilienne," Rachmaninoff's "Second Suite," a work by Schumann, Ravel's arrangement of Debussy's "Festivals," and Ravel himself in the "Mother Goose Suite." They are able artists and their work together has been to good effect, and probably will be to better effect in the future in matters of shading and exactness of attack.

A new feminine musical organization, the Josefler String quartet, gave its first concert at the Cordon club last night, thereby beginning what looks like a highly promising artistic career. Its members are Anna Thelma Josefler, first violin; Eva Polskoff, second violin; Sara Shatz, viola, and Lillian Pringle, cello. They all play with a full, warm tone, and they are well on the way to acquire a flexible and efficient ensemble. The program began with the Mendelssohn Quartet, opus 44, No. 1, and ended with Borodin's second composition in that form, the middle section being given over to a Theme and Variations by Giovanni Bolzoni.

A long and elaborate program of Ukrainian folk dances and music was given at the Civic Opera house last night under the direction of Vasile Avramenko. It was a colorful affair. The rising curtain disclosed a chorus at the back of the stage and a large assembly of dancers in native costume, mostly young people, arranged in front. It needed only a more complete stage lighting to be a blaze of color.

The entertainment was in four parts or acts, of historical pageantry, ritual dances, solos, group dances, and mass dances. As much of it as time permitted the witnessing displayed numbers full of energy and speed, decorative in outline, and performed with much skill. The vocal soloists were Mme. S. Cymabilist and K. Orlik, and the chorus and orchestra were under the direction of L. Sorochynsky.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Hoover attended service in the Friends church this morning and this evening they had a few personal friends at "supper" according to their fashion for many years past.

Secretary Wilbur left today for a trip to Texas and Louisiana to make speeches.

Paris Puts Fur on New Kind of Bolero

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The germ of the bolero cannot die. Although the honest-to-goodness bolero is as extinct as the dodo, we still see its near relations. Paris makes the bolero waist length this year, puts sleeves in it, trims it with fur, and makes you a smart afternoon ensemble for late autumn days.

Mirande is the designer of just such an ensemble, shown in the sketch today. The waist length jacket fits snugly at the waist and has a vertical closing. It snaps on a fastener a little to the left of the center front. It is in a smooth, velvet surfaced woolen, in the new grayed brown. There are long tight sleeves.

At first glance this bolero jacket seems to have a cape, but if you will look at the sketch in the lower right hand corner you will see that these "are another pair of sleeves," as the French say. These extra sleeves are set in at the back on bias bands and are just below elbow length. They are stitched down from under the arms to the bottom of the sleeve.

There is a long roll collar in beaver, which stands up and is set in a triangular piece at the back. This comes down the front of the jacket, makes a border a few inches above the hem, and also edges the extra sleeves.

The skirt is also in the grayed brown woolen of the jacket and is cut in a circular piece just below the knees and gets its fullness by side gores.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

Contrast is of first importance in your new dresses, and a tweedlike woolen in rich brown tones was used for the original model, made up with plain pastel red woolen. A black diagonal woolen with a vivid shade of yellow in a sheer woolen is another smart suggestion. Black satin made up with white, eggshell, pale green, or blue are also lovely for this design.

The pattern, 3194, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 2¾ yards of 39 inch material, with 1¾ yards of 39 inch contrasting.

FARM and GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER.

BOY CORN CHAMPION.

Results in the competition among 76 Four H club boys have given the 1931 Kane county corn growing championship to a Hampshire, Ill., boy named Harold Struck, who grew 77.3 bushels of corn on an acre plot.

The yields measured from 22.7 bushels to the high figure obtained on the hybrid corn planted by the Hampshire youth. The second highest yield has been credited to Oakley Manser, also of Hampshire and also on a hybrid corn.

The corn improvement project in which the boys were competing was sponsored jointly by the Aurora chamber of commerce and the Kane county farm bureau. In a corn show held near Aurora last week, Carter Wilson of Sugar Grove was named the best boy corn judge in the county in a field of 50. The best single ear was exhibited by Donald Lingreen of Elgin, while 10 ear and bushel samples won first prizes for Lloyd Brown of Sugar Grove.

From this fall show the best exhibits will be saved for entry in junior corn classes of the international hay and grain show in conjunction with the international live stock exposition at the Chicago stock yards Nov. 28 to Dec. 5.

Infant Welfare Dance.

The Beverly Hills center of the Infant Welfare society is to have a luncheon meeting at the University club today to make plans for the "Bullyboo ball" the center is sponsoring. The ball is to take place on Nov. 27 at the Stevens hotel.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Bruno Carmek fired a pistol at the Chicago stadium last night, whereupon a group of inspired young athletes started on the business of making a success of Chicago's 26th international six day bike race.

The current race will be officially dead at 2,754 minutes instead of the scheduled 2,760 minutes, the reason being that the mayor was late in arriving, a circumstance that caused unrest among the assemblage of some 4,500 persons.

The riders had been poised on the starting line for several minutes and many riders had their lights burning and motors ready, awaiting the starter's coming. When he did arrive many in the crowd were impatient and started booing him.

Mayor Blames Away.

The mayor spoke caustically to some of his volunteers, feeling, as he said, that a demonstration was being staged against his person.

After several attempts to speak, he never gave up and fired the starting shot, whereupon the race got under way and the boisterous outbreak was completely beclouded.

At midnight the popular French red and team of Letourner and Guimbretiere was in the technical lead on points though in a mileage tie with Reggie McNamara, now after his 15th straight six day race triumph, and his partner, Jimmy Guerra, the world road champion.

Ruggio Starts Jam.

Ruller and Reader were in third place and DeLilla and Seufert were both. The teams of Martinetti and Bella and Georgetti and DeBasts were in a mileage tie with the third of fourth place teams, the whole bunch was two laps behind the leaders.

Although the race started a few minutes after 9 o'clock it was 9:25 when things broke loose. McNamara, in spite of celebrating his 44th birthday, started the first jam in a sort of trailer way, but before he knew it he certainly was on the track riding like anything.

The first jam of the race lasted until four teams had lapped the field and ended only when Otto Nickel took a hand and spoil of the race. The gents to protect the distinction of gaining the first lap in the contest are De Nardo and Seufert, Ritter and J. Walthour, Letourner and Guimbretiere, and Georgetti and Debasts.

Race Starts Fast.

The sailing through the first hour was unusually sprightly for the push of a six day race. Twenty-five laps were taken during the period and as the last series of sprints began at 10 o'clock, new teams were in a tie for first place, the leaders being McNamara and Guerra, Georgetti and Debasts, Letourner and Guimbretiere, and Reggie and Seufert.

At 11 o'clock McNamara and Guerra were leading the race by themselves, but a quarter of an hour of intermittent jousting brought the French favorites, Letourner and Guimbretiere to a mileage tie with Reggie and his partner, but ahead of them by a margin of 4 sprint points.

The results of the 12:30 a. m. sprints were:

[illegible]—Sudberg, McNamara, Seufert.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Spartans from Portsmouth, who had won seven consecutive games in the National professional football league to make the early championship pace with the Green Bay Packers, yesterday were sent to their second defeat of the year at Wrigley field by the Chicago Bears.

In defeating the Spartans, 9 to 6, before 25,000, the majority of whom were Ladies' day guests, the Bears also snapped their list of setbacks, which included a 13 to 13 licking by Philadelphia and last week's 6 to 2 loss to the champion Packers.

Johnsos Kicks Field Goal.

It was Luke Johnsos who provided the three points early in the third quarter by a place kick, which eventually assured victory. Perhaps it was fitting that Johnsos should boot the ball over the cross bar from the Spartans' 17 yard line, for it was his failure to add the points after touchdowns in the Philadelphia game which produced the Bears' first home defeat.

Carl Brumbaugh, the Bears' quarter back, also had his inning. His generalship in the Green Bay game had been the subject of more or less unfavorable comment, but yesterday Brumbaugh crossed his critics and the Portsmouth players when, on fourth down and six yards to go to reach the Spartans' goal, he raced around end for the touchdown.

The Spartans did not expect the end run and it is probable that the grand stand quarter backs also were at sea, although they joined in the roar of the crowd in approval. All of which must prove that the play which succeeds is the right play.

Spartans Put Over Score.

This touchdown gave the Bears a 9 to 0 lead, for Johnsos's attempt for the extra point was blocked. That advantage was needed, for the Spartans, with the wind at their backs, thrust successfully at the Bears' defense with forward passes which carried the ball over the Chicago goal line. Twice more in the closing minutes Portsmouth smashed and passed into scoring territory, but the Bears refused to yield another point.

Portsmouth is coached by Potsy Clark, former Illinois star, and the team played a steady defensive battle which produced another thrilling game. While the first half ended without either team scoring, each had threatened. Had it not been for Lloyd Burdick, the Bears' right tackle, Portsmouth would have duplicated a touchdown from an intercepted pass which manufactured the Green Bay triumph last Sunday.

The Bears' offensive laid the setting for the play. Starting from their own 25 yard line, Big Bronko Nagurski and Red Grange plunged and ran until deep in Spartan territory. Then the defense stiffened until it was fourth down on Portsmouth's 12 yard line, with seven yards needed for first down.

Alford Grabs Pass.

Nagurski stepped back to pass. He was hurried, and his wide throw, intended for Grange, popped directly in the hands of Gene Alford. The Spartan half back started down the west side line and crossed the field, twisting and turning to avoid tacklers. But Burdick finally caught up with him in the far corner. Diving through the air, Burdick flipped Alford out of bounds on the Bears' 14 yard line and landed in a heap. Burdick was injured. Later the club physician reported a broken bone in Burdick's shoulder.

Encouraged, the Bears held the Spartan backs for four plays and took the ball on downs.

Portsmouth once again in the half halted the Bears when a score seemed on the way. This drive had started from Portsmouth's 29 yard line when Bert Pearson recovered Tony Holm's fumble.

The Bears, however, were not to be denied in the third quarter. Dick Nesbitt, who outkicked his rivals, opened the way, and finally a Spartan kick was recovered only 39 yards out. Molesworth, who had replaced H.

HUNTERS BEWARE, POLICE OPEN WAR ON TRESPASSERS

You Better Believe in Signs from Now On.

BY BOB BECKER.

When pheasant hunters in Chicago and nearby suburban towns go afield tomorrow morning to open the Illinois season on cock pheasants and rabbits they will see the greatest gallery of "no trespass" signs hung on farmlands in many years.

In addition the hunting army will see more police stars and badges than in any previous hunting season because the state warden force will be augmented by scores of special deputy sheriffs whose sole duty will be to apprehend hunetrs who neglect to obey the "no trespass" injunctions

Trespassers Beware.

The welcome awaiting the fence-climbing, irresponsible pheasant hunter who never asks permission to roam over a farmer's property is indicated in a statement from John F. Hesterman, sheriff of Du Page county, who said yesterday:

"You know we have to be kind of hardboiled out here in view of the depredations of the pothunters and others who think a hunting license gives them permission to hunt anywhere and shoot everything. So tomorrow a sufficient number of deputies to patrol the county will be on the job to assist the farmers' protective association in the work of policing posted farms. We are going after the trespassers. As a matter of fact there isn't much so-called open farmland left in the county as hundreds of no trespass signs have been put up since the hen pheasant hunters started to invade this county. The gentleman sportsman who gets permission to hunt on a farm will not be molested, but we are giving fair warning to the other class."

Watch Forest Preserves.

Cook county also will be efficiently policed and hunters who try to pick any birds in the forest preserves are likely to take a ride to court, where they will be fined.

Sheriff Lester Tiffany of Lake county reports that the farmers' protective association in that county also is ready to war on pheasant hunters who do fence climbing on posted land. This association has a number of its members deputized. Many caretakers of large estates and subdivisions in the county also have been given policing powers in order to handle the trespassing problem.

In view of the many farms just recently posted and the plans made to apprehend trespassers, city hunters should be mighty careful in picking their shooting spots. Also they should observe strictly the game code which calls for a legal limit of two cock pheasants per day. The season on these birds extends through Nov. 15.

DAVIS AND ELKINS LEADS EAST WITH 299 POINT TOTAL

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The east's unbeaten football brigade today dwindled to nine, with Davis and Elkins college of Elkins W. Va., still in the van.

The West Virginians have won eight straight games, Syracuse has scounted for seven, and Cornell, Harvard, and Johns Hopkins for six each. Four other elevens—Fordham, Temple, Bucknell, and Allegheny—are undefeated, but have been tied at least once.

Davis and Elkins still maintains a strangle hold on scoring honors, both defensive and offensive. The Scarlet Hurricane has run up a total of 299 points.

Cummings Wins 100 Lap Los Angeles Auto Race

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Bill Cummings, Indianapolis automobile race driver, captured the hundred lap feature event at the Legion Scot speedway this afternoon. His time for this event was 48 minutes 42 2-5 seconds. Francis Quinn, Los Angeles, was second; Arvel Brunmier, Whittier, Cal., was third; Ernie Triplett, Belvedere, Cal., fourth.

N. U. Nears Big 10 Grid Title; Trojans Supreme on Coast

Southern California and Northwestern clinched conference championships Saturday unless the biggest upsets of the intercollegiate football season are recorded.

GREGORY KABAT.

The Wildcats, in defeating Minnesota, 32 to 14, proved themselves a great football team. Northwestern still must defeat Indiana and Iowa before it has completed its task, but only the greatest imagination can give either eleven a chance to score, let alone win.

Southern California, in crushing Stanford, 19 to 0, before 95,000, the record attendance last Saturday, was just as emphatic in its title conquest on the Pacific coast. Montana and the University of Washington remain on the Trojans' league schedule, but neither can be given consideration. Southern California is more concerned over its games with Notre Dame Nov. 21 at South Bend and with the University of Georgia Dec. 12.

Gophers Unequal to Task.

Minnesota gave its utmost in a vain attempt to halt Northwestern's growing list of triumphs which now has reached five victories [three against Big Ten foes] and which also includes a scoreless tie with Notre Dame. But that assault which scored two touchdowns before Northwestern's attack got under way was insufficient.

At the half Minnesota led, 14 to 7, but Pug Rentner did his best to square the accounts on the kickoff which opened the third quarter. His 95 yard dash through the Minnesota team failed to provide the tie only when Olson's drop kick for the extra point missed. Then Jake Sullivan, substituting for Ken Meenan with a brilliance almost unsuspected, counted the winning touchdown on a forward-lateral pass which Northwestern demonstrated last year at Minneapolis and which the Gophers used this fall in subduing Iowa and Wisconsin.

Rentner's touchdown return of a punt and Olson's 50 yard sprint with an intercepted pass only made the final decision more conclusive.

Michigan Gets Big Score.

While Northwestern held the center of interest in the Big Ten, Michigan ran up its largest score in several years at Ann Arbor by whipping Indiana, 22 to 0. Indiana has scored only one touchdown in the history of its competition with the Wolverines, but that was sufficient for a 6 to 0 victory in 1922.

Illinois, although losing its fourth Big Ten game of the year and its eighth in two seasons, gave Wisconsin a hard fought battle. Outplayed for the first half and losing 7 to 0 early in the third quarter, a forward pass by Horsley to Ed Schalk gained 47 yards and failed of a tie only when Greg Kabat blocked the try for the point.

The Big Ten won two of its intersectional games and tied another. Purdue swamped Centenary, 49 to 6, and Ohio State had no difficulty subduing Navy, 20 to 0. The University of Chicago, playing the tall end team in the Southwestern conference, the Razorbacks from Arkansas, established a 13 to 0 lead only to wind up in a 13 to 13 deadlock.

Add All Extra Points.

Particularly emphatic was the Boilermakers' victory. Their seven touchdowns were scored after Centenary had led, 6 to 0. Purdue added every point after touchdown and so did Notre Dame in its seven touchdown triumph over the previously undefeated University of Pennsylvania. Notre Dame had a most one-sided game and next week at Baltimore will have no trouble with the Navy.

Iowa lost to Nebraska, 7 to 0, and only its determined resistance in the first half prevented a larger score.

The ranking upset in the country is credited to Iowa State, which now seems assured of at least a tie for the Big Six championship. The Ames eleven, coached by George Veenker, registered its third league victory over the favored Kansas Aggies, 7 to 6.

Kansas Beaten Again.

Iowa State plays Drake Saturday, a nonleague opponent, and then meets Nebraska. The Cornhuskers, who now are tied with Iowa State for the lead, play Kansas Aggies Saturday, so they must win both games for an undisputed title. Kansas, defending champion, lost again Saturday, this time to Oklahoma, 10 to 0. It was Oklahoma's first Big Six victory.

Marquette university turned back its third successive intersectional foe Saturday when it trounced Washington and Jefferson, 13 to 6.

The excitement in the east centered on victories scored by Harvard and Georgia. Harvard, by virtue of Barry

Olympic Club Hands Upset to St. Mary's, 10-0

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 8.—(AP)—St. Mary's brilliant gridiron record was shattered today when the Gaels suffered their first defeat of the season, a 10 to 0 setback, by the Olympic club of San Francisco.

Approximately 22,000 persons saw the team that defeated Southern California, California, and four other elevens this season, go down fighting before a powerful squad of former college players who rose to their greatest heights. The result was unexpected, as the club team had previously lost to California and Santa Clara and also had been held to ties by the University of San Francisco and Stanford.

Fumble Leads to Score.

Playing smart football, the club eleven seized St. Mary's fumble to put over a touchdown in the first period, and in the last quarter added 3 points by a 40 yard place kick.

St. St. Mary's fumble was on its own 27 yard line. The Olympic club drove to the 5 yard line and Buerke, former Oregon state quarterback, tossed a pass to Leggett over the goal line, Davis placekicked the try for point. Black, substitute end, kicked the field goal.

St. Mary's Fumbles Hurt.

The club team, which had pointed for this game, displayed a stonewall forward line while the defense against passes checked the vaunted aerial attack of the Gaels. St. Mary's made many fumbles, some of which came just as the Gaels were heading down the field to a potential touchdown.

It was the first defeat for Coach Ed (Slip) Madigan since a year last September, when he lost to California.

Jack Manders' 32 Points Top Big Ten Scores

Jack Manders, Minnesota's full back, failed to beat Northwestern all by himself Saturday, but his 14 points gave him a total of 32 for the season in Big Ten competition and the individual scoring leadership of the league. The leaders:

| | G. | TD. | PAT. | FG. | TP. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Manders, f. b., Minn. | 3 | 4 | 8 | 0 | 32 |
| Olson, f. b., N. U. | 3 | 3 | 4 | 1 | 25 |
| Rentner, h. b., N. U. | 3 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 24 |
| Fay, h. b., Mich. | 4 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 24 |
| Schneller, f. b., Wis. | 3 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 18 |
| Cramer, q. b., Ohio | 3 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 18 |

CAMPIGLIO LEADS EAST.

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—In a remarkable feat of scoring that placed him head and shoulders above the other ball carriers of the east, Bob Campiglio of West Liberty State college of West Virginia scored 68 points against Bethel of Kentucky yesterday and took the lead in the eastern football scoring race with a total of 140 points. With one more game to play, Campiglio is only five points behind the mark made last year by Len Macaluso of Colgate, leader of the nation's scorers.

Louis Bush of Massachusetts State, former leader, was held scoreless but held second place where he formerly had led with 96 points and 15 touchdowns.

NEVERS SCORES TWICE AS CARDS BEAT CLEVELAND

Accounts for All Points in 14 to 6 Victory.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—For sixty minutes today at the Cleveland stadium Ernie Nevers cast aside age and caution and once more became the whirling all-American half back of Leland Stanford. His spectacular playing lashed a Chicago Cardinal eleven into a fighting machine which overcame Cleveland's Indians, 14 to 6, in a National league professional game before 10,000 spectators.

Nevers scored the two Chicago touchdowns and kicked the two extra points. Cleveland's line could stop every other Cardinal.

Pass Leads to Score.

Nevers opened the second period with a long pass to Creighton for a first down on the Cleveland 3 yard line. Ernie plunged over in three downs and place-kicked the point.

The Indians, with Vokaty and Hoge Workman leading the attack, then worked down to the Chicago 38 yard line where Vokaty's fumble was recovered by the Cards. Rose hit center for six and Nevers made it first down in midfield. A pass, Nevers to Boyd, put the ball on Cleveland's 2 yard line. Chicago was penalized 5 yards for offside, but Nevers scored on the third down through center. Again his place kick was perfect.

Indians Crash Over.

Vokaty's plunges and Workman's passes to the former advanced the ball to Chicago's 3 yard line as the third period wore away. Chicago held for three downs, but there was no stopping Vokaty on fourth down. Workman's drop kick for the extra point failed. Lineup:

| CARDINALS [14]. | | INDIANS [6]. |
|---|---|---|
| Flannigan | L. E. | Hurley |
| Slater | L. T. | Jessen |
| Kiesling | L. G. | Hutson |
| Erickson | C. | Critchfield |
| Handler | R. G. | Lee |
| Tinsley | R. T. | Lyons |
| Kassell | R. E. | Braidwood |
| Malley | Q. B. | Workman |
| Nevers | L. H. | Novotny |
| Glasgow | R. H. | Cornewest |
| Rose | F. B. | Pignatelli |

Substitutions: Chicago—Boggs for Flannigan, Diehl for Handler, Shaw for Kiesling, Cobb for Slater, Williams for Tinsley, Creighton for Glasgow, Boyd for Nevers, Holmer for Malley, Belden for Rose, Hill for Holmer.

Cleveland—Waters for Hurley, Gregory for Lee, Jolly for Jessen, Weimer for Cornewest, Vokaty for Pignatelli, Lewis for Weimer, Jenvold for Novotny, Misbel for Korkman, Nasser for Gregory.

Touchdowns—Nevers [2], Vokaty.

GIANTS WIN, 12 TO 0.

New York, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Although Benny Friedman failed to score a point as the New York Giants football team stopped the Philadelphia Yellowjackets, 13 to 0, at the Polo grounds today, the former Michigan star furnished the crowd of 25,000 with the outstanding thrills of the day.

Friedman was in the contest for slightly more than half of the game, but it was during this time that the powerful Giant offense performed as a single unit and had the Yellowjackets continually on the defensive.

Both of the winner's touchdowns were registered in the opening half and were mainly the result of the ubiquitous Friedman's play, although he was ably supported by the rest of the team. In the last quarter a reserve Giant eleven was held on the 8 yard line. This was the nearest either team came to scoring in the second half.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 8.—(AP)—A 45 yard pass from Dexter Shelley to Jack Rose, both of Texas, brought a 7 to 0 victory for the Providence National Professional Football league team over the Brooklyn Dodgers here today. Shelley kicked the point after touchdown.

Joyce Wethered to Wed Scotch Golfing Star

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The engagement of Miss Joyce Wethered, many times British women's golf champion, to Maj. C. K. Hutchinson was announced today. Hutchinson has long been one of the foremost amateur golfers in Scotland and reached the final round of the British amateur championship in 1909.

SPARTANS DIE HARD

It's a difficult task, this placing the Spartans on their shields, but the Bears were equal to it at Wrigley field yesterday when they whipped the invaders, 9 to 6. Tony Holm, Portsmouth star, got away for five yards on this play, but stopped abruptly when hit by a Bear standby, Mr. Nagurski.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

The committee in charge of the annual intersectional football game at the Rose bowl, Pasadena, Cal., is looking for a team from this territory to play the Pacific coast champions on New Year's day. Feelers have been sent both to Northwestern and Notre Dame.

Neither school has indicated it would turn down an official invitation, although it is improbable that either will accept.

Northwestern has the matter of conference sanction barring its way and Notre Dame plays the strongest team in the coast league—Southern California—on its regular schedule.

It has been six years since a representative of the central states has competed in the Tournament of Roses game. On New Year's day, 1925, the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame whipped Stanford, with the great Ernie Nevers at the helm, 27 to 10. All of the coast's opponents since then have come from the south, save for two trips west by Pittsburgh.

For the good of Big Ten football I would like to see Northwestern receive the invitation and be permitted to accept. There is a 28 to 0 defeat against conference football that ought to be erased. It was back in 1921 that Ohio State, the Big Ten champion, was whipped by that score. California was the opponent. That is the only time a conference team has appeared in the Rose bowl.

Northwestern this season has one of the strongest elevens in Big Ten history. Wouldn't this be an opportune time to even up for that 1921 score?

Judging from the number of letters received, there is some slight interest in the controversy over the strength of professional and collegiate football. Here's one from J. F. Donnelly of Laporte, Ind.:

"You needn't apologize for picking Notre Dame to whip the Packers or the Bears. There are thousands who agree with you, despite statements from Grange, Savoldi, Cagle and other pro players. Their remarks are based on bread and butter.

"Suppose Grange or Cagle should say that college football is far superior to the pro game. They would be out of their jobs and pro football would drop sharply in public esteem.

"The only instance of a college-pro game was Rockne's All Stars against the New York Giants last winter. No fair minded person would call that a test. Rockne's team was made of men who 'had been' great. Some hadn't been in a game for years.

"If Notre Dame's 1931 team were to play the Bears the score would be Notre Dame, 27; Bears, 0."

"Notre Dame would certainly extend the Packers. I'm not saying how far. There are too many angles to consider before one actually may say that a pro team is stronger than a college eleven, or vice versa. In the instance of Marquette, I don't think there is any doubt. The Packers' superior weight and experience would tell. We haven't the personnel."

A Green Bay contributor who signed himself "A Rabid Packer Fan," said we wouldn't dare print this letter:

"Evidently you are no stockholder in a pro football team. Did you ever attend a real pro game? No, well you should take a trip to Green Bay. We have plenty of spirit up here where people have enough money to pay the school teachers when pay days come around. We have two large pennants at the top of the pole in our stadium and by the looks of things we shall have to build the pole bigger this year.

"The Packers are trained by the greatest coach of all time, Curley Lambeau, who once went to Notre Dame. He was reared on the west side of Green Bay, where Jimmy Crowley, one of the Four Horsemen, and a couple of birds on this year's Notre Dame team were born. The height of their ambition is to play on that team and then come home to take a post graduate course in the real thing.

Van Garrison of 1748 Granville avenue, says:

"I agree with your views on college football and I am glad to know I am not alone in believing that the good college teams would be more than a match for the Packers, Cardinals or Bears.

"I saw the Packers-Bears game and it seemed to me that when Michalesko intercepted that pass and lumbered down the sidelines for a touchdown three or four of the fleet footed Bears could have cut diagonally across the field and overtaken him. Apparently it wasn't quite worth the effort. I have seen similar plays in college contests and have never observed a pursuing player, who had a chance at all, give up until the goal line was crossed.

"I would like to see either Northwestern or Notre Dame play the Bears. Dick Hanley's team is the finest football machine I have seen."

Gains Drops Lutz Five Times; Stop Bout in 2d

LONDON, Nov. 8. — (AP) — Larry Gains, Toronto Negro, floored Alexander Lutz five times for varying counts tonight before the referee halted the bout in the second round. Gains holds the British empire heavyweight championship.

TRAMBLIE BOXES CLINE TONIGHT AT WHITE CITY

Headline Ladies' Night Ring Card.

Ray Tramblie, west side middleweight, boxes Tiger Johnny Cline in one of the eight round bouts at White City tonight. Matt Adgie, Philadelphia iceman, and Tony Cancella of Florida clash in the second half of the double windup. It will be ladies' night, all women being admitted free.

Jole Freeman meets Billy Gladstone of the west side. Freeman has won 24 of 25 fights. They box six rounds at 133 pounds. Ed Steeve is matched with Jud Judkins of South Haven in a six rounder. Jerry Kucera tackles Sonny Rickman in a four rounder and Charley Davis and Herb Peterson open the show.

Two boxing items of interest come up for decision today at the Illinois state athletic commission meeting.

One concerns Sammy Mandell, the other the proposed Primo Carnera-King Levinsky bout.

In Mandell's case the commission will review the action of Referee Tommy Thomas in ordering the former lightweight king from the ring and declaring his bout with Ralph Lenny no contest. In the case of Carnera, the commissioners will decide whether or not the ban on Carnera is to be lifted and he is to be permitted to box Levinsky at the Chicago Stadium Nov. 19.

Larry Johnson, local heavyweight, and Jack Roper, eastern boxer, will wind up their drill today for their ten round bout at the West Side Knights of Columbus clubhouse, 4711 West Madison street, Wednesday. Billy Cepak, the promoter, will have four six round supporting bouts, bringing together Jack Moran and Mickey Patrick, Al Keegan, and Joe Miller, Tex Hogue and Big Matievich, Glen Camp, and Johnny Lulla.

Women boxing and wrestling championships for the state of Ohio will be decided at Cincinnati on Nov. 17. The show is being presented by the International Women's Athletic association.

A welterweight tournament will be held at the Twenty-fourth Ward Democratic club arena, 3242 Roosevelt road, Friday night. Hank Kastman, David Gordon, and Buddy Malcolm are among the contestants already entered.

On Thursday night the Medinah Athletic club will hold an amateur boxing show, featuring eight bouts.

BOHEMIANS BEAT JEWISH SOCCER SQUAD, 2 TO 1

The Bohemians, champions for the last three seasons, eliminated the Jewish soccer representatives from the Cermak cup international series yesterday, 2 to 1, at Sparta field.

The other Cermak game between the Scandinavians and Germans at Schwaben field was stopped eight minutes from time when the fans swarmed on the field after a dispute over a goal awarded to the Scandinavians. Hilding scored for the Scandinavians in the first half. Hilding's shot caused the stampede that ended the match.

A penalty kick, three minutes from time, put the Bohemians in the final again. Fenci's shot went past Schlesinger, who was the star of the game.

The Poles and Italians tied, 2 to 2, in a curtain raiser at Schwaben field. The Bohemian-Jewish lineup:

| BOHEMIANS (2). | | JEWISH (1). |
|---|---|---|
| Sebek | Goal | Schlesinger |
| Resek | R. B. | Weiner |
| Mrnka | L. B. | J. Millman |
| Turek | R. H. | Rudolph |
| Rudera | C. H. | Korer |
| Dracon | L. H. | Teichner |
| Fenci | O. R. | Frahlich |
| Blaha | I. R. | Perlman |
| Vondracek | C | Katz |
| Weir | I. L. | Also |
| Novy | O. L. | Davis |

Goals—Katz, Teichner [against]; Fenci [penalty].

MACK RECALLS SEVEN PLAYERS FROM MINORS

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Connie Mack said today he had recalled seven players which he had farmed out to the minors last spring and ordered them to report at the Fort Myers, Fla., training base of the Athletics next March for another attempt to make good in the majors.

One of the seven, Outfielder Lou Finney, batted around .500 in a few games he played with the Athletics toward the close of the summer. He spent most of the season at York in the New York-Pennsylvania league along with Eddie Cihocki, Harrisburg. Merrit (Sugar) Cain, Harrisburg, and Sollie M. Carter, Williamsport. Cain and Carter are pitchers, Cihocki an infielder.

This quartet will be joined at Fort Myers by Outfielder Bob Johnson, Portland, Third Baseman Pinky Higgins, San Antonio, and Pitcher Jimmy Deshong, Jersey City.

H. H. RAMSAY IS RENOMINATED TO HEAD GOLF BODY

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—H. H. Ramsay has been nominated to succeed himself as president of the United States Golf association by its nominating committee, which made its report today to the association secretary.

The entire slate of officers, inducted into office with him last January, was renominated with Robert M. Cutting and Rodman E. Griscom as vice presidents, Prescott S. Bush, secretary, Charles H. Sabin, treasurer, and Livingston Platt, counsel.

Melvin A. Traylor of Chicago was nominated as chairman of the 1932 nominating committee with Henry B. Heyburn, Roger D. Lapham, H. C. Mackall, and Challen R. Parker as members of the committee.

DUSEK WRESTLES ZAHARIAS FOR BAD BOY TITLE

The Coliseum will resound to the grunts and tumbles of the grapplers tonight. George Zaharias, Greek heavyweight from Colorado, and Rudy Dusek, Omaha Bohemian, are the main men, with Doc. Krone the master of ceremonies.

Nothing's at stake in this main event except the "bad boy" reputations of the two wrestlers involved. As far as Chicago is concerned, Zaharias is the "bad boy" champion, but perhaps that's because he has appeared here more times than Dusek. In other cities, the stocky Dusek is considered the roughest performer of them all. The match is two falls out of three to a finish.

The double semi-windup presents Earl McCready against Milo Steinborn and Jim Clinkstock against Frank Bronowicz.

Fred Grobmier returns to local rings after a long absence. The lanky Iowan, master of the body scissors, is paired against Marshall Blackstock. In the other bout Gino Garibaldi meets Jack Washburn.

Loughran and Paulino Meet Next Friday

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Heavyweights come back into the spot light this week after a period of temporary eclipse. The big fellows are featured in New York, Boston and San Francisco.

Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia veteran, meets Paulino Uzcudun in a ten round bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night. Loughran has won 11 straight victories and will be the favorite.

Charley Retzlaff of Duluth, Minn., will face Giacomo Bergomas, Italian giant, in the ten round semi-final. The first ten will pit the hard punching Spaniard, Mateo Osa, against Ted Sandwina of Sioux City, Ia.

At San Francisco tomorrow night, Max Baer of Oakland, Cal., boxes Johnny Risko, Cleveland's veteran heavyweight. Risko beat Baer last spring.

MONDAY.
At San Francisco—Max Baer vs. Johnny Risko, 10.

Johnsos Kicks Field Goal and Bears Win, 9-6

Grange, and Nesbitt and Brumbaugh advanced to the Spartans' 17 yard line. Here, on fourth down, Johnsos kicked for three points with Brumbaugh holding the ball.

Jesse Hibbs, former Southern California tackle, blocked a Holm punt late in the third quarter and the rush for the Bears' touchdown was on. Portsmouth recovered the ball on the blocked kick, but it was fourth down and the ball passed to the Bears on the Spartans' 19 yard line.

Steady driving through the line advanced to the six yard strip as the quarter ended. It was fourth down and goal to go, but Brambaugh was master of the situation with the end run for touchdown mentioned above.

The Spartans' touchdown was the result of two successful forward passes in the fourth quarter. The first, from Glenn Presnell to Bill McKalip, left end, was good for 25 yards and put the ball on the Bears' 47 yard line. Shortly after Presnell passed again, 20 yards down the field. Molesworth attempted to intercept the ball, but deflected it into McKalip's hands and he ran for the touchdown. Presnell's place kick for the point was wide.

The Bears made nine first downs, all on running plays. The Spartans had six first downs by running, one by passing, and one by penalty.

Bruder and Blood Lead Champions' Attack.

Green Bay, Wis., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The Green Bay Packers eleven turned back the Stapleton club here today, 26 to 0, before a large crowd. The game marked the close of the Packers' home season, and was the 24th consecutive victory for the National league champions on their home field.

The champions pushed over two touchdowns in the first half on a succession of spectacular plays, and then, using Hank Bruder, former Northwestern university star, as the main cog in a powerful running and passing attack, they added 13 more points during the final two periods.

Stapleton displayed a stubborn defense, which bothered the flying Packer backs at several stages of the contest. Ken Strong, powerful Stapleton back, turned in a neat exhibition of punting during the early minutes, but after he was moved from the game because of injuries, Stapleton collapsed, and the heavy Green Bay backs had things much more their own way.

Packers Score on Pass.

The first quarter was less than three minutes old when the first Packer score was registered. After a pass, Fitzgibbon to Englemann, had placed the ball on the Stapleton 17 yard line, Fits hurled another to Lavvie Dilweg, end, who trotted over for the touchdown. Fitzgibbon passed to Dilweg for the extra point.

As the half drew to a close, Johnny Blood, Green Bay's highly touted half back, was put into the game. Two plays later Blood snared a pass over center from Dunn and raced for a touchdown, the gain totaling 40 yards. Dunn's kick for the extra point was bad, and the half ended with the Packers holding a 13 to 0 advantage.

Bruder Gets Going.

In the second half it was all Green Bay, and, offensively, very largely Bruder. He hit the Stapleton line hard and often. After one of his sweeping end runs had placed the ball in scoring position, Blood circled the end for 15 yards and another touchdown. Dunn kicked goal.

Bruder accounted for the last Packer touchdown. On a lateral pass Blood took the ball and hurled it over the right side of the Green Bay line to Hank, who made a pretty catch and dashed through a broken field for the score. Molesworth failed to make the extra point on a line plunge.

The lineup:

| PACKERS (26). | | STAPLETON (0). |
|---|---|---|
| Dilweg | L. E. | Bolan |
| Stahlman | L. T. | Bell |
| Michalske | L. G. | Rose |
| Barrager | C. | Bain |
| Bowdoin | R. G. | Gaines |
| Sleight | R. T. | Gunn |
| Gantenbein | R. E. | Gaines |
| Fitzgibbon | Q. B. | Nash |
| Wilson | L. H. | Nash |
| Englemann | R. H. | Dooley |
| McCrary | F. B. | Perkins |

Touchdowns—Dilweg, Bruder, Blood [3]. Points after touchdowns—Dilweg, Dunn. # HANLEY PRAISES WILDCATS' FIGHT —AND WHY NOT?

Lewis, Sullivan Earn Star Rank Against Gophers.

Coach Dick Hanley yesterday still was reviling the courage displayed by his Northwestern football team in its sensational comeback against Minnesota after the latter had piled up a two touchdown lead early in the second quarter of Saturday's game.

"We were caught more or less flat footed by a high geared and powerful machine in the first quarter," Hanley said. "Make no mistake about it, the Minnesota team is tough. Our boys simply wasn't charging and the holes were not coming up to meet the ball during that first quarter, which the Minders, Munn and Somers a cinch to 6's.

"Once these faults were corrected we were able to come back with a rushing punch and at the same time stop Bruhn scoring by Minnesota."

Lewis, Sullivan New Stars.

Coach Hanley was particularly impressed with the performances of Will Lewis at quarter and Jakie Sullivan at left. Both had been playing subordinate roles until Saturday's game. Lewis not only ran the team in fine style, but his work on forward pass plays stopped numerous Minnesota drives. Sullivan likewise broke up Minnesota passes and his ball carrying was second only to Rentner's.

The Wildcats emerged from the game without injuries. Dick Fencl suffered several severe bruises, but is not be forced to lose any time in practice this week. Reb Russell and George Potter will be ready to start against Indiana Saturday, while Bruhn's thumb may be sufficiently healed to permit him to pass again.

The players who took part in the Minnesota game will be excused from practice today and will not report until tomorrow when preparation will start for Saturday's engagement with Indiana.

Expect Indiana Jinx.

For three years in a row a supposedly inferior Indiana team upset the Wildcats, and it was not until it became clear that a Northwestern team coached by Hanley was able to take the measure of the Crimson. In 1927 Indiana won, 13 to 7. The score in 1928 was 6 to 0, and in 1929 the Hoosiers again won, 19 to 14. Last year the Purple broke the jinx by a score of 26 to 0.

ILLINI FEARS MAROONS

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—A hard fought, even struggle against Chicago, reminiscent of the battles in the old days of Chicago-Illinois rivalry, is expected when the Illini open their home season here Saturday.

Fear that the Chicago line will be easier to Illinois' possessed Bob Zuppke today as he studied ways in which to improve the Illinois line. Zuppke may transfer Scott Marriner, end, and Eddie Saavely, full back, to tackle positions.

Zuppke announced there would be a practice tomorrow for the first time.

Chicago has not triumphed over the Illini since 1922, but the Maroons scored a tie in 1924.

Butgym Schultz, who has been a triple since early season, will probably be available. Herman Walser, quarter back, also may be back.

OHIO DROPS SECRET DRILL

Columbus, O., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The Ohio State football team came through the Navy game yesterday without a serious injury to any member of the squad. In five games this year no first string player has been kayed during a regulation game.

The Buckeyes will take part in their last homecoming event of the season when they meet Wisconsin at Ohio next Saturday.

The State aided Indiana in their homecoming two weeks ago at Bloomington and held their own homecoming yesterday by beating the Navy, 27 to 6. Incidentally it was the first homecoming victory of an Ohio State team since 1920 when Iolas Huffman, end and captain, blocked a Michigan punt and carried the ball over for a touchdown, the Buckeyes winning, 14 to 7.

Nine games have been played by Wisconsin and Ohio State. Each has won four and last year's contest was a scoreless tie.

Daily practice sessions are to be carried out by the Ohio first stringers in preparation for the Wisconsin game, except practice has been abolished for the present.

MICHIGAN LOSES TESSMER

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 8. — [Special.]—Michigan will return to practice tomorrow with the knowledge that Michigan State, its opponent next Saturday, has been concentrating on the invasion of Ann Arbor for the last two weeks. Yesterday the Wolverines warmed up by beating Ripon, 40 to 6. Michigan's first string quarterbacks, Reth Tessmer, will be out of the Minnesota game Nov. 21.

Saturday's game against Indiana was a victory achieved in Michigan style—with only five first downs made and only two passes out of seven attempts completed, but both passes being good for touchdowns.

RAMAS REJOINS IRISH

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 8. — [Special.]—Steve Banas, Notre Dame full back who has been lost to the squad since he suffered a broken hand in the Purdue game, will return to practice tomorrow and will be ready to play against Navy at Baltimore Saturday, according to Eugene (Scrap) Lee Young, Notre Dame trainer.

Young reported that the Irish varsity runs through the Pennsylvania scrub fairly bruised, but with no serious injuries.

Conroy will have his work cut out for him when he tries to get back to the first string. In his absence George Ellsworth, sophomore star, has been starring at full back. Bernie Leahy and Frank Laborne have been playing well at this position with the first team. Laborne will probably go back to left half this week.

De Paul Wins, 45 to 0; Ties for 1st Place

Loyola academy, 1930 Chicago Catholic High School Football league champion, faded from the title race yesterday when it suffered its second north section defeat of the season, losing to De Paul, 45 to 0, at De Paul field. It was De Paul's fifth triumph.

Through the victory and the point system adopted by the league several years ago, De Paul, despite a defeat, now is tied with St. Mel for the sectional lead. St. Mel won four games and was tied by Loyola and St. George. The system gives two points for a victory and one for a tie. Both leaders have ten points.

Protest Games.

The tie for the lead, however, probably will be only temporarily. It was learned yesterday that three of De Paul's victories have been protested. James Harrison, its star guard, is alleged to have played in all three contests while ineligible. Harrison did not compete against Loyola yesterday.

Don Refram, 155 pound full back, led De Paul's attack against Loyola. Together with Holmes and Napolilli, he crossed the Loyola goal in the first half to give De Paul a 19 to 0 lead. Refram scored two more touchdowns in the last half, one on a 40 yard run.

Phillips Runs 60 Yards.

Phillips, running back a punt for 60 yards, scored another De Paul touchdown in the last half. Hehn, plunging from the 5 yard line, scored the last De Paul touchdown. Lineup:

Touchdowns—Refram [3], Holmes, Hehn, Napolilli, Phillips.
Points after touchdowns—Napolilli, Refram, Holmes.

ST., PHILIP WINS, 19-0.

Tommy Lyons led St. Philip to its fourth north section victory yesterday, as it defeated St. George, 19 to 0, at Mills stadium. Lyons scored two touchdowns, plunging over in the first period and running 20 yards to score in the second quarter. Frank Sattler scored the last touchdown, plunging from the 4 yard line in the final quarter. Lineup:

N. U., Trojans Move Nearer Grid Titles

Wood's forward pass in the closing minute, defeated Dartmouth, 7 to 6, and Georgia whipped New York university by the same count. Georgia also duplicated the score and the result of the 1930 game with the Violet. Both Harvard and Georgia remain undefeated. It was the second successive loss for N. Y. U., which was beaten a week ago by the University of Oregon.

Georgia now returns home to prepare for its greatest test, the game with the undefeated Tulane eleven, which last year beat the southern Bulldogs, 25 to 0. The game will be played Saturday at Athens, Ga. Tulane won from Alabama Poly, 27 to 0, after a stern tussle in the first half.

Syracuse, Fordham, and Cornell continued their victorious marches. Syracuse won from Western Reserve, 33 to 0; Fordham beat Detroit, 39 to 9, which was unexpected at least in the size of the score, and Cornell had no difficulty with Alfred, 54 to 0.

Texans Keep Pace.

Southern Methodist and Texas Christian kept pace in the battle for the Southwestern conference title. The undefeated rivals do not meet until Nov. 28. Southern Methodist Saturday defeated the Texas Aggies, 8 to 0, while the Christians won, 7 to 6, from Rice institute. Thus a total of five major games were decided by failure to kick goal after touchdown. All five scores were 7 to 6. The victors were Harvard, Georgia, Texas Christian, Iowa State, and Wisconsin.

Georgia Tech's rally to tie North Carolina, 19 to 19, ranks as a major torious ways with a 41 to 0 victory upset in the south. Alabama, defeated once this fall, continued its victory over Florida. Duke won from Kentucky, 7 to 6.

St. John's, Culver Teams Study Pro, College Stars

The ordinary routine of practice is not enough for the football teams of St. Johns and Culver Military academies, which meet in their second annual service game at Soldiers' field next Saturday. The rival squads used the week-end to study college football with the result that a few tricky plays, not hitherto in their repertoire will be flashed in the coming battle.

On Saturday the St. Johns squad watched Northwestern and Minnesota. The Culver squad was at South Bend to see Notre Dame play Penn. And yesterday Coach Bob Peck and several Culver players watched the Chicago Bears-Portsmouth game at Wrigley field.

"We have a good team," commented Bob Peck, who once played center for Pitt, "but I understand that St. Johns has the edge on us. We hear that our rivals have an unusually fast and heavy line.

Dallas Marvil, Jack Riley, Pug Rentner, and others of the Northwestern stars gave tips freely to the St. Johns men Saturday. Coach Harry Wilhelm was greatly interested in the line play of the Purple during the Minnesota game and pointed out numerous angles to his men. St. Johns is expected to use power plays almost exclusively against Culver.

"Next Saturday's game should be keenly contested," declared Wilhelm. "Culver always has a strong team and we realize that we are in for a battle."

Half Back Temporarily Blinded by Ammonia

Monmouth, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Lelno Corgnati, star half back of Monmouth college, was temporarily blinded in a peculiar accident during the Lake Forest game here yesterday when ammonia was accidentally spilled in his eyes while being used to revive him after he had been knocked out by a hard tackle. He later returned to the game.

Top Flight Seen as Winter Derby Choice

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The possibility of Top Flight, Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's sensational filly, becoming the winter book favorite for the Kentucky Derby was discussed here tonight when details of the youngster's victory in the Pimlico futurity were talked over by many who saw the great race yesterday. Only one filly ever has won the derby and that was in 1915, when Regret, owned by Harry Payne Whitney, father of C. V. Whitney, finished first.

Top Flight will race no more this season, but will go into winter quarters with her laurels secure as one of the greatest thoroughbreds in a generation. The matter of a filly coming back as a three year old in as good form as shown in her juvenile years is always a matter of some uncertainty. Colts are far more consistent.

This angle is coming in for a good deal of attention particularly because of the great race run by Tick On which was secured by a head. It is by no means certain that Top Flight or Tick On will be named for the Derby, but Trainers Tom Healey of Top Flight and Max Hirsch of Tick On are partial to the Kentucky classic and it is fair to assume that their charges will try for the $50,000 prize.

DE PAUL STARTS DRILL FOR GAME WITH N. DAKOTA

De Paul university today will start preparations for its homecoming game Friday night at Mills stadium against North Dakota State. It will be the final home game of the season. The Blue Demons swept through Louisville, 46 to 0, Saturday, with Ernie Butcher, Frank Hartman, Art McGivern, Ted Jablonski, and Whitey Eagle all having a field day.

Coach Eddie Anderson used only a second string line against the Colonels. Babe Roche and Eddie Lyons, the junior ends, were outstanding, as were also Bosquette and Schuster, the guards.

The North Dakotans are expected to provide one of De Paul's toughest encounters of the schedule. North Dakota university gave the Blue Demons their only defeat of the season so far. The Louisville victory was the fifth for De Paul.

Capt. Everet McClane, Emmet Cowhey, and Hal Chesne, three star linemen, are expected back in uniform this afternoon.

COLORADO GIVES UTAH ITS LAST SERIOUS THREAT

Denver, Col., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Colorado university's invasion of Salt Lake this week will mark the last Rocky Mountain conference challenge of consequence to be carried to the Utah university Indians this season. Utah is the only unbeaten team left in the race and a fourth consecutive regional championship is taken for granted.

Utah Aggies, undefeated until yesterday, were humbled by Brigham Young's Cougars, 6 to 0.

ANNA BEATS CAIRO.

Anna, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Anna Independents defeated the Cairo Pros here this afternoon, 6 to 0, in their second pro football game of the season.

DESIGNS POWER PLANTS TO USE NATURE'S HEAT

Would Obtain Energy from Earth and Ocean.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 8.—Designs of two new power plants, one to utilize the heat below the surface of the earth, the other to take advantage of the difference in temperature between upper and lower levels of the ocean, are announced by Dr. Nikola Tesla, the inventor, in an article in the December issue of Everyday Science and Mechanics.

While a number of attempts have been made during the last fifty years to devise ways to utilize the heat energy of the ocean and the interior of the earth, Dr. Tesla stated his designs embodied improvements on the older methods which will make it possible to supply power from ocean and terrestrial sources on an economical basis in competition with other sources of power.

Prof. Claude's Experiment.

Only last year Prof. Georges Claude of Paris constructed at Matanzas bay, Cuba, an experimental plant for the purpose of harnessing the temperature differences in the tropical seas for power purposes. A number of engineers, Dr. Tesla among them, are of the opinion that the Claude plant, while workable, is too expensive to produce power on an economical basis. Dr. Tesla's design, he stated, does away with the most expensive and objectionable features of former experiments.

"It is well known," Dr. Tesla writes, "that there exists in tropical seas, a difference of 50 degrees Fahrenheit between the surface water and that three miles below. The temperature of the former, being subject to variations, averages 82 Fahrenheit, while that of the latter is normally at least at 32 degrees Fahrenheit, or nearly so, as the result of the slow influx of the ice cold polar stream.

"In solid land these relations are reversed, the temperature increasing about one degree Fahrenheit for every 64 feet of descent."

Temperature Differences.

A considerable temperature difference between upper and lower levels of the ocean being available at all times, Dr. Tesla continues, the essential conditions required to operate a steam or other thermodynamic engine are fulfilled, on the well known principle that heat flows from a higher to a lower level and could be transformed into mechanical work as in the case of the steam engine.

It is also well known that water could be made to boil at temperatures much below the normal boiling point of 212 degrees Fahrenheit by subjecting it to a vacuum which causes ebullition at any temperature, however low. The principal parts of Dr. Tesla's designs consist of a vacuum pump, a turbine, a condenser, and a generator. The plan for the ocean plant has as one of its novel features a tunnel dug to the level of the cold waters, which in the design for the terrestrial plant is substituted by a heat insulated shaft, extending a mile or less below the surface.

Starts Water Boiling.

The vacuum pump starts the sea water boiling at surface temperature. The steam thus generated is directed against the turbine, which it turns, and passes on to the condenser. By a novel, ingenious arrangement, taking advantage of the ebb and flow of the tide, the cold water from the depths is made to come to the surface through the tunnel and to the condenser, thus condensing the steam exhausted by the turbine. The turbine is connected with the shaft of a generator, in this manner transforming heat and energy into mechanical and electrical energy.

In the terrestrial power plant water is circulated to the bottom of the shaft, returning as steam to drive the turbine, and then returned to liquid form in the condenser, in an unending cycle.

Detroit, Tennessee Offer Bond Issues This Week

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—New state and municipal financing scheduled this week by 25 communities totals $15,947,813, the Daily Bond Buyer reports. The weekly average for the year to date in this classification is $34,691,655. The state of Tennessee has scheduled an offering of $5,000,000 in notes on Wednesday. The city of Detroit, Mich., has announced an offering of $7,500,000 on Friday.

GRAIN MARKET IS NOW CENTER OF SPECULATION

Stock Brokers Buy Memberships.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Thirty days ago wheat traders who fostered bullish ideas were laughed at. An advance of more than 5c was hardly considered, but since Oct. 5 the whole world's grain situation has changed. The public has come into the market. Eastern speculators who see little prospect of a large business in stocks have swung over to the grain trade, and a dozen or more stock brokers have bought memberships in the Chicago Board of Trade, which have advanced from around $6,000 to $11,500. Memberships are not selling at above that on the Chicago Stock Exchange, and practically all the stock brokers are either handling grain business now or preparing to.

Commodity markets are regarded as the issue that will lead the country and probably the greater part of the world out of the depression.

A month ago sales of wheat futures in the Chicago Board of Trade were 133,000 bu and on last Friday 69,-000. The open interest, which was down to 61,301,000 bu early in October increased 24,320,000 bu or 37 per cent to date, standing at 128,221,000 bu.

Sold Out Bulls.

Wheat prices have advanced so fast that professionals who took the bull side after being convinced that the lowest level had passed and that prices had been held at too low a level for conditions to be healthy sold out on the first 6@10c advance, and many of them have not reinstated their lines. Others who sold out at higher prices have seen the market run away from them, and they are afraid to come back. The general public has come into the market. Arthur Cutten is credited with being largely responsible for the upturn in prices in both wheat and corn. Strong eastern interests who are in close touch with conditions in this country and in Europe have bought wheat, and while a few sold part of their lines others are standing on their original holdings, according to latest reports.

At the close Saturday it was said that the local interests were well out of their holdings, regarding the market as too fast and uncertain to follow, every break of a few cents having run into new buying which carried prices to higher levels than heretofore.

In Sharp Advance.

December wheat has advanced from 58¾c to 67⅛c, with May from 48⅝c to 58¾c, a gain of more than 23c from the season's low. The close on Saturday for December was 66⅝@66⅝c, and on May 71⅛@71⅜c. The market showed net gains for the week of 5¼ @5½c. There is said to be a limited short interest, and that those who bought wheat are strong believers in still higher prices, while local professionals are looking for a good break.

Advanced prices are the result of changed conditions in Russia and fears of complications between China, Japan and Russia reaching serious proportions, and above all there is a most important factor that comparatively few men in the trade realize. This is the fact that the United States is on a gold basis, while England, Germany and several other countries are on a silver basis, which in the minds of a number of close students is taken as meaning that prices in the United States are to move upward and that eventually farmers will be put on a better basis. The advance in grain prices so far is equal to a theoretical gain of around $400,000,-000. Prices for the week follow:

| | Dec. | March. | May. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Sat | 61¼-63⅝ | 65-67⅝ | 66¾-68¼ |
| Mon | 61¾-64⅜ | 64⅝-67⅜ | 66¼-68⅝ |

| Fri | 73⅛-1.05⅜ | 76⅜-1.11 | 78⅜-1.14 |

Corn Trade Revives.

Corn prices have moved up 13@16c from the season's low a month ago. This grain finished the week at net gains of 6@6¾c compared with a week ago. May corn touched 53⅛c and December 48c, the latter closing at 47⅛ @47½, May, 52⅝@52⅞c, and July, 44⅝@44c. Outside interest has increased and should wheat advance expectations are that corn will do better.

A few large local operators have accumulated considerable quantities of corn on the belief that prices are too low and that it will take a good appreciation to bring out liberal supplies from farmers.

The government report is due tomorrow and is not expected to show returns materially different from those of private reports, which range between 2,625,000,000 bu and 2,640,-000,000 bu.

Cash sales for the week were larger and country offerings to arrive were substantially enlarged, but at no time were they heavy. Prices for the week follow:

| | December. | March. | May. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Sat | 40⅜-42 | 43⅝-45½ | 45⅝-47⅜ |
| Mon | 41 -43⅝ | 44 -45⅝ | 45⅝-47⅜ |
| Tues | 41 -44⅜ | 43⅝-47¼ | 45⅝-49⅛ |
| Wed | 44½-47⅜ | 47⅛-50⅜ | 49⅛-52⅜ |
| Thurs | 43⅝-47⅜ | 46½-50⅛ | 49 -52⅝ |

More Interest in Oats.

Oats are attracting more attention from industries and speculators, the former being good buyers in the closing days of the week. Prices advanced around 7@8c from the season's low and finished the week with net gains of 1⅛@1⅜c, December closing at 27@ 28c and May 29⅝@29⅝c. Higher prices have not increased country

Seek Selling Agreement to Bolster Price of Silver

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—Announcement was made today in behalf of the International Chamber of Commerce that negotiations are under way to remedy the troublesome money situation produced by the drastic depreciation in silver.

Seeing no likelihood of cooperative action by the governments concerned, a committee of experts of the international chamber is making arrangements with those groups and agencies throughout the world which control the major stocks and production of silver for an international selling agreement. Interested governments, as well as private groups, are being asked to enter into the agreement.

The announcement was the report of an expert committee of the International chamber, made public by Silas H. Strawn of Chicago, chairman of the chamber's American committee. The expert committee, in addition to Mr. Strawn, included Ernest Franklin of Samuel Montagu & Co. of London, E. D. van Walree of Bernn, Holland, and Marshall W. Tuthill of Tuthill & Co., New York.

To Study Monetization.

In general, the conclusions of the expert committee are based on the likelihood that neither an international conference on silver nor monetization will happen in the immediate future.

In the opinion of the committee, its recommendation for an international selling agreement "can be carried into effect within a reasonable time." The matter of the monetization of silver, it holds, can be "studied at leisure with a view to future action."

As for the use of silver in industry, the committee suggests the establishment of research institutes to devise new uses and expand the present use of the metal and puts out the thought that "a considerable improvement in the industrial demand would immediately follow the discovery of a satisfactory process which would eliminate the tendency of that metal to tarnish."

In addition to holding that it was not to be expected that a conference of governments would take place in the near future, the expert committee unanimously agreed that proposals for the establishment of a bimetallic system of currency or, alternatively, for the remonetization of silver "stand no chance of early application in practice."

Effect on China.

"That England, France, and other countries should increase the standard of their subsidiary currency, is, we are informed, most unlikely to happen," the committee says.

Disagreeing with the view of a senate subcommittee, the committee takes the position that the fall in the price of silver has not been more than a contributary cause of the financial and economic troubles of China.

"Indeed," it says, "China is the one country where prices in daily life have varied least.

The committee assents, however, to the view of the senate subcommittee that a relative stability in the price of silver would contribute materially toward a gradual opening of the interior of China to trade. It holds that the difficulty in bringing about stability in prices lies with China and not with India, but that it should not be insurmountable.

Warns Against Sudden Rise.

Granting that a rise in the price of the metal would mean a rise in China exchange and that this, if appreciable, would tend to diminish the exports and increase the imports of that country, the committee acknowledges that such a course would be of undoubted benefit to exporters to China, but adds that "it remains to be seen to what extent the increased imports would consist of silver." A too sudden or too large a rise in the price should be avoided "and it would also be a grave error to decide beforehand what price should be aimed at."

After reviewing these and other factors, the committee of experts proposes its plan for an international silver consortium.

"Your committee," says the report, "accordingly recommends that if the international chamber of commerce wishes to retain the subject of silver on its agenda it should investigate the possibilities of bringing the North American producers and refiners of silver into a sales agreement with the government of India.

"For this purpose, of course, the producers of the United States, in order to conform to their national laws, could only be organized from the point of view of export sales. Other producers of any substantial quantity should naturally be welcomed into the agreement, while the importance of bringing the Bank of Spain and kindred institutions into these deliberations should not be lost sight of."

Yield on 16 New York Bank Stocks Is Now 5.77 Per Cent

A sharp recovery was recorded in New York City Bank and Trust company stocks during the past week, as indicated by the dollar index figures compiled by Holt, Rose & Troster. Sixteen leading issues as of Nov. 7 yielded an average of 5.77 per cent, compared with a high yield of 7.82 per cent recorded Oct. 5, and with a yield of 6.07 per cent Oct. 31. Based on Nov. 7 figures, the sixteen issues are selling at 16.3 times known current earnings, against 15.3 times Oct. 31.

Form Protective Groups for 3 Debenture Issues

A protective committee has been formed to act in the interest of holders of American Solvents and Chemical corporation [Maryland] 6½ per cent 10 year sinking fund debentures, General Industrial Alcohol corporation convertible 6½ per cent sinking fund debentures and Rossville Commercial Alcohol corporation 20 year sinking fund 6 per cent convertible debentures. Joseph P. Ripley, vice president of the National City company, is chairman of the committee.

Canadian Car and Foundry Co. Earnings Drop Sharply

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Reduced earnings and a decrease in car equipment orders from railways were shown in the report of the Canadian Car and Foundry company and subsidiaries for the year ended Sept. 30, 1931. The report issued today showed profits for the year of $896,785 as compared with $3,104,867 for the preceding year. Net profit was equivalent to $2.54 on preferred shares.

CHICAGO AREA TRADE SHOWS STEADIER TONE

Rising prices in the world's leading markets last week gave a better tone to merchandising activities in Chicago, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Business locally, while uneven in spots, displayed more firmness than has prevailed in recent weeks. Chicago exporters were cheered by the rise scored by silver in international money markets.

That Chicago housewives are "dressing up" their homes by taking advantage of present low prices for merchandise was evidenced during the week by sales of household accessories. Individual pieces of furniture, electrical appliances for the home, table linen and bedding were in demand.

The week also brought considerable sales activity in women's dress accessories, such as scarfs, linen handkerchiefs, leather bags, costume jewelry and gloves. Colder weather brought increased sales of winter coats.

Earnings of Utility Units Lower in Third Quarter

Earnings of subsidiaries of Central and Southwest Utilities company for the third quarter this year showed net for retirement and stocks of Central and Southwest Utilities company was $1,782,313, compared with $2,055,-825 in the like period last year.

PLAN FOR THE REORGANIZATION OF

Commander-Larabee

Corporation and Subsidiaries

HOLDERS of a substantial majority of both the Bonds and Notes and of both the Preferred and Common Stocks of the Corporation have already assented to the Plan of Reorganization. While this response is gratifying to the Committees, it is obvious that the advantages of the Plan cannot be fully realized unless the holders of substantially all of the securities of the Corporation assent thereto.

The time for assenting to the Plan has been extended to and including November 30, 1931, and all security holders who have not yet assented to the Plan are urged to do so promptly. Information concerning the Plan may be obtained from the Depositaries or the Secretaries of the respective Committees.

MOTOR CAR INDUSTRY SPENDING LARGE SUMS ON PLANTS, MACHINERY

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Spending millions of dollars for the retooling of plants, for the expansion of facilities for producing and finishing basic parts, and for the fabricating of raw materials, the automobile industry is giving tangible evidence of its belief that the industrial decline has been liquidated.

The motor car industry represents a net capital investment of approximately $2,000,000,000. Periodically it must make investments to maintain its facilities, improve its plants and change its models. Every time a model is changed by an individual manufacturer it involves the retooling of his plant, the changing of machinery in the body-making plants and the expenditure of varying sums for new equipment.

On a large scale this retooling has been going forward in the motor car industry for several weeks. It has been proceeding quietly, for the motor car manufacturer always is secretive about his plans for bringing out a new model. This secrecy has a two-fold purpose: specific plans must be kept from the knowledge of competitors, and the curiosity of potential buyers must be aroused.

Just how many millions of dollars have gone into the current periodical investment of the industry is a matter of conjecture, but the aggregate is greater at this time than it has been at any like period in the industry's history. This is due to the fact most automobile factories now are turning to new model production, to be presented within the next few weeks. In the past, new model operations have been spread over the greater part of the summer months.

Thompson Sales, Profits Turn Up in Third Quarter

Sales and earnings of the John R. Thompson company turned upward in the third quarter of this year. For the first quarter this year sales exceeded the corresponding period last year, while profits were almost equal. Third quarter sales were $3,664,945, compared with $3,622,374 for the same period last year. Net income was $220,382, or 73 cents a share, compared with $220,696 a year ago.

Sales for the nine months ended Sept. 30 totaled $10,615,386, compared with $11,224,363 for the same period last year. Net income was $623,829, or $2.08 a share, compared with $803,-733, or $2.67 a share, for the corresponding period in 1930.

PLAN TO ISSUE INFORMATION ON FOREIGN BONDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

White Sulphur Springs, W. V., Nov. 8.—In order to allay the "inevitable hysteria" which has been evidenced in the foreign bond market, the board of governors of the Investment Bankers' Association of America today announced that a mechanism had been set up for the dissemination of up to the minute information about foreign nations publicly known to be experiencing financial difficulties.

"The general public," the board's report states, "has failed to recognize that the quoted prices of the securities of many foreign countries do not today represent actual values.

"The Institute of International Finance of New York will issue from time to time for the purpose of protecting American holders of foreign securities comprehensive reports on foreign countries."

The institute is supported by the Investment Bankers' association. Today's meeting was the second preliminary session preceding the formal opening tomorrow of the association's 20th annual convention.

Average Yield on 318 Active Stocks Now Stands 9.72%

The average yield on 318 active cash dividend paying common stocks listed on the New York Stock exchange amounted to 9.72 per cent on Nov. 2, Moody's reports. This compares with 11.54 per cent at the end of September and 12.04 per cent at the recent low point of the market on Oct. 5. The current yield average is close to the 1921 peak of 9.92 per cent and is about midway between levels of Sept. 1 and Oct. 1 of this year.

To Sell $75,000,000 of U. S. Treasury Bills This Week

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Secretary Mellon announced today that the treasury would sell $75,000,-000 in treasury bills next Friday. The bills, which will run for 91 days, will be dated Nov. 16, mature Feb. 15, and be sold to the highest bidder. Proceeds of the sale will be used to retire $60,000,000 in bills which mature Nov. 16 and furnish funds to meet government expenses.

Bond Market Advances as Bank Confidence Returns

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The bond market advanced almost steadily last week and reached the highest levels in four weeks.

Some settling tendencies appeared at time, but they disappeared by the end of the day, permitting the market to close higher from day to day. This broad advance was accomplished with a moderate volume.

The commonest explanation of the upturn was that confidence in the banking situation was increasing and that consequently the urgent selling induced by the desire of banks to remain liquid in order to meet withdrawals, had been reduced or ended. This theory would seem to be supported by the fact that the market's recent weakness occurred on a moderate turnover and that the volume last week showed no appreciable increase as the reversal of price trend became apparent.

A Reinvestment Demand.

A reinvestment demand arising from the distribution of Nov. 1 dividend and interest disbursements contributed a favorable influence also. Investment bankers consider the market still far below the level at which any extensive flotations of new issues is likely, although a few of them hope that the market may improve sufficiently by the end of the year to encourage such operations.

Offerings of new issues were rather negligible. Such bonds as were offered consisted entirely of municipal and public utility issues, the largest of which was a $5,000,000 issue of the state of Missouri. No bids of any kind were received on Friday for $4,359,000 of bonds of Jersey City, a circumstance which bankers ascribed entirely to market conditions, notwithstanding the recent improvement. The credit standing of that community is considered satisfactory.

A considerable volume of corporate refunding financing is known to be waiting for market improvement sufficient to permit its flotation. A number of corporations, particularly railroads, are known to have borrowed from banks recently.

Watch U. S. Issues.

The market in United States government obligations will be watched closely over the next month. The plans of the treasury are not known at present. It is well known that there will be a large deficit for the current fiscal year. Whether this will be met through an increase in taxes, borrowing through the sale of bonds and notes, or a combination of these methods is the question which will have to be answered.

As the treasury will have to take steps to refund issues maturing on Dec. 15, the plans for this operation will have to be announced in the next few weeks.

NOTE DECLINING TREND IN BANK CLOSINGS IN U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 8.—Bank closings in the United States, while still abnormally numerous, are showing a declining trend, according to the compilations of the American Banker. During the first week in November 67 institutions closed their doors, bringing the total number of banking suspensions for the year to date up to 1,753, and the total amount of deposits involved to nearly $1,500,000,000.

The 67 closings recorded last week compare with 166 for the first week of October, 119 in the second week of last month, 112 in the third and 79 in the fourth. The 475 banks closed during October was the largest number for any month of the year to date, and may prove to have established a peak for the year, in the opinion of the American Banker. Bank openings, the publication says, are again picking up. During September and October 18 institutions resumed business after having closed from one to 18 months.

ABRUPT CHANGE IN SENTIMENT FOLLOWS RULE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 8.—Whatever opinion may be entertained regarding the economic situation as a whole, its difficulties or its uncertainties, a survey of the markets will bring agreement that there, at any rate, the scene has changed.

The bond market's abrupt and exceedingly vigorous advance, the movement of "wheat futures," lately quoted below 45, into the 70 cent area, the swift recovery in silver bullion, the ending of the gold export movement after the prodigious requisitions of frightened Europe had been met with entire composure, have quite unmistakably created a new set of pictures on the financial screen.

If the stock market in the fortnight past has given little or no response to the changing situation, it may be answered, first that it was not the stock market from which signs of recovery were this time primarily to be expected and, second, that even the ruling "average" of stocks is 39 per cent above the figure of a month ago.

Conforms to Precedent.

In all respects the turn in the markets has conformed to the precedent of similar occasions. We are reasonably sure to hear objections regarding these various incidents as significant. The rise in wheat was an exploit in speculation. The 3 and 4 point daily recovery in home and foreign bonds may turn out to have been premature. The wheat market and the silver bullion market must have taken their cue from the war clouds gathering in the east. In any case, how can cautious watchers take seriously so sudden a volte-face in the attitude of markets which, four or five weeks ago, were wondering how soon the world would go over the economic precipice.

People who thus discuss the events of the moment—and there are some who are doing so—show at least some lack of acquaintance with the past. Their ideas of how and under what circumstances recovery has usually begun, after so extravagant and prolonged a spell of pessimism, are as far away from knowledge of other

REGISTERED holders of Associated securities now total 231,055, a gain of 19,485 during the twelve months ended September 1, 1931.

New security holders are continually being added. During a recent six-weeks' customer-ownership securities campaign in Eastern Pennsylvania and Western New Jersey, 2,121 new investors purchased $1,241,200 of Associated securities. The total investment by Associated customers during the six-weeks' activity was $2,213,400 of securities—221% of the quota expected.

Steady Gain in Security Holders

Security holders are located in every state of the United States and in 30 other countries and their dependencies. Their increasing numbers may be seen in the following table:—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1924 | 6,000 | 1928 | 66,263 |
| 1925 | 38,000 | 1929 | 190,139 |
| 1926 | 41,000 | 1930 | 220,484 |
| 1927 | 56,537 | Sept. 1, 1931 | 231,055 |

Of these, 102,501 are customers who use Associated gas, electric, and other services. They have invested $106,302,030. These investors use Associated services to cook their meals, light their homes, run their radios. Their approval of the System's operations is expressed by their investment in Associated securities.

1,442,106 Customers

An Associated investment is based upon the System's service to 1,442,106 customers, of whom 971,754 use electricity, 423,359 gas, 45,363 water, and 1,630 steam heat—all essential uses. The number of customers increased 29,486 in the 12 months ended September 1.

During the same period, use of electricity by the average residential customer increased 8.8%; gas, 1.9%. Use of these services by commercial and industrial customers declined, but not so much as the decline in general business activity.

The opportunity and security of an Associated investment lie in the fact that during industrial expansion the System's business grows with increased use by its commercial and industrial customers, while in times of recession its business is largely maintained by residential customers whose use increases despite general business conditions.

Precedents for Sudden Turn in Markets.

similar incidents of financial history as were their convictions regarding the perpetual new era during 1929, or regarding universal bankruptcy and the "precipice" last September.

End in Same Way.

Our chapters of hard times and financial pessimism in the longer past invariably came to an end in just this way and with just this unexpected suddenness. When that happened there was always the same undercurrent of obstinate belief that the reversal of economic form meant nothing, that we should presently be more hopeless than before.

It is too early to draw confident conclusions concerning the course which events will take as a sequel to these present indications of "the turn." There has been no abrupt pouring in of orders upon our manufacturers, no speeding up of railway traffic, no uprush of prices for what the labor bureau classifies as "non-agricultural commodities" and "finished goods."

Last week's reports from these various fields of activity differed little from the prolonged tale of discouragement that recent months have brought. Yet this, too, was in line with older precedent. The crisis of 1921 was passed in June; but in January, 1922, steel output and car loadings had not yet struggled back to the very low figures of a year before.

Some Essential Facts.

A few highly essential facts stand out in the present situation. The utterly abnormal price of wheat, a month ago, had not only paralyzed buying power in a great part of the United States, but had crippled foreign countries and deprived them of the facilities to meet their foreign debt. It had contributed largely to the fit of blind terror which pervaded the financial mind. That influence for overhanging dread is gone. With it has gone the fear that, somehow, our own financial structure would break down with the huge requisitions on our gold. Our gold exports probably, and the reserve banks' attitude toward them certainly, have been the means of slaying Europe's panic and of ending apprehension that the world was caught in the machinery of an economic system running wild.

To what extent confidence has returned, the last week's exceptionally rapid recovery in home and foreign bonds is witness. At least the psychology of a situation which has been a torment to prudent investors during six months past is reversed completely. Whether the sequel is in due course to be sustained recovery in the field of trade and industry, we shall learn in the next few months.

Bright Spots in Business

TOLEDO, O.—The Chevrolet Motor Ohio company, after a temporary shutdown for needed repairs, has reopened its Central avenue plant, recalling 1,500 workers, including both night and day crews. Indications are that the force will be maintained throughout the winter, officials said. The Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company is adding a few men with indications that there will be a sizable increase in the force next month.

CHICAGO.—E. N. Brown, chairman of the board of the St. Louis-San Francisco railroad and chairman of the executive committee of the Rock Island road, said the wheat and cotton movement in the territory of his road and the Rock Island is running substantially ahead of a year ago. Other classes of traffic, however, are showing material declines from 1930, he said, with the result that total business for the two roads is running about 15 per cent below last year's figures. Mr. Brown added that sentiment in the middle west is improving and that he considers this "a most hopeful sign."

CHICAGO. — Herbert S. Ullmann, vice president in charge of the Dallas division of the Revere Copper and Brass company, said the tide of business has definitely turned. October shipments of the Dallas division, which has offices in Chicago, were 34 per cent over September, he said. A further increase is anticipated this month.

NEW YORK.—Holger Struckmann, president of International Cement corporation, said on his return from a business trip to Europe that the cement industry is giving indications of having turned the corner toward definite improvement, and with sentiment generally better the industry faces a much improved outlook for 1932.

NEW YORK.—More building in New York. Plans for more than $5,000,000 worth of new construction filed in October, or 25 per cent increase over last October.

TORONTO, Ont.—Fourteen favorable factors listed by Canadian Bank of Commerce in commercial letter which says "Canada's business structure has been strengthened during October."

PHILADELPHIA. — Increased orders, lengthening of hours or addition of labor reported by nearly all of 34 industrial plants in middle west visited by R. Harland Horton, executive director of the Philadelphia Business Progress association.

CHICAGO—Christmas holidays will be made more cheerful for many as result of deposits in Christmas clubs of mutual savings banks establishing a new all time high record this year. Bankers believe the total Christmas savings deposited with all agencies will be more than $625,000,000 and may even reach last year's total of $632,000,000. Mutual savings banks, operating in 17 states, will disburse $36,579,188 to 783,903 depositors.

Miscellaneous.

25 MEN

Here is real opportunity if you are one of the men we are seeking. This is the Air-Way Corp., rated in the milling with the largest, fastest selling and the largest money makers in the country. Our line is known in America and Europe came to this business out of the Ministry, Law Field, Engineers, Architects, Mechanics of all kinds, in fact from all trades and professions, without any previous sales experience, and are making good here on a big way.

Men, due to a new product, we are having to double our force of men power. Remember, the Air-Way Sanitary System is wonderful. We hold 22 patents on it, and it is as far ahead of a vacuum cleaner as an automobile is ahead of a horse and carriage. It does about 10 times as much work as a vacuum cleaner or any vacuum system on the market. GET THIS—it is not a vacuum cleaner, but an entirely new principle and system in cleaning. We have no dust bags to shake out—think of that. And it actually tells you when the rugs and furniture are clean, and does many more things that you will have to see to really appreciate.

The thing you should be interested in is making money and the hours are making it here. Come and see for yourself. Call 9 A. M. to 12 and 1 to 4:30. Ask for Mr. Smith, 10th floor, Mather Tower Bldg., 75 E. Wacker-dr.

Also Mr. Wills, 1140 W. Lake-st., Oak Park, Ill. Room 202.

Mr. Reinhart, 757 W. 79th-st., Chicago. Room 302.

Mr. Plumbeck, 666 Davis-st., Evanston, Ill. Room 210.

Why pay more than Household's low rate?

The Nationally known Household Loan Plan offers cash loans of $50 to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates.

Household's rate on all loans above $100 is almost one-third lower than the maximum permitted by the small-loan law. We voluntarily es- tablished this low rate in 1925, and our customers have benefited ever since. This rate remains the same until the loan is paid off. It does not increase as the unpaid balance decreases.

FOR EXAMPLE: The average monthly cost of a $200 loan re- paid in 20 equal month- ly payments is $2.68. This is the lowest cost in Chicago.

Commonwealth Customers Pay LESS for LOANS

$2.93 is the average Monthly Cost of a $225 loan under COMMON- WEALTH'S Reduced Rate. This allows 25 months for repayment. There is no lower cost than this in Chicago.

THE personal property which nearly every family owns and the signature of husband and wife enable one to secure any amount up to $300 quickly and easily.

THERE ARE NO fees or deductions. You may take 25 months or pay all or part sooner. Interest at the Reduced Rate is charged only while you keep the money.

Also Salary and Auto Loans.
